STATE STREET OBJECTORS WIN SUBWAY CHANGE

Owners Agree to Let Work Go On.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The property owners consented yesterday to permit the State street subway program to proceed on receiving the city's pledge that a number of changes will be made in the plans.

Accordingly, the owners refrained from filing their remonstrance petition, which would have stopped progress on the subway for one year. This protest representing the owners of 66 per cent of the five mile frontage, was [illegible] because the property owners objected to the plans, although favoring the subway. They said that they had been largely ignored in the making of the design, and that the board of local improvements and the city council had declined to accept any of the property owners' recommendations.

Request Previously Denied.

The owners asked modifications in the plans for the subway which they asserted would better serve the convenience of the car riders and add to the comfort of the public. Their request had been turned down at a joint meeting of the council committees on special assessments and local transportation.

A statement issued yesterday by the property owners says: "The lawyers and engineers of the city presented to the property owners' committee today, a written statement of the changes which they can make without actually changing the present ordinance, nor delaying the construction of subways.

"The committee immediately took this statement into consideration and discussed the matter at length with Walter L. Fisher, Robert Ridgway, Col. E. F. Kelker, George A. Mason, Joseph J. Sullivan, and Allan T. Gilbert, who had signed the city's proposal."

Agree Not to File Protest.

After considering these proposals, which promise practically all of the changes except the north side connection and the Erie street station, the committee decided not to file its petition.

The statement continued: "The proposals made by the engineers, to which the mayor and Faherty [president of the board of local improvements] have expressed assent, were met by the committee with a desire of cooperation.

"So while the physical plans of the subway do not meet all of the ideas of the property owners, they feel that since the authorities of the city have gone so far, and given evidence of good faith, the property owners desire to meet them half way and thus render their assistance by withholding their remonstrance petition so there will be no further delay in building the subway.

Room for Improvement.

"The property owners still believe that the subway plans could have been considerably better. Most of them still believe that the subway should be built with public funds and not by special assessment.

"But to carry out the program, the property owners have abandoned a very important weapon which they might have used and which was actually in their hands."

In addition to the signed promises of the city lawyers and engineers of changes in plans, Faherty, Ald. James R. Bowler, chairman of the council local transportation committee, and Ald. Oscar F. Nelson, head of the committee on special assessments, signed an[illegible].

They expressed their "approval of the changes and additions in construction of the State street subway, which the engineers and attorneys representing the city have stated, may in their judgment be safely made without invalidating the special assessment proceedings or the collection of special assessments, and we will advocate and support necessary action by the city council to enable these changes and additions to be made in the construction of the improvement."

Members of Committee.

The settlement conference was held and the pledges were given yesterday in the office of Attorney William B. Hale, to the following committee representing all of the property owners:

Harris, Who Wrote "After the Ball," Dies

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Charles K. Harris, music publisher and song writer, widely known as the author of "After the Ball," and scores of other ballads, died today at his home after an illness of three weeks. He was 65 years old. He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Richard Weil of Chicago and Miss Mildred Harris; a brother, and a sister.

Mr. Harris devoted his entire life to song writing, starting at the age of 12, and reaped substantial financial rewards.

Born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Mr. Harris spent most of his earlier years in the middle west. The idea of having a musical career came to him as he watched vaudeville actors practice their acts in the hotel near his father's tailor shop in Saginaw, Mich. He made a banjo, using an oyster can as part of the material, and when a vaudeville performer saw it he gave the boy an old banjo, on which he soon became a proficient player.

Taught in Milwaukee.

When his family moved to Milwaukee a little later he hung out a sign, "Prof. Charles K. Harris, teacher of banjo." A few years after he arrived in Milwaukee, Harris saw an amateur show, and, displeased with its music, submitted some of his own works. They were accepted and used, but no money was forthcoming. They helped to start a local reputation for him, however, and eventually led to an order from David Henderson, manager of the Chicago Opera House, for three songs for "Sinbad, the Sailor." These brought him $150.

His first and greatest success was "After the Ball," about 3,000,000 copies of which were said to have been sold. It was written in 1893.

Idea Born in Chicago.

The idea for the song came from a quarrel between two sweethearts, which Harris witnessed at a ball in Chicago. After trying, unsuccessfully, to sell the song to actors, most of whom refused because it contained "too much of a story," he persuaded James Aldrich Libby to sing it at the Bijou theater in Chicago. It became a success at once.

He was then able to set up a thriving publishing business in Chicago. Later he moved to New York and established a business in "Tin Pan Alley," then on 28th street. He had carried on his business ever since.

Among the ballads Mr. Harris wrote are: "Break the News to Mother," "Hello, Central, Hello," "Kiss and Let's Make Up," and "Only a Tangle of Golden Curls."

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Riverside Memorial chapel.

3 N. SHORE TOWNS FIGHT FIRE; SAVE $620,000 CHURCH

A four hour battle last night by the fire departments of three north shore towns saved from destruction, the Winnetka Congregational church, 628 Lincoln avenue, Winnetka, a $620,000 Gothic edifice.

The fire apparently started in the basement of the old wing of the community house, which is separate from the new church structure. Its origin is undetermined. No one was in the building and it had reached the first floor before it was discovered. An alarm was telephoned in and within three minutes the Winnetka department was on the job. Chief G. M. Houren asked for help from Glencoe and Wilmette and they sent all their apparatus.

Six engine companies pumped water onto the flames, which gutted the boy scout room, the rifle range in the basement, and club rooms, gymnasium and offices, and an assembly room on the first and second floors. The fire burned to the roof, which caved in, with only the walls of the old building standing.

The Rev. J. W. F. Davies, director of the Community house, estimated the damage at $75,000. The main church structure was saved from damage.

Dry Law Fails, Declares Head of Dartmouth

Hanover, N. H., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—President Ernest Martin Hopkins of Dartmouth college, who, for the last half decade, has declined all invitations to declare publicly his attitude toward the eighteenth amendment, broke his silence today by asserting that he does not see how "individuals or organizations whose solicitude is for building up a spirit of temperance can continue either to believe in or to support the theory or the practice of the eighteenth amendment as defined in current legislation."

Opposes Volstead Act.

Dartmouth's president cannot see, in the large, that "advantage has accrued to anybody, except possibly to industrial efficiency, in the enactment of the amendment and in the mass of legislation which has followed in its trial."

In a letter to the national temperance council, made public today, he makes plain that he is opposed to the Volstead act because he thinks it "has made conditions worse than they were before and has precluded the accomplishment of anything which partakes of the nature of a temperance council," composed of the principal officers of all the national temperance organizations. The letter was written in answer to one from the body inviting him to express his views.

"I do not believe," he wrote "that it is a proper function of the constitution of a great federal government like the United States to devise sumptuary provisions for personal conduct.

Desirability of Temperance.

"I feel so strongly in regard to the desirability of temperance in the use of alcoholic liquors, as in all other things, that, despite my objections to the whole theory of the eighteenth amendment, I would support it if I either had seen or was seeing at the present day any evidence to justify a belief that legislation enacted under the amendment had worked or that it could be made to work.

"Instead of seeing this, my observation in traveling about the United States is that great areas which used to be wholly dry are now saturated, not only with alcoholic liquors, but with a spirit of complete abandon in regard to the control or use of these."

MAN AND WOMAN GANG VICTIMS IN ROGERS PARK

Wounded by Firing In the Street.

What evidently was a carefully plotted scheme for another gangland assassination, similar to that which removed Joe Aiello, north side alcohol king, two months ago, was revealed early this morning with the discovery of a hidden gun nest equipped with a fully loaded machine gun and a shotgun in a Rogers Park apartment house in Greenleaf avenue, six hours after the mysterious shooting of a man and a woman less than 500 feet away.

The shooting frustrated the plans of the assassins and sent two innocent victims, Mrs. Henrietta Guthrie, 54 years old, a widow, living at 1654 Greenleaf avenue, and E. W. Stone, 35, 4246 Sheridan road, to the Rogers Park hospital with minor wounds. Earlier the shooting was suspected to have been committed by occupants of an automobile who were protected by followers in a second car. It may have been, police said, the occupants of both cars were the actual targets of the gun nest killers, and that Mrs. Guthrie and Stone were in the way.

Gun Nest Found Next Door.

Mrs. Guthrie and Stone were shot down in front of 1706 Greenleaf avenue. The gun nest was discovered at 1710-12 Greenleaf avenue, next door. Five charges of slugs were fired from a shotgun. The widow was struck once in the left hip and Stone twice, once in the right ankle and once in the right knee. Several hours later, when the missiles were extracted, it was first learned the wounds were not from revolvers.

In the gun nest early this morning Lieut. Steve Barry of the Rogers Park station found a Thompson submachine gun, the same type of weapon used in the Clark street massacre almost two years ago and in the slaying in Brooklyn shortly before of Frank Uale, alias Yale. The apparatus was fully loaded with a band of 100 cartridges, trained through a window and ready for immediate use. On the floor lay a shotgun, five empty shells beside it. Cigaret stubs littered the floor, completing the picture—without the victim—of gangland machine gun nests.

Find Guns by Accident.

Finding of the gun nest was accidental. Immediately following the shooting of Mrs. Guthrie and Stone Chief of Detectives John Norton, although admittedly puzzled, worked on the theory that the two were victims of mistaken identity. He was satisfied, however, that the assailants fired from a passing car. Apparently the passing automobile, supposedly containing the gunmen and their aids, were a coincidence, or their occupants the actual targets. Chief Norton ordered a complete survey of the exclusive Greenleaf avenue apartment district.

"See if there's any one living around here who might be marked for bumping off," he ordered.

Detectives scattered throughout the neighborhood, canvassed scores of apartments, and reported a clean bill of health for the district so far as gangsters were concerned. However, Rogers Park police, coöperating with Lieut. Walter Storms of the detective bureau, continued their hunt. Lieut. John O'Brien of the district station inspected the walls of the apartment building in front of which Stone and Mrs. Guthrie were wounded. The wall projects.

Janitor Tells of Guns.

A corner of the wall revealed a nick. O'Brien inspected further. He found a chip of stone on the sidewalk. It was a fresh dislocation. He returned to the station.

The next clew came unexpectedly. A man rushed into the Rogers Park station, and called for Lieut. Barry. He identified himself as the janitor of the building at 1710 Greenleaf avenue. The door of the first floor east apartment, on the front, was open, he said. Something inside resembled a gun, he added.

Lieut. Barry and a squad of armed men sped to the apartment, arriving there less than five minutes after the janitor had furnished the report. The five minutes were enough to lose what police said probably would have been one of the biggest catches in months, a man and a woman, who gave their names as Mr. and Mrs. John J. Collins, and who had rented the apartment from William Greissinger, 4901 North Central Park avenue, the land-

Sues 5 Million Dupe of 'Con' Man and Wins

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 22.—The old and reputable printing firm of Messrs. Waterlow & Sons, Ltd., today was found negligent in printing more than $5,000,000 worth of Portuguese notes in what was described as "an elaborate fraud, which is supposedly unparalleled." The decision by Justice Wright rendered judgment in favor of the Bank of Portugal for $2,659,255. The justice later reserved his decision on the amount the printers owe the bank.

The long judgment, which required most of the day to read, terminates one of the most sensational money scandals the world has ever known. Sir William Waterlow, former lord mayor of London and head of the concern which prints most of the world's paper money, had accepted an order for 80,000 Portuguese bank notes from a Dutch confidence man named Marang. The notes were of a regular Portuguese issue bearing a portrait of Vasco de Gama, the circumnavigator.

Gang of Crooks Gets Notes.

The notes, totaling in value $5,533,455, were innocently turned over to a gang of crooks, who opened the Bank of Angola e Metropole in Lisbon, from where they put the notes in circulation. The conspirators were apprehended last June and seven men and a woman were sentenced to prison.

The Bank of Portugal originally claimed the entire value of the false issue from the Waterlow firm, but recovered assets from the fraudulent bank reduced the claim to $3,135,910.

The judge held that "the directors fell short of the standard of care which the very special nature of their employment in such a business as bank note printing required." He pointed out, however, that the Waterlow firm was the victim of an unusually clever trick.

Printers Accuse Bank.

Waterlows' defense charged negligence on the part of the Bank of Portugal. The defense claimed that proper withdrawal of the false notes would have reduced the loss, but the court held that the bank was unable to act otherwise than to withdraw from circulation all notes Waterlows' had printed and make up the loss.

Norman Birkett, leading British attorney, appearing for Waterlows, said that in 1924 nobody in the world could have conceived for a single moment that when Marang entered Sir William's office he was a member of a gang of swindlers. Marang, said the counsel, bore an introduction from a Dutch firm, well known to Waterlows, a sealed contract in Portuguese whereby a man named Reis [one of the alleged conspirators] was entitled to get the notes printed for the Bank of Angola e Metropole, and also a Portuguese diplomatic passport plus a certificate by the Portuguese minister at The Hague vouching that the power of attorney executed by Reis which Marang had was valid.

The Handsome Stranger.

The court's summary told a detailed story of the gang's mistreatment of Waterlows' confidence. Marang, the summary said, "aged 35, with a handsome exterior and prepossessing manners," called on Sir William Waterlow and presented his card as consul general of Portugal, stationed at The Hague. In a number of interviews Sir William was "thoroughly impressed with his manners, appearance, and credentials."

Marang duped Waterlows' into printing the issue and later even induced the head of the company to intrust a letter, addressed to the Portuguese government and inquiring as to the authenticity of the order, in the hands of the confidence man's secretary for delivery by courier to Portugal. A forged reply soon appeared confirming the issue and forbidding Waterlows' to deal with anybody except Marang.

"It is a sad reflection upon the fairness of Marang," the court said, "that the trickster did not pay the last installment on the printing bill of $200,000, nor for the trunks with which he packed off with the money.

RUSSIA'S WOMAN ENVOY RECALLED FROM STOCKHOLM

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Departure for Moscow of Madame Alexandra Kollantay, soviet ambassador to Sweden, was interpreted today by the newspaper Nya Dagligt as really a recall by soviet officials, who are said to consider the woman's work as unproductive of satisfactory results.

The newspaper also says the woman ambassador is charged with having lived "too bourgeois" a life at Oslo and Stockholf, although until now Dictator Stalin's support has protected her from criticism.

Madame Kollantay is a famous beauty and known as one of the world's best dressed women.

G. O. P. SURETY FOR LUCAS LOAN TO FIGHT NORRIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The existence of a $40,000 "Republican national committee special account," which was used by Robert H. Lucas, the committee's executive director, to cover the $4,000 he borrowed to pay for anti-Norris propaganda, was disclosed today by the Nye senatorial investigating committee.

The senatorial committee convened at an emergency call by Senator Gerald P. Nye [Rep., N. D.], its chairman, in order to inquire further into the anti-Norris campaign in Nebraska, which Lucas has testified that he secretly engineered and financed and in which, it is charged, he made use of a fake letter denouncing Senator George W. Norris, radical Republican candidate.

It was revealed that Lucas had used his official title and the name of the Republican national committee in authorizing the Commercial National bank, here, to consider the "special account" as a guarantee of the $4,000 loan, for which he gave his personal note.

Admits Making Loan.

Lucas had previously testified that he had borrowed that sum, in order to pay for printing and distributing copies of the letter and other circulars attacking Senator Norris.

The committee hearing came in the nature of a counter attack against the statement issued yesterday by Lucas in which he virtually read Senator Norris out of the Republican party. Other answers to Lucas were made in fiery statements issued by Senator Norris himself and by Senator Bronson Cutting of New Mexico, also a member of the radical Republican bloc.

Senator Norris' statement had been public only an hour or so when Lucas retorted with a second volley in which he denied that his campaign in Nebraska was improper and in which he again termed Norris a traitor to the Republican party.

Must Be Ousted, He Says.

"Senator Norris' conduct," the Lucas statement declared, "has given rise to a condition which amounts to a growing cancer in the vitals of the Republican party, and it must be cut out if the party is to be served."

Col. Wade H. Cooper, president of the Commercial National bank, was the witness who gave the evidence concerning Lucas' financial transaction. He brought letters showing that on Oct. 23 Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer of the Republican national committee, had sent the bank a $40,000 check with instructions that this be deposited in an account to be known as the Republican national committee special account, that it was to be disbursed only on his signature or that of Lucas, and stating that it was placed there "for the convenience of Mr. Lucas, who will handle everything in connection with it."

Guaranteed in Writing.

In a second letter, dated Dec. 3, the date on which the loan was made, the bank was authorized to consider the special account a side guarantee of the loan.

The letter referred to the $4,000 advanced "to Mr. Lucas" and was signed "Republican national committee, by Robert H. Lucas, executive director."

Cooper was questioned closely by Senator Nye.

"Was the Lucas loan backed by the Republican national committee?" Nye asked.

"That is a question of interpretation and construction," replied Cooper.

Nye asked Cooper what he would do about the Lucas $4,000 loan if the Republican national committee were to close its account with the bank. Cooper declined to speculate on that.

"What I'm trying to get at," said Nye, "is how seriously does the bank look on the Republican national committee as security for this loan."

Dale Takes Up Quiz.

Senator Dale [Rep., Vt.] asked Cooper whether his bank would honor a withdrawal of $40,000 by the national committee while the $4,000 note still was unpaid.

"I think highly of Mr. Lucas," Cooper replied, "and I imagine if they came in with a request of that kind I would give it consideration."

In a third letter, mailed last night, Lucas inclosed a check for $520 in part payment of the loan.

The hearing brought out the name of James B. Reynolds, now the bank's vice president, as the bank official to whom Lucas had gone and who had approved of the loan. Reynolds was secretary of the Republican national committee from 1912 to 1920. Before that he had been assistant secretary of the treasury under President Roosevelt and a member of the federal tariff board under President Taft, and, following his resignation from the committee, he managed Coolidge's 1920 presidential campaign.

Both Reynolds and Nutt, who is chairman of the board of the Union Trust company of Cleveland, O., were reported away from Washington for Christmas. Chairman Nye stated that they would be called before the investigating committee as soon as they returned.

Senator Nye, in a statement made following the hearing, declared that the $40,000 special account had the earmarks of a slush fund, and that the committee purposed to know more about it.

He considered that the day's evidence tended to show that the Republican national committee, or some high members of it at least, were aware of what Lucas was doing and were supporting him. He declared that his committee would take steps to bring to justice any witnesses, members of the Republican national committee included, proved to have testified falsely.

Norris Charges Perjury.

In his statement today Senator Norris charged openly that Lucas swore to a falsehood before the committee.

"He testified under oath that the money he paid was his own private fund," Senator Norris declared. "No one who heard his testimony believes this. Men who are using their own private funds do not try to cover up their tracks as he did. Every one who heard his testimony must believe that he was using somebody else's money and that he is now concealing some one higher up. Why did he pay this bill in currency, unless it was to cover up his own tracks?

"Why has Mr. Lucas kept still during all the months which the Nye committee has been trying to find out the truth? Does loyalty to party require that its adherents should resort to such dishonorable methods in the name of party?"

Refers to "Cringing Cowards."

Senator Norris asked on what authority Lucas decided who was a good Republican, stating that even President Hoover could not meet the rule of party regularity Lucas sought to apply. Then he concluded:

"Even Mr. Lucas, in the depths of his dishonorable conduct, has not claimed that my nomination as a Republican candidate was not obtained honestly, fairly and legally. I do not object to any man opposing me on the ground of party irregularity or for any other reason. I only ask that my enemies fight in the open and that they do not, like cringing cowards, hide behind anonymous names or use methods which are disreputable and too dishonorable for any one to father."

He denied that he urged Lucas' resignation, but said Lucas' guilty conscience was his worst accuser and "his conduct shows that he is entirely unfitted for the position which he holds."

Lucas Comes Right Back.

Lucas' answering statement called Norris' simply a repetition of the speech the Nebraskan had made on the floor of the senate.

Though Lucas testified before the Nye committee that he had kept his activities quiet and that no other member of the national committee was aware of them, he declared that his ordering of the circulars and their shipment to Nebraska was not a secret transaction.

"I deny emphatically," he asserted, "that my opposition to Senator Norris was anything but proper."

"The Republicans of this country have never been satisfied with Senator Norris' methods in politics," he said, recalling Norris' defection from Hoover in 1928 and his support of Gov. Al Smith. "He seems to take great pride in his treason and treachery to the Republican party.

"Senator Norris condemns in the severest language my small contribution to the anti-Norris organization in Nebraska, while he seems to delight in his own shameful record of treachery to his party, extending over a period of years. His conduct has given rise to a condition which amounts to a growing cancer in the vitals of the Republican party and it must be cut out if the party is to survive."

Senator Cutting's contribution to the debate placed the responsibility for Lucas' actions "higher up," saying that he was a mere employé of the national committee. He termed the pamphlets Lucas had prepared "unworthy of the meanest ward heeler in the land."

As for party regularity, Senator Cutting claimed that Senator Norris had worked to redeem the Republican pledges on farm relief and against injunction proceedings.

What Is Republicanism?

"The trouble with the gentlemen who Mr. Lucas represents," Cutting continued, "is that they fail to remember that the Republican party does not belong to the President of the United States, the national chairman, and the few dozen members of the national committee. It belongs to the Republican voters.

"It is not a part of Mr. Lucas' official functions to determine whether the Republican voters are right or wrong. The Republicans of Nebraska decided in the primaries that Senator Norris was a good enough Republican for them."

Warns of Peril to Party.

"The gentlemen who dictated the statement that Mr. Lucas signed," Senator Cutting concluded, "are serving notice on Republican senators who dare to hold views of their own that, when they come up for reëlection, the Republican national committee will support and lend financial aid to their Democratic opponents.

"This constitutes political thuggery. The decent element in the Republican party believed that this sort of thing had ended with the Harding régime. No party organization can survive on such a basis. If Mr. Lucas' statement is not immediately repudiated by those higher up, it means that the national Republican organization has ceased to exist."

Senator Glenn of Illinois contributed a few words to the controversy today by stating in reference to Senator Norris that he did not believe any man "who consistently fights the Republican program and policies and does everything possible he can to obstruct the Republican program is entitled to be called a Republican."

WICKERSHAM REPORT READY IN JANUARY; HOLD HOLIDAY SESSION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Approaching the completion of its prohibition report, the Wickersham commission continued its conferences today with a view to sending the report to the White House some time during January, possibly by Jan. 1. Today marked the beginning of the third consecutive week the commission has been in session.

Another flurry of conjecture today upon the contents of the report met with the usual cold silence at the commission's offices. At the close of the meeting Chairman George W. Wickersham let it be known through his secretary that the commission would meet again tomorrow and a part of the time during the holidays, but made no further announcement.

The commission had authorized a written statement that it does not intend to investigate the cases of Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings, who are serving life sentences in California, on conviction in the San Francisco Preparedness day bombing in 1916.

REPUBLICANS ASK BUSINESS HELP IN CHOOSING MAYOR

Alliance Will Consult Organizations.

BY PARKE BROWN.

In response to requests from many and varied sources, the Republican alliance yesterday broadened the original scope of its plans to include the coördination of interested business, civic, labor and other organizations with their own political forces in selecting a World's Fair candidate for mayor.

In their second conference at the Palmer house, several of the leaders, dissatisfied with the present field of mayoralty entrants, reported they had been approached by representatives of associations, societies, clubs and other units ordinarily not active in politics which want to join the movement to clean up Chicago.

Consultation Is Ordered.

Because of this situation a subcommittee of four, created as had been forecast, was instructed to confine its immediate activities to consulting with these nonpolitical forces and to report back to the plenary conference as soon as possible.

The committee named consists of County Chairman B. W. Snow, Senator Deneen, Edward J. Brundage, and Dr. John Dill Robertson. They will hold their first meeting this morning and hold such later sessions as they deem necessary. The sessions will be secret and the meeting place was not disclosed.

While the names of the organizations to be talked with were not disclosed it was believed by those who have been watching these proceedings that they will include the strongest and largest in Chicago whose union with the political forces already aligned would constitute a city uprising.

Among the organizations suggested in this connection were the Association of Commerce, the Commercial club, the Chicago Woman's club, the Industrial club, the City club, the Citizens' association, the Civic federation, the City club, the Woman's City club, several district business men's organizations, and a number of federations of improvement associations.

Snow Makes Statement.

The attendance at yesterday's Republican conference was approximately the same as at the first meeting, with the addition of Senator Deneen, Edward R. Litsinger, and Thomas J. Healy for the Deneen group. As before, Chairman Snow was designated to make the official statement to the press.

"Senator Deneen," he said, "having been detained at Washington so that he could not be present at our first meeting when there was a general discussion, led off today with a statement in which he indicated his earnest and active interest in the accomplishments of the aims of the conference.

"He reported that since his return he has been in consultation with his immediate political friends and with representatives of his political group from every ward in the city. The consensus of these conferences in which he took part, he said, was favorable to the effort to coördinate all the political and other organized bodies possible behind a candidacy for mayor of such a character as to commend itself to the hopes and aspirations of Chicago during the coming World's Fair period.

Agrees to Co-öperate.

"He discussed frankly the difficulties of a political amalgamation of this kind and indicated his willingness to coöperate in every way possible in working out the problems that may arise.

"A general discussion followed in which every group took part and after that general discussion a subcommittee of four was selected for the purpose of working out ways and methods, chiefly procedural in character, to accomplish the work in hand and to coördinate all the elements in Chicago interested in nominating and electing a man who meets the requirements of the good citizens of Chicago as the Republican candidate for mayor, and who, by reason of his character and support, stands the best chance of election as well as nomination.

"This subcommittee will meet to take up its duties tomorrow morning and report to the general conference as promptly as possible."

May Arrange Conferences.

It was suggested later that the subcommittee instead of holding its own meetings with representatives of nonpolitical organization may recommend, possibly after preliminary talks with their spokesmen, what organizations will be asked to send committees in to discuss their ideas with the full conference.

In view of the shift in the plan of the conferees, names of possible candidates were not presented to the full conference yesterday, but the subcommittee will be within its authority, it was said, if it present a list of those it recommends for consideration. The subcommittee, however, will not pick the alliance candidate. That selection will await the operations of the methods recommended by the subcommittee.

One new name was presented to the public during the day by the Forty-second Ward Voters' association. It was that of James B. Waller, a man of considerable means who has been active in near north side community work which he has supported at his own expense. His name will be among those considered by the alliance.

CADILLAC JUDGE PUTS OVER A SECOND FREAK PROHIBITION DECISION

Cadillac, Mich., Dec. 22.—(AP)—A second unusual prohibition charge has been invoked by Recorder's Judge E. J. Millington, who kept Frank Harrand in jail 37 days because Harrand claimed he did not know from whom he obtained liquor that caused his arrest for intoxication.

Judge Millington issued a warrant against Frank Nutter, 19, charging him with possessing a pint of liquor and destroying it "manifestly for the purpose" of preventing its seizure.

Nutter and his father, James Nutter, the latter charged with transporting liquor in an automobile, were arraigned before Judge Millington and demanded examinations. They were released on bond.

The judge came into prominence as a result of his invoking a little used statute against Harrand, who won his release on bond from an indefinite contempt sentence only when the state Supreme court intervened last week.

ILLNESS DELAYS ASSIGNMENT OF SANITARY TRIAL

The reassignment of the Sanitary district conspiracy case against Timothy J. Crowe and other former officials of the district, was continued yesterday until Dec. 29 because of the illness of Chief Justice McGoorty of the Criminal court. Judge McGoorty is a patient at Mercy hospital. The attorneys yesterday said that they had no hope on agreeing on a judge to preside at the trial and that the case would have to be assigned in regular order.

increased, entrances to be established at Wacker drive, the concourse to be extended southward from Congress to Eighth street and several other improvements. Some of the changes can be made and paid for by special assessments and others must be paid for from the city's traction fund.

The next step in the subway program is the completion and the filing of the special assessment roll in court for confirmation. George A. Mason, chief attorney in charge of this task, said yesterday he hopes to start such proceedings by Jan. 15. It has been estimated by Mr. Faherty that the court proceeding will take less than two months.

In these proceedings each property owner will have the right to object to his proposed assessment in comparison with others, or the benefit he will receive from the subway. Many property owners have asserted that they believe the subway is not a local improvement and therefore the special assessment would be invalid. That issue will be tried out in court.

By withholding their majority petition, the property owners permit these and other preliminaries to proceed to a decision, followed by a call for bids, awarding of contracts, and the actual construction, after the decisions have been reached.

MAJ. SHEPARD IS OUND GUILTY OF POISONING WIFE

ry Asks Life Sentence; He'll Demand Retrial.

Kansas City, Kas., Dec. 22—(AP)—A federal court jury today found Maj. Charles A. Shepard, 57, army specialist in pulmonary diseases, guilty of the poison murder of his second wife, nana, and recommended life imprisonment.

The physician, whose love affair with Miss Grace Brandon, blonde stenographer of San Antonio, Tex., had been emphasized as the motive for the crime, wept silently when he heard the verdict.

He said presently: "I am absolutely innocent and this case will eventually be thrown out of court."

C. L. Kagey of defense counsel said he would move for a retrial, listing 30 to 40 citations of error. If a new trial is not ordered, he said, he will appeal the case.

Sentence Due Feb. 27.

The major, court officials said, will remain at liberty under his $25,000 bond until Feb. 2, at which time he will be sentenced formally at Topeka, Kas., unless further legal action intervenes. He planned to leave tomorrow for Denver to report for duty.

Maj. Shepard, tonight was showered with offers of sympathy and monetary aid.

A man who said he knew personally neither the major nor any of his counsel came to Shepard's hotel and offered $500. A $6 check was received yesterday from a friend in the Philippine islands, where Shepard once served.

A message of sympathy was received from the 35 officers at Fitzsimmons hospital, where the major is stationed, and another one was signed, "The 1,100 patients in Fitzsimmons general hospital at Denver."

Government's Case.

In the trial the government alleged that this physician, trained in the use of medicine, had planned carefully to remove his wife by a slow acting poison which would make her illness appear natural. His purpose, it charged, was to gain his freedom so he might marry Miss Brandon, who was a prosecution witness.

It called witnesses who said that examination of the viscera of Mrs. Shepard at an autopsy objected to by the major had shown death was caused by mercury poisoning. It brought forth others to reveal that the major had withdrawn from the dispensary at Fort Riley, Kas., where he was stationed when Mrs. Shepard died on June 15, 1929, large quantities of the drug.

It produced testimony from Grace Brandon herself to show that his attachment for her, with its exchange of love letters and gifts, had become manifest before the illness of Mrs. Shepard, and that the major had wanted a divorce.

To this accumulation of evidence were added letters written by Mrs. Shepard to relatives and the statement, made by a witness who had nursed the major's wife, that Mrs. Shepard herself had said her husband was poisoning her.

Defense Has Its Say.

In opposition to this the defense painted a picture of Maj. Shepard as a long suffering husband with a wife who was both an alcoholic and a drug addict. It attempted to show his wife had no love for him and that, craving sympathy, he had fallen easily for the "army post flapper."

It introduced testimony to indicate that his interest in Miss Brandon did not turn to love until after the death of a wife for whom he obtained all possible medical care. It attempted to show that natural illness, alcoholism, mercury absorbed from a mouth wash, mercury pilfered from Dr. Shepard's medicine case by mistake, or mercury taken with suicidal intent might have explained the death.

Testimony was introduced to show that, in objecting to the autopsy, Maj. Shepard was carrying out the wishes of a wife who had insisted no knife should touch her after death.

Miss Brandon "Sorry."

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Miss Grace Brandon, principal witness against Maj. Charles A. Shepard, said tonight she was "sorry" for the major.

Miss Brandon, army post stenographer, for whose love the 59 year old officers was declared to have killed his wife, returned this afternoon from Kansas City.

She explained she in no way felt responsible for the major's predicament.

"I didn't say anything to hurt him," she said. "You know the government made me testify. I went on the stand to tell the truth, and this I did with all the consideration I could have for Maj. Shepard.

Abandons Dying Auto Victim; Mother Injured Saving Child

Thrown into the street by the driver of a car which had struck him, John McAllister, 72 years old, 1808 West Monroe street, a drug salesman, was later taken to the County hospital where he died last night. The motorist is being hunted by police who obtained the license number on his car.

McAllister was run down at Madison and Lincoln streets. Witnesses told police the driver placed McAllister in his car and drove away saying he would take the injured man to the County hospital a few blocks away.

Instead the motorist stopped at Van Buren and Laflin streets, dragged McAllister from his car and laid him down in the gutter. Steven Denova, 1511 West Harrison street who was nearby, questioned the driver. "He isn't hurt—he's just drunk," the driver replied, according to Denova.

Auto Runs Into Train.

Denova noted the license number as the car sped away. Then he took McAllister to the hospital.

Mrs. Ella Berdel, 29 years old, 2226 West 78th street, was fatally injured when the automobile being driven by her husband, Edward, a plumber, crashed into an Erie freight train at 110th street near Bensley avenue. Berdel was not hurt. Michael Maix, 9003 Normal avenue, the crossing watchman, told police that Berdel ignored his warning signal.

These deaths increased the Cook county motor toll for the year to 1,085.

Saves Daughter; Is Injured.

They had just alighted from a bus at Grant street and McDaniel avenue, when Mrs. Jaehne saw the truck coming toward them, and hurled the child to safety as she herself was struck and dragged several feet. At Evanston hospital it was found she was suffering from fractures of one leg and a wrist and internal injuries.

The driver of the truck, Donald A. Blomstrom, 911 Simpson street, was being held on a charge of reckless driving pending the outcome of her injuries.

Three Suffer Spine Injuries.

In a collision at North and Harlem avenues, River Forest, last night, three persons suffered fractured spines. They are Arthur M. Evans, 45 years old, a farmer of Huntley, Ill.; his wife, Grace, and their daughter, Mrs. Bonnibelle White. They are at the Oak Park hospital.

Driving west in North avenue, their car skidded and was hit by that of George Erb, 48 years old, an automobile dealer of Joliet. He was not injured. The cars were only slightly damaged.

MINISTER'S BAG IS STOLEN FROM HALL OF CHURCH

The Rev. George Drew, 5757 University avenue, assistant pastor of the First Congregational church of Oak Park, at Kenilworth avenue and Lake street, last night reported to Chicago police the theft of a bag containing clothing and books valued at $100 from the front hallway of the church. The Rev. Mr. Drew said he missed the bag a few minutes after the departure of a Negro who had called, representing himself as seeking an engagement for an organization of jubilee singers.

FOG PARALYZES LONDON; 500,000 PERSONS "LOST"

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Half a million commuters and thousands of Christmas shoppers were marooned tonight in the worst fog London has seen in years. Seven persons were killed in traffic accidents. The dense "pea soup" blanket disorganized every traffic system—trains, street cars, and buses. Street vehicles of every description were parked in thoroughfares as the drivers were unable to see their way. Four hundred persons were rescued from a ferry in the Thames. Amid wild excitement they scrambled from the ferry to small tugs when the ferry was damaged in collisions while groping its way across.

LEAVES FUNERAL TO ACCUSE FOUR IN ARSON DEATHS

Father of Child Victims Aids Inquiry.

Cemetery, prosecutor's office, and hospital were visited in turn yesterday by Irving Israelson, 3657 North Kedzie avenue, whose home is in ruins. He buried his two sons, Jerome, age 5, and Homer, 4, at Waldheim, then was called to a duty in prosecuting the men who set fire to a building to collect insurance, causing the two boys to be burned to death, and then visited his stricken wife, who was badly burned in the same fire.

At the prosecutor's office Assistant State's Attorneys Malachy J. Coglan and Andrew Gatenby were listening to repetitions of confessions by Harry Goldvarg, a butcher, who told of employing firebugs to burn his shop so he could collect $3,800 insurance; by Jacob Tatelman and Jack Rosow to setting the fire for a price of $225, and by Martin Borad, who drove the firebugs to and from the building next door to which the Israelsons—all but the father—were sleeping.

Seek Hymie Lieberman.

It was admitted the police were seeking Hymie (Slob) Lieberman for questioning concerning fires said to have been started to collect insurance. But Capt. Joseph Goldberg of the Albany Park district, in which the tragedy of the Israelson home occurred, said he had no information that Lieberman was involved in the plot to burn Goldvarg's shop, which was at 3655 North Kedzie avenue.

The captain said Lieberman is not the man previously mentioned as the "prominent business man" go-between. His latest belief, Capt. Goldberg said, was that Tatelman himself solicited Goldvarg for "an arson job."

Tatelman, according to information disclosed at the prosecutor's office, was involved in three other fires, one of which resulted in the death of a man now understood to have been Tatelman's brother. This fire destroyed the Paradise café, Kedzie avenue and Roosevelt road, in July of 1929.

The other fires attributed to Tatelman by the prosecutors occurred at the Royal café, Springfield avenue and Roosevelt road, and the Blue Island inn, 3414 Roosevelt road. At the state fire marshal's office it was said Tatelman had an interest in the three restaurants.

The prosecutors spent yesterday in preparing for the presentation of the evidence of the Israelson children's death to the grand jury today.

A writ of habeas corpus for the release of Rosow was sought and the prosecutor's office sent for Israelson—bringing him from the funeral—to have him in readiness to sign a complaint against the prisoners if it were necessary to prevent the release of any of them. But it wasn't and the confessions were put in legal order. The prosecutor's will ask indictments for murder—and later ask the death penalty at the trial.

FRIENDS, FOES OF ASSESSMENT PLAN IN BATTLE

Reviewers Get Request to Revalue Personalty.

A request for a reassessment of personal property in Cook county for 1929 was presented to the board of review yesterday by the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers. The charge was made that at least four billions of dollars worth of assessed valuations of personal property wealth is now practically tax exempt and should be put on the assessment rolls.

At the same time the Civic federation urged William H. Malone, chairman of the state tax commission, not to order the requested reassessment of personal property. The Association of Real Estate Taxpayers had first asked Mr. Malone to order the reassessment. He had advised the association, as a matter of record, to petition the board of review before coming to him.

See Financial Perils.

Both petitions were alike in predicting financial chaos for the city and county. But the Association of Real Etate Taxpayers declared that the havoc would result if the board of review went ahead with its proposed reassessment of real estate without also including a reassessment of personal property. The Civic federation asserted, on the other hand, that the requested reassessment of personal property would produce a new fiscal calamity.

The Association of Real Estate Taxpayers summed up a 15 page statement as follows:

"There are bodies of public wealth easily reached by the assessor that represent, as a total, nine times the amount of personal property wealth on which taxes will be paid as the basis of the 1929 assessment.

"There is a complete absence of uniformity in treatment as between one type of wealth, real estate, and other types of taxable wealth, tangible and intangible property.

"We desire to take at its face value the statement issued by the board of review to the effect that its objective is to reduce the amount of the real estate tax. It is obvious that the mere reduction in valuations will not accomplish this purpose.

Set Value at 4 Billions.

"It is equally obvious that if an earnest effort be made, it is within the power of the board of review to place on the assessment roll for the year 1929, and within the power of the board of assessors to place on the assessment rolls for 1930, at least four billion dollars of assessed valuations of personal property wealth that under the law is subject to taxation and is now practically tax exempt."

William H. Weber, member of the board of review, to whom this petition was presented, said he and his two fellow members would study the request. He indicated clearly, however, that nothing could be done at present. It is expected that the association, having thus avoided any possible legal objections by applying first to the board of review, will appeal soon to the state tax commission to grant its request.

Federation Issues Statement.

The statement of the Civic federation, signed by Clayton Mark, president, and Douglas Sutherland, secretary, read in part as follows:

"While the Civic federation always has favored the equitable and effective taxation of all forms of wealth and the relief of those forms which now bear disproportionate burdens of government, we nevertheless urge that, especially as to the tax year 1929, you do not order the requested reassessment of personal property. We believe that this order would result in delay and confusion.

"Feeling that properties now overtaxed can be relieved from present excessive burdens only through measures which are economically sound, the Civic federation asks that it be given opportunity at an early date to present some constructive suggestions.

"Granting of the request to reassess personal property will have the effect of throwing local governments into a new fiscal calamity through further delays in tax collections, producing a worse situation than last winter, and one from which we fear it might be impossible to rescue them.

Fear Delay on Taxes.

"It is obvious that a reassessment of any substantial class of property, such as personalty, undertaken for 1929, will make it impossible to get 1929 tax bills into collection according to the schedule on which the legislature, with the aid of the Strawn citizens committee, based its difficult program of fiscal relief last spring. Any delay will throw these financial calculations out of balance.

"With this delay running into months, there would be no money to pay policemen, firemen, school teachers or health officers; to keep streets clean and lighted, or to meet maturing obligations and maintain our credit in the world. Still worse, we can conceive of no statutory method by which the local governments could be rescued a second time from such a predicament."

2 Chicago Judges May Face Impeachment By Legislature

Two judges of the Municipal court are under consideration by the December grand jurors for an investigation by the legislature, it was announced last evening. The jurors yesterday afternoon voted on the advisability of turning over to the proper legislative committee the data obtained in the bail bond investigation as it pertains to at least two judges. Municipal judges are subjected to impeachment by the assembly.

Assistant State's Attorney A. C. De Witt, who has charge of the bail bond investigation, refused to give the names of the two judges under consideration. He intimated, however, that the judges are two of the group called in by the jurors recently and questioned in regard to the signing of certain bonds. One of the judges involved, it is said, had given testimony sharply at variance with another witness.

The state constitution empowers the lower house of the general assembly to vote impeachments against state officers for misconduct in office. The impeachment is tried by the state senate. Conviction is by a two-thirds vote of the senators elected and the penalties are removal from office and disqualification from holding office in the future. Such conviction does not preclude trial and conviction for the same offenses in the criminal courts.

The jurors also had under consideration, it was learned, the radical move of indicting every judge who has been on the Municipal bench in the last three years.

The jurors felt that inasmuch as the judges allowed the bond situation to go on without taking any definite action to stop abuses that they should be held responsible under the malfeasance statute. However, it is said, that some of the jurors cautioned against such a radical move, saying that it would be poor public policy to vote indictments where convictions could not be obtained. It was then that the impeachment move against the two judges considered most at fault was voted on as the alternative.

State's Attorney Swanson, former judge of the Municipal and Criminal courts, and Judge Daniel P. Trude, who served in both courts, were among the witnesses before the jury yesterday. They told of their experiences with professional bondsmen and the methods used by them to curtail the activities of these men.

Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago crime commission, was a witness for two hours. He said that he favors the establishment of a central bail bond bureau and that he would submit this proposition to a vote of the directors of the commission.

Prosecutor De Witt submitted to the jurors copies of the New York and Wisconsin bond laws so that they might be used as a basis for the jurors' recommendations. He also submitted statistics showing that in Milwaukee county, Wis., out of 1,500 bonds given last year only 13 forfeitures occurred and all these were collected on in full. In New York county more than $500,000 was collected on bail bond forfeitures in the last year, which is more than has been collected in Cook county in more than 20 years.

GIRL SUES HEAD OF COMPANY FOR $250,000 DAMAGES

The præcipe of a suit for $350,000 damages was filed by Miss Constance Cortland, 20 years old, of the Morrisson hotel, in the Superior court yesterday against John Boylston, 57 years old, president of the Boylston Steam Specialty company, 116 West Illinois street. Attorney W. W. O'Brien, representing Miss Cortland, refused to tell the nature of the suit.

The attorney said that Miss Cortland came to Chicago four years ago and has been employed as a stenographer and model. Mr. Boylston, according to the attorney, is wealthy. He is married and lives at 1302 Chest-lord, Dec. 5, signing a lease for a year. The couple had appeared at the apartment in the five-minute interim and disappeared. It is believed they removed telltale evidences. They left behind two men's coats, however.

Neighbor Tells of Shooting.

The woman was described as about 20 years old, pretty, and having black curly hair. The man was described as dark, large, and good looking. With them was a man they introduced only as "Mr. O'Donnell," also large and of dark complexion. Little is known of the pair, but from Oliver G. De Watterville, 1712 Greenleaf avenue, whose first floor apartment adjoins that in which the machine gun nest was located, came the following story:

"We were holding a christening party for our baby, and during the evening we heard four or five shots. We remarked at the time that the noise—we weren't sure it was from a gun—was from next door and paid no more attention to it.

"About midnight we heard a man and a woman, apparently the Collins, at their apartment door. I heard her say: 'Do you think it is safe to go in.'

"He answered, 'Yes, come on in'."

Couple Hurriedly Leaves.

This occurred during the time the janitor was rushing to the station and returning with a squad of policemen. The couple remained only a minute or two. What they took with them is not known. The overcoats may prove of value in tracing the gunners, of whom, it is believed, there were two.

Police ordered another complete survey of the district. So far they admit they can not point a finger anywhere at at any one. The residents are all family people. Near by, however, Terry Druggan, beer baron, maintained an undercover apartment which was raided two months ago by detectives. Robert McLaughlin, head of the Checker Taxi company, lives in Lunt avenue, less than two blocks away.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 22.—Howard Carter, the Egyptologist, reports he is now busy clearing Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb in the valley of kings and expects to have removed the shrines by the end of this month. After clearing the tomb, the government will require another fortnight to prepare an entrance for tourists. It is expected the first visitors will be allowed to enter Jan. 15.

FINAL CUT AT CITY'S BUDGET TO START TODAY

The final analysis on the city's corporate budget will be started today by members of the council finance committee in an effort to reduce the appropriations for city departments to the $64,000,000 which City Controller Schmidt has set up for 1931 revenues. In the last two weeks the committee has made a tentative study of items in the budget in which the appropriations have exceeded Schmidt's estimates.

A battle is expected over the appropriations for the department of license. Last year the department was given $312,000, but for 1931 Schmidt has recommended only $35,000 and Douglas Sutherland of the Civic Federation has advocated the abolition of the department. The department has been used to give jobs to political workers around election times, it has been charged.

The aldermen expect to complete work on the corporate, vehicle tax, bond, and water budgets in time to submit them to the council at the next meeting, Dec. 30.

Belt Railroad Fined $200 for Smoke Law Violation

A fine of $200 was levied against the Belt Railroad company yesterday by Judge John F. O'Connell in the Municipal court for violation of the city's smoke ordinance. Evidence was produced by Frank A. Chambers, chief city smoke inspector, to show that three of the railroad's engines were smoking excessively in the vicinity of the 94th street roundhouse.

Hawaiian Bar Association Opposes Women as Jurors

HONOLULU, Dec. 22.—(AP)—The Bar Association of Hawaii today voted 45 to 6 against women serving as jurors. The vote was taken at the request of Delegate Houston, who said he would take action in Washington looking toward revision of the Hawaiian organic act to permit women jurors if the Bar association favored such action.

WOMAN FALLS, FATALLY HURT.

Mrs. Catherine Seinwerth, 65 years old, 8024 Maryland avenue, died last night at St. Luke's hospital of a skull fracture received earlier in the day when she slipped and fell to the pavement while walking near her home.

CHICAGOAN SEEKS KIDNAPED SON, OFFERS $50,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GRENOBLE, France, Dec. 22.—The referee's court here today ruled that Capt. Christian Gross, formerly of Chicago, and now secretary at the American legation at Berne, Switzerland, is entitled to possession of his son, Peter.

Capt. Gross charges that his wife, Virginia Harrison Gross, and her Mexican friend, Marius de Zayas, with kidnaping his 7 year old boy, and the court announces that the Mexican faces a 20 year prison term unless the child is restored to its father.

Capt. Gross accused his wife and de Zayas of keeping the child in hiding for three years in order to obtain an $850,000 trust fund which had been settled on the child. Capt. Gross has offered $50,000 as a reward for knowledge of his son's whereabouts. The last news Capt. Gross had of the pair was that they were in Austria.

IMPRISON OWNER, STEAL $700.

Two armed men yesterday locked Jacob Budowski in a rear room of his dress shop at 4746 South Ashland avenue and escaped with $700 after cutting the telephone wires.

PLEADS GUILTY TO EMBEZZLING EIGHT MILLIONS

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22.—Gilbert H. Beesemeyer, confessed embezzler of $8,000,000 from the Guaranty Building and Loan association, today staged a sudden change of front, requested to go before Superior Judge Walton Wood, and pleaded guilty to [illegible] charges of grand theft.

Last Friday Beesemeyer entered a plea of not guilty and announced his intention to fight the charges. As a result, District Attorney Buron Fitts prepared to go before the grand jury tomorrow and indict Beesemeyer on sixty or more additional counts.

Beesemeyer's change of heart today will bring him back before Judge Walton Wood on Friday to receive sentence. The state law provides a sentence of one to fourteen years on each count, and if the accused man's sentence were made to run consecutively he would be sent to the penitentiary from 10 to 140 years.

HUNT McGURN IN FLORIDA; SEIZE 2 CARRYING GUNS

Believe Capone Gangster Pal of Captives.

Machine Gun Jack McGurn, considered one of the main cogs in the Capone gang, was the object of a search by Dade county, Florida, deputy sheriffs yesterday, the Chicago police were informed in a message asking his arrest should he return to the city. The Miami authorities said that they would like to determine if it was McGurn, as they suspect, who advised two men being arrested to resist the police.

The two men arrested in Miami are believed to be Chicago gangsters and members of the Capone outfit. They were found in an automobile with revolvers from which the numbers were erased with acid. As the police were handcuffing the suspects a man shouted from the window of a house and told the prisoners to fight. A description given by the woman who rented the house fits that of McGurn.

Believed Chicago Hoodlums.

The men arrested gave the names of Charles Demato, 30, and Frank Marullo, 30, of Cleveland. Their clothing, however, bore Chicago labels, and the police say the men knew nothing about Cleveland when questioned.

The McGurn theory was strengthened when the police found a large photo of Louise Rolfe, McGurn's blonde alibi, in a room in the house.

Efforts to release the men arrested by writs of habeas corpus failed. The writs were filed by Vincent Giblin and J. Fritz Gordon, Capone's Miami lawyers. The men were held in bail of $1,000 each.

White Seeks Bond.

William J. "Three Fingered Jack" White, a public enemy and said to be in charge of the labor muscling end of the Capone gang, tried yesterday to get out of jail pending his trial on the revived murder indictment.

Attorneys W. W. Smith and Everett Jennings asked in a petition that Judge Joseph Sabath allow bail, inasmuch as the Supreme court had once said that the crime involved—shooting a policeman—could not be more than manslaughter. They pointed out that the state once entirely abandoned the charge following the reversal by the Supreme court two years ago. The judge said he would decide the matter today.

Threats for Ditchburne.

Assistant State's Attorney Harry S. Ditchburne, who has been prosecuting gangsters for vagrancy in the felony court, revealed that he has received a number of threatening letters in the last few weeks and that he also found a bullet lodged in the radiator of his automobile.

The last letter, received on Saturday, was written in a cramped hand, he announced, and stated "a lot of guys who could have given it to you have passed you up. Maybe it won't happen that way after this." The letter was signed "one of those you are looking for."

Alcock Opens Vagrancy Drive.

Acting Police Commissioner Alcock made public yesterday the fact that he has been quietly carrying on a vagrancy campaign against the minor hoodlums and thieves. He said that his vagrancy bureau had 75 warrants issued and that 45 of them have been served. His statistics show that 32 cases are still pending and that six convictions were obtained.

The acting commissioner said that he expects to have 15 additional warrants issued today. He also has records of two arrests each against 701 other persons and that if they are arrested once or twice more and are not working he will seek vagrancy warrants against them.

SHOT AND ROBBED BY NEGRO.

Morris Fox, 50 years old, 1256 Washburne avenue, a junk dealer, was shot and probably fatally wounded late yesterday at 36th street and Cottage Grove avenue, by a Negro who robbed him of $10.

BOTH CALIFORNIA AND FLORIDA EXPERIENCE EARLY WINTER HINT

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Jack Frost laid down a glossy barrage over the western hills today to pave the way for Santa Claus and brought nippy, subnormal temperatures to numerous California communities, especially in the citrus belt.

The cold weather was general over the "western basin," including Nevada, Utah and Idaho, due to a high pressure area. At Imperial, Cal., one of the hottest spots in America, the mercury got down to 29 degrees above zero. Santa Rosa registered 22 degrees. In San Francisco the lowest was 45. Los Angeles reported 43.

Florida Wet and Chilly.

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Christmas week was ushered into Florida today by a blustery north wind that gave promise of lingering until Santa Claus has come and gone. From Pensacola to Key West rain fell, while a chilly wind sent thermometers tumbling.

Residents of Jacksonville, sloshing through the downpour, have not seen the sun for a week.

Other cities also have experienced cloudy weather, including St. Petersburg, the "Sunshine city." In that gulf coast resort the Evening Independent, a daily newspaper distributed free on days the sun fails to shine, gave away its third consecutive edition today for the first time in twenty years.

Jacksonville and Gainesville were the coldest cities in the state, with the mercury dropping to 38 degrees.

Engineer Makes His Last Run; 52 Years on Railroad

Patrick H. Ryan, for 52 years in the service of the Pennsylvania railroad, with most of that time spent as passenger engineman between Fort Wayne, Ind., and Chicago, yesterday made his last run. He left Chicago at 12:20 p. m., intending to take off his overalls as soon as he reached Fort Wayne, and then retire to his home in Plymouth, Ind., where he will live on a pension.

BOXER HELD IN ASSAULT CASE.

Alleged to have attacked one of three young women whom he and two other men took to Calumet Park on Dec. 11, Felix Centrucci, 21 years old, a pugilist who boxes under the name of Phil Rois, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bonds of $2,500 by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the South Chicago court.

SWANSON SEEKS TO PLUG HOLES IN PISTOL LAW

May Ask Rehearing in Jack McGurn Case.

State's Attorney Swanson yesterday ordered his assistants to digest the recent opinion of the Supreme court in reversing the finding of a Criminal court jury in the case of Machine Gun Jack McGurn, Capone lieutenant. The prosecutors were instructed to seek for grounds on which the reviewing court might be persuaded to grant a petition for a rehearing.

The court last week set aside the gun toting conviction, the only conviction ever obtained against McGurn, who has long been a police character. The court held that the arrest and search of McGurn, without a warrant, was illegal.

The McGurn case, according to prosecutors, points out the urgent need for a law differentiating between men like McGurn and the average citizen who violates such laws as the gun toting statute.

Need "Public Enemy" Law.

The drawing of such a distinction between ordinary citizens and known criminals is one of the aims of the proposed "public enemies" law which is being drafted by Attorney James Condon. It was learned yesterday that the state's attorney and Judge John H. Lyle, who has been harassing the hoodlums listed as public enemies by the crime commission, are ready to back the Condon measure which will be introduced by Michael Igoe at the next session of the legislature.

McGurn was arrested by Detectives William Drury and John J. Howe, who built up a reputation by arresting several well known hoodlums for gun toting. At the trial, however, the detectives testified that McGurn "had committed no crime that we know of; that he was seated quietly in a taxicab at the time of arrest, and that we had no grounds to believe that he was wanted for any violation of law, either misdemeanor or felony."

It was pointed out by attorneys that had they testified that McGurn was wanted as a suspect, then the search they made of him would have been legal, and the evidence as to the finding of the revolver would have been held admissible in the trial.

Would Change Statute.

"I believe the law against carrying concealed weapons should be amended so that it is unnecessary to have a warrant prior to the arrest of a man with a deadly weapon," said Swanson yesterday. "The mere possession of a revolver should constitute a prima facie case of guilt, and then it should be up to the defendant to justify his possession. This is particularly true of gangsters and hoodlums."

It was pointed out by attorneys that the revolver found on McGurn was admitted into evidence on the basis of a decision rendered by the Supreme court in the Joe Saltis case in which the police did not have a warrant. In the Saltis case, reported in volume 328 of the Supreme court reports and written by Justice Dunn, the court said:

"The object of the legislature in the passage of the act was to protect the public against the occurrence of assaults, affrays and crimes of violence which are encouraged by the custom of the general and promiscuous carrying of concealed weapons."

In the Saltis case, as shown by the Supreme court reports, a detective bureau squad entered a south side saloon —without a warrant—and found Saltis and several others playing cards. They searched Saltis and found the revolver, which resulted in his serving 60 days in the Bridewell. In the decision the court says the police had no warrant or evidence of the law being violated, and that "the violation was discovered as a result of the search."

In the Saltis case the trial judge refused to suppress the evidence of the revolver as in the McGurn case. McGurn was in a taxicab, the evidence showed, with another man, while Saltis was in the back room of a saloon.

ALCOCK TO RID POLICE OF SAM BROWNE BELTS

Acting Police Commissioner Alcock yesterday promised the council police committee that in a few days he will issue an order directing the police to discard the Sam Browne belts. Members of the force recently voted a protest against the use of the belts, which the police say slow up the drawing of their guns. As a result, Ald. John Toman [23d] introduced a resolution in the city council calling for the discard of the belts. No action was taken on the resolution by the committee in view of Alcock's promise.

MAKES REPLY TO CHARGES ABOUT INSURANCE CO.

J. B. McCutchan, secretary-treasurer of the Liberty Insurance company, yesterday replied to charges made by C. S. Younger, state superintendent for Ohio, that Darby Day and his Chicago associates had switched securities in their operation of the Liberty company, of which Mr. Day is president. Mr. McCutchan said:

"We went to see Mr. Younger at Columbus to discuss methods for increasing the capital stock of the Liberty company from $250,000 to $500,000. At the same time we asked Mr. Younger to examine the assets of the company. This he did and he found fault with certain securities which we had listed under assets. We are replacing the unsatisfactory securities with others of a type meeting the requirements of the Ohio insurance law."

WORK TO REMAP WARDS WILL BE STARTED TODAY

Census Figures by Blocks Are Received.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Preliminary studies on the remapping of Chicago's lopsided wards start today, according to Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], chairman of the subcommittee on redistricting. Copies of the official census figures by blocks and census taking districts reached Frederick Rex, municipal reference librarian, yesterday from Washington. He is to start compiling them by wards today, after which the tabulations are to be forwarded to the city map department, which is directed to enter the population of each block on city maps.

The proposal to ask the legislature to create five more wards has been abandoned on account of hostility among the legislators, according to Chairman Bowler, who says the tentative redistricting plans will proceed to recarve the city into fifty new wards, as directed by law.

Consider 50 Aldermen Enough.

Opposition to an increase in the number of wards and of aldermanic jobs was based on the ground that the main object of the fifty ward bill when adopted ten years ago was to reduce the size of the city council, then composed of seventy aldermen, two elected from each of thirty-five wards. To add five wards, it was pointed out, would require a referendum as well as action at Springfield, and the public might consider that fifty aldermen are quite enough.

Pressure is being brought to bear by local legislators upon the aldermen to remap the wards without delay, for the reason that if the city council dawdles on ward redistricting, the battle for legislative and congressional reapportionment at Springfield will be smack up against a stone wall. Senator Thomas J. Courtney, who is regarded as in line for minority leader in the senate, yesterday addressed emphatic views to that effect to some of the aldermen.

Sees Action Before April.

Chairman Bowler declared that after the map department has got up the population maps, a new ward scheme will be platted out and the hearings will begin. He regards it as rather unlikely that it will be ready for a vote in the council before the February primary and aldermanic election, but says the prospects are it will be adopted by the present council before the April election.

At present there are eight vacancies in the council, due to the election of eight aldermen to other positions last month. The proposal is to finish the remapping of the city before the eight new aldermen take their seats in April, as it means eight fewer members to satisfy on ward boundaries.

"Our expectations," said Ald. Bowler, "are that a ward redistricting will go through without much difficulty. Once we get the maps and the population figures blocked out we can get busy and it won't be such a hard job to plat out new boundaries. The city council will be able to show the legislature what real dispatch means on a matter of mandatory redistricting."

Inequalities Are Shown.

Aanalysis of the ward figures shows that due to the "pocket boroughs" and the disparities in wards, almost a million of Chicago's population are squeezed outside the principle of equal representation in municipal government. On the basis of 3,375,329 population in Chicago, if the 50 wards were of equal size they would have 67,500 population each. As they now stand, 32 of the wards are below this figure. Two of them are less than half that size. One of the big wards, on the other hand, is more than twice that size.

In the "bloody 20th" a population of 33,791 has one alderman. It has about four and a half times as much representation according to population as the 39th ward, where a population of 150,892 has one alderman.

In the twenty-five smallest wards, 1,208,900 people have the same number of aldermen as a population of 2,166,300 in the other twenty-five wards.

Sues Broker for $100,000, Which She Says She Lost

Miss Lyda M. Kirk, 50 years old, of Austin, Tex., filed suit for $100,000 damages in the Circuit court yesterday against Winthrop, Mitchell & Co., investment brokers of 141 West Jackson boulevard. Miss Kirk alleges, in her suit, that she lost this amount when the brokers failed to sell her stocks on the day which she ordered.

SEEK TO EXTEND SKYSCRAPER LINE ON SOUTH SIDE

A skyline comparable to that of the loop is predicted for the district bordering Grant park and the Illinois Central tracks between 29th and 47th streets if the city council approves the action taken yesterday by its committee on buildings and zoning. The committee approved plans for rezoning the area to allow the construction of skyscrapers.

As approved by the committee, the area bounded roughly by 29th and 47th streets, Cottage Grove avenue and the Illinois Central tracks will be reclassified as a fifth volume district. The block just west of Cottage Grove avenue between 39th and 40th streets also would be included.

Would Allow Skyscrapers.

Formerly the buildings in this area, which was cut up into third and fourth volume districts, were limited to heights of either 198 or 264 feet. If the council approves the rezoning the buildings can be constructed with a sheer rise of 264 feet and then setback towers can be constructed to greater heights in proportion to the size of the building site and the base of the structure.

"It is the psychological turning point for Oakland and the part of Kenwood included in the rezoning," said Albert P. Dippold, architect and chairman of the zoning committee of the Oakland Business Men's association, which is sponsoring the change, "in that it will create a reawakening of the plans that owners have had for the development of their property.

"Construction is expected to be started on a number of large buildings and when the proper financing can be arranged more property will be improved. This district is one of the finest locations in the city. It has the lake and the transportation facilities offered by the I. C., street cars, elevated, buses and the outer drive.

Sees Boon to District.

"If the district is developed it will mean much to the City Beautiful plan, by extending the skyline of tall buildings from the loop to Jackson park. The area south of 47th street and east of the I. C. tracks is now in the fifth volume class and our plan will remove the unsightly blot between 29th and 47th streets."

Some of the real estate operators in the district, however, voiced the opinion that it will be five years before the district is ready for 20 story and higher structures. They say it will improve property values now only in certain corner locations and may retard development in the area until the property is desired for tall buildings.

RUSSIA ORDERS MORE FOOD FOR HUNGRY MILLIONS

Decrees Big Shakeup in Distributing System.

MOSCOW, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Soviet Russia is shaking up its entire food distribution system under a decree published today by the central committee of the communist party. Its prime object, beyond removal of sabotage agents boring from within, appeared to be provision of more food for the stinted millions in areas far from agricultural centers.

The decree pillories the commissariat of internal supply, describing its work as unsatisfactory and reporting that the "meat and vegetable trusts are clogged with anti-soviet agents, 48 of whom recently were shot." It asserts that the coöperative agencies must be "cleaned out from top to bottom," and it details 100 trusted members of the central committee and others to the provinces under orders to reorganize the meat and vegetable supply system.

Private Trade Still Flourishes.

Incidentally, the report lists the Soviet Coöperative society's trade turnover for 1930 at about six billion dollars, which was 66 per cent of the year's total internal trade.

In spite of its achievements, however, the coöperative system "has not yet abolished bureaucracy and the spirit of private trade," the decree asserts, declaring that the "coöperatives must establish such forms of food distribution as will correspond with the general problems of socialistic construction. The class principle in distribution must be enforced more vigorously and distribution of products must help to stimulate and encourage socialistic forms of labor."

This last means in effect that only those who work and give whole-souled coöperation to the communist policies will eat.

Urges "Closed Shop."

The central committee endorsed the principle of the "closed shop," an establishment at which only the workers of certain factories, unions and societies are permitted to make purchases, and urged that the closed shop principle be extended.

"Distribution," the decree said, "must help to increase the productivity of the worker and to combat desertion from the labor front. The coöperative system must be thoroughly purged and its staff renewed. Workers must be installed instead of wreckers. The cultural growth of the masses and the abolition of unemployment place before the coöperative agencies the problem of gradual convertion of the food supply system from individual forms to those of collective consumption."

Prices Must Be Cut.

All restaurants must be placed under the control of the workers themselves; food must be improved, prices reduced and wasted time eliminated in order to stimulate socialization of food distribution and to abolish domestic preparation of meals.

"Be unreconciliable to the lefts, the rights, and to all other forms of opportunism. Put your shoulder to the wheel so that the true policies of communism may live and that the deviations of subversive elements may be crushed. We must rid the soviet of these elements from top to bottom. During the period of socialistic advance the party cannot reconcile itself to opportunism. This practice not only does not support bolshevik construction, but actually encourages sabotage and ignores the most important decisions of the party."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The real fight to determine whether the United States is to adopt a definite program committing this country to a policy of building up to the tonnage limits of the London naval agreement will not be staged until the Seventy-second congress convenes in December, 1931.

Developments of the present session make it apparent that neither the administration nor navy men in congress are preparing to make any attempt to secure passage at this session of a warship authorization bill carrying all the ships which the United States can build under the treaty up to Dec. 31, 1936.

The authorization bill sent to congress by the navy department, following extensive conferences with the President and leaders of the senate and house naval committees, calls for approximately one-seventh of the warship tonnage which this country would have to lay down during the next five years if the United States is to have a treaty navy completed or building on the date the pact expires.

Figures submitted last week to the house committee by Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, disclosed that the United States can build 402,000 tons of ships under the treaty prior to its expiration without exceeding the total tonnage limit of 1,103,000 tons. Of this tonnage 285,800 tons are not yet authorized.

The bill submitted by Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams calls for authorizations of approximately 35,000 tons and the bill when worked out by the committee will include about 38,200. Ten destroyers and one leader of a total of 16,500 tons, now authorized, will be added to the 38,200 as a part of the 1932 building program.

Six 8 inch gun cruisers are now building and another will be started shortly, Secretary Adams announced today.

Mayor Thompson Sues Col. Randolph for Million

Mayor Thompson filed suit in the Superior court yesterday for $1,000,000 damages against Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The suit charges libel and alleges that the mayor "was falsely heralded throughout the United States and foreign countries as a corrupt and dishonest person and public official."

FREE U. S. WIDOW IN PLOT AGAINST FASCIST ITALY

Three Co-defendants Get Prison Terms.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Dec. 22.—A special tribunal for the defense of the state today acquitted Mrs. H. J. de Bosis, American born widow of an Italian poet, of charges that she had engaged in anti-Fascist activities. The court sentenced two men to prison for fifteen years and a third to three years on the same charge.

Three other defendants, Augusto Benedetti, Olga Tentori and a man named Marchi, were acquitted.

Mrs. de Bosis, 65 years old, born Lillian Vernon of St. Louis, Mo., was saved from a prison sentence on her plea that she did not know that the circulars she multigraphed in her home were anti-Fascist propaganda. Her plea was borne out by Prof. Renzo Rendi, correspondent for American newspapers, who insisted she had nothing to do with writing the circulars, but only with their mechanical preparation.

Two Get Fifteen Years.

Prof. Rendi and Mario Vinciguerra were found guilty upon their own confessions and received fifteen year prison sentences. Gelmetti was ordered to prison for three years.

Rendi was the only one to insist up to the conclusion of the trial that an attempt had been made to overthrow the government.

The trial itself resembled a military court martial. Eight black shirt officers in dress uniforms stood about the courtroom, while the defendants were held in an iron cage against the wall. Five carabineers were inside the cage. A guard of militia also stood about the room.

The trial ran smoothly. Indications that the court would be lenient to the American woman appeared evident when the presiding officer read a letter she had written to Premier Mussolini begging for a pardon. She also declared she had written a second letter to Il Duce thanking him for his consideration in removing her from a prison to a sanitarium.

Said She Did It for Son.

She was perfectly at ease upon the witness stand and expressed her regret that she had unwittingly participated in a plot against the Fascist régime.

"I am ignorant of political matters," she testified. "I only multigraphed the material my son, Lauro de Bosis, gave me before he left."

The son is a fugitive in Switzerland. He will be tried despite his absence, his responsibility in the plot having been admitted by all defendants. No spectators were allowed at the trial. Troops with fixed bayonets kept a mob of curious from the courtroom's closed doors.

HELD AS STILL OPERATORS.

Lester Kohn and Barney Tower, arrested recently as operators of a 2,000 gallon alcohol still in the old car barn at 5633 Broadway, were held to the federal grand jury by United States Commissioner Walker yesterday in bonds of $2,500 each.

WIDOW OF BOY BROKER ENDS HER LIFE WITH GAS

Saw Husband Shot to Death 10 Years Ago.

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Mrs. Julian Dick, 38, who never had recovered from the tragic shock of seeing her wealthy broker husband accidentally shot to death by his best friend ten years ago, was found dead from gas today in her home in the exclusive Murray Hill section.

Nearby were several notes, two of them addressed to Gerald Brooks, a broker, who later was identified by Mrs. Dick's family physician as the brother of George Bruce Brooks, the friend who killed Mrs. Dick's husband.

The missives, obviously of a farewell nature, and the fact that Mrs. Dick had dressed herself carefully in a tan ensemble and tied her left hand to a pipe apparently so that she would not fall to the floor when gas overcame her, convinced police that the death was a carefully planned suicide.

Splendid Record in Army.

It will be ten years ago on New Year's day that Julian Dick, who had won fame in New York as the "boy broker" and achieved a splendid army record in France as a captain in the Fifty-eighth coast artillery was accidentally shot by George Bruce Brooks, a son of the late Belvidere Brooks, who had been vice president and general manager of the Western Union Telegraph company.

The two young men had been examining a revolver which it turned out later was Brooks' army weapon that he had left at the Dick's home shortly before, when it was accidentally discharged. Mrs. Dick was in the room at the time. Mr. Dick died two days later.

Notes to Gerald Brooks.

Mrs. Dick's notes to Gerald Brooks told little.

"Dear, I am sorry, time will tell," one of them read.

The other said: "Nothing that has happened between us was the cause of this."

The third message was addressed to Dr. Harold Meeker, Mrs. Dick's family physician, and read simply: "I am sorry for causing you all this trouble."

The physician said that Mrs. Dick had been under a great mental strain ever since the death of her husband and had made several changes of residence, living for a while in Europe, later going to Texas, and more recently seeking relief in a Massachusetts sanitarium.

The scene of her death was not very far from that of her husband's untimely end. On that New Year's morning of 1921, when Mr. Dick was shot, he and his wife were living in Sniffen court, off East 36th street.

Blood Transfusion Fails.

At the time of the shooting, Dick's father, Frank M. Dick of E. H. Hutton & Co., cotton brokers, and the police both exonerated George Bruce Brooks of any blame in the shooting. Young Brooks offered his blood in a transfusion operation in an effort to save Dick. But his blood was not suitable and transfusion proved a failure anyway.

Mrs. Dick, socially prominent, before her marriage to the broker in 1911, was the wife of R. H. Southgate, the son of the president of the Congress Hotel company of Chicago, whom she divorced in 1909. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Tincher of Topeka, Kas.

Julian Dick had been a member of the Princeton class of 1908 and entered the officers' training camp at Fortress Monroe, Va., in 1917. He was commissioned a captain and served overseas.

HAS HUSBAND ENJOINED

Custody Is Denied

Lester B. Cook, former northwest side banker and now proprietor of the Norwood Inn, 6127 Northwest highway, was denied the custody of his five year old daughter, Joyce Louise, at a hearing yesterday before Circuit Judge Trude. Cook was divorced last October by Mrs. Gladys Cook, 4761 North Luna avenue, on grounds of adultery and the custody of the child was divided between the parents.

When Mrs. Cook refused to permit her former husband to see the child she was brought before Judge Trude on a contempt petition. Her attorney, Harry X. Cole, produced social service workers who testified that two women, named by Mrs. Cook in her divorce bill, are still employed by Cook.

The child also took the witness stand and said that her father was cruel to her. Cook will get to see his daughter one-half hour each week and then only in the judge's chambers and in the presence of witnesses.

DRYS TO WATCH "EVE" REVELRY; THREATEN ACTION

Prohibition agents will be making the rounds on New Year's eve and the orders are to arrest any flagrant violators, Deputy Prohibition Administrator Arthur Hamilton said yesterday.

"New Year's eve is not different from any other day to us," he said. "If proprietors of hotels and cabarets condone drinking in their establishments they will be subject to arrest for maintaining a nuisance."

However, Mr. Hamilton is a new man in Chicago. Agents with years of New York snooping experience predicted that few if any arrests would be made at hotels or night clubs. Managers who use reasonable discretion in requiring their patrons to keep bottles under the tables have not been molested in the past. There are only about fifty dry agents in Chicago and they could not accomplish much in the way of suppressing celebrations, it was pointed out.

The booze supply is no more plentiful than in previous years and is uniformly bad, the agents said. About 1 per cent of that seized is found to be "McCoy," which is Volstead for kosher.

Girl Theater Cashier Is Slugged by Robber

Struck down by one of two robbers, Miss Charlotte Fine, 1451 Elmdale avenue, cashier of the Century theater, 1421 West Madison street, was robbed of $75 yesterday afternoon. The holdup was committed near the theater. As Miss Fine fell, a package containing the money broke, scattering currency on the sidewalk. The robbers scooped up part of it and left $148.

MONACO RIOTERS TELL RULER TO TEND TO WORK

Troops Guard Palace as Prince Returns Home.

MONTE CARLO, Dec. 22.—Troops of the principality of Monaco surrounded the palace of Prince Louis tonight to curb any renewal of hostile riots directed against the reigning prince upon his return today after a long absence in Paris. The prince was warned by rioters to stay home and pay more attention to the business of ruling Monaco.

The hostile demonstration, which closely resembled revolutionary rioting, was quelled by the Monegasque carabinieri. A mob of 7,000 persons, including a majority of the 680 legal voters of the principality, and one-half of the Monaco army—50 men—were at the station when the train pulled in.

Shout "Down With Prince."

There were a few cheers as Prince Louis alighted. They were instantly drowned out by cries of "Vive la France" "Vive la Republique" and equivalents to "Down with Louis."

The riot was on. A group of 22 soldiers charged into the mêlée as hot headed Monegasques swung fists and pulled hair. Stones and bricks dotted the air. The soldiers wielded their carbines on the heads of the rioters as Prince Louis was hustled into the waiting room until the free-for-all ended.

A soldier was stabbed in the clash. Many rioters tonight are nursing bruised heads while leaders of the outbreak are in jail.

Rich Gamblers Missing.

For some time there have been mutterings of discontent over the ruler's frequent absences in Paris and other capitals. Dissolution of the two legislative councils and the failure of a real estate firm added fuel to the fire.

The world's economic crisis also struck Monaco and the populace grumbled because rich gamblers no longer go to Monte Carlo to play roulette. Rival casinos on the Riveria are getting most of this business and the flow of easy money has stopped.

POLICE WILL LET NATURE TAKE ITS NEW YEAR COURSE

In a general order issued yesterday relative to New Year celebrations, Acting Police Commissioner Alcock indicated that the police will adopt a policy of tolerance toward revelers. The order specified that celebrants discharging firearms within the city and disorderly hoodlums are to be arrested, but made no specific mention of prohibition enforcement. However, the commissioner said that if there is any open and flagrant violation of the law, including the prohibition law, the police may be relied upon to do their duty.

STORK BRINGS MINER 18TH CHILD.

Hollywood Happenings

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Tyler Brooke, film actor, was granted a divorce from La Runa N. Brooke, who he alleged was a "poor housekeeper and quarrelsome wife."

Alice P. Glazer obtained a divorce from Benjamin Glazer, film writer and director, in which he agreed to pay her $1,250 a month. She alleged he refused frequently to come home and caused her worry which impaired her health.

Marjorie Crawford, 22 year old aviatrix, announced her engagement to William Wellman, Hollywood motion picture director. Wellman was divorced in August by Mrs. Margery Wellman, former follies beauty.

HIGH COURT RULES PORTO RICO CAN'T ENFORCE DRY LAW

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Porto Rican insular authorities may not prosecute for violation of the Volstead act, the Supreme court decided by a 3 to 2 decision today, thus leaving the burden of prohibition enforcement to federal authorities.

In the past about 3,000 cases a year were handled by the island attorney general. Attorney General Beverly said tonight he was studying the decision in view of a possible appeal.

Belgian Queen Suffers Chill; Forced to Stay In

BRUSSELS, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians today was suffering from a slight chill which will necessitate her remaining in her private apartments for several days.

Neuritis Responds to Treatment

Relief from Neuritis depends on getting rid of the cause—the acid which is irritating the nerves must be neutralized and eliminated. Thousands of people have gained relief by drinking Mountain Valley Mineral Water from Hot Springs, Ark., because it contains alkaline minerals which seem to neutralize the acid—and also because it stimulates and assists the eliminative organs and aids them to expel the acid. Physicians recommend it as an aid in treating all disorders which result from kidney disorders. Phone us for a case today.

STEEL COMPANIES BOOST CAMPAIGN FOR RELIEF FUND

All Gifts for Day Exceed $100,000.

The iron and steel team of the $5,000,000 relief drive being conducted by the governor's unemployment commission came forward with a substantial contribution yesterday, turning in a $50,000 subscription from the United States Steel corporation. This and $53,158 rolling in from other sources brought the grand total thus far collected to $2,781,244.

Other ore products concerns who registered yesterday were the Interlake Iron company and employés with $26,000, and $20,500 from Joseph T. Ryerson & Sons, Inc., representing a joint corporation and workers' subscription.

"To date the iron and steel concerns have subscribed approximately $110,000 of their $450,000 quota," said the drive chairman, Philip R. Clarke. "It is obvious that there is a hard pull ahead if the quota is reached. But we are hoping that additional subscriptions will be received.

Other Contributions Received.

Included in the miscellany of yesterday's contributions were the following: Edward Hines, $1,000; Westinghouse employés, $3,000; Chicago City Bank & Trust company, $1,943; West Town State bank, $967; Lake Shore Trust & Savings bank, $901, and J. Walter Thompson company, $500.

Mr. Clarke issued a Christmas appeal last night. "Before we look around to see what Santa Claus has brought us," he said, "let's look down the street and try to contemplate the misery that is there—misery that is breaking the courage and spirit of strong men whose plight is no fault of theirs. It doesn't matter what we have done in the way of charity before; we simply must recognize in this emergency relief campaign a mass obligation, and the 'plus' giving must come forth."

At 11 a. m. this morning the commission will be presented with a $10,000 check from the Chicago Tuberculosis institute by Mrs. Theodore B. Sachs, superintendent. This contribution will be used to feed children in the public schools who cannot afford to buy their lunches.

Academy to Aid Children.

Christmas charity from another quarter was reported yesterday in the announcement that twenty-five boys of Lake Forest Academy for Boys will forego Christmas day in their homes in order to act as hosts to 100 poor and homeless Chicago boys. The students will remain at the academy Christmas and be hosts at a turkey dinner for fifty boys from the Northwestern university settlement and as many more from the Erie Chapel settlement. After the dinner they will play games in the academy gymnasium and distribute gifts of warm clothing.

A Christmas dinner will be served the unemployed who occupy the shelter beneath Wacker drive, close to the Michigan bridge. Washington, Ia., farmers have donated 500 chickens for the feast.

JOBLESS GO FOR JOY RIDE; SMASH UP FOOD TRUCK

Two unemployed men who have been accepting free meals and beds at the Tower Town Food and Shelter, a soup kitchen operated in the old Criminal court building at Dearborn street and Austin avenue, stole the truck used to collect food for their fellow unfortunates Sunday night and engaged in a joy ride which subsequently wrecked the truck, injured a woman, and landed one of them in the Deering street police station.

Called to Halsted and 33d streets about midnight Sunday, the police found the truck smashed beyond repair and lodged firmly against the battered nose of a work car of the Chicago Surface lines, against which it had collided head-on. Close by, and also in a damaged condition, was the sedan driven by Miss Constance Sectokas, 125 East 107th street, who suffered a cut hand and nose when the truck skidded against her car before it met the work car. She was given treatment at St. Paul's hospital, and this morning Marion Genant, one of the occupants of the truck, will be arraigned in Municipal court charged with reckless driving. His partner, Edward Crowley, is believed to have fled after the crash.

According to Mrs. T. D. Collins, wife of the owner of the Seneca hotel and sponsor of the shelter, the two men had been engaged nightly in collecting food from hotels and clubs.

Public Library Circulates 14,000,000 Books in 1930

The Chicago Public library during 1930 will have loaned an average of 4.53 books to each citizen, it was estimated by officials of the institution yesterday. More than 14,000,000 books were kept in circulation by the library during the past year.

TALE OF MURDER 'UNBELIEVABLE'; SUSPECT FREED

Nicholas Muscato, known to the "42" gang as the "Little Man," was cleared of a murder charge in Judge Joseph B. David's court yesterday because the story of a juvenile gangland execution, told by Frank Russo, 17 years old, was seemingly too much for belief.

On Sept. 17, Russo entered the State street police station and told the story to Lieut. Phil Carroll. Since that day Russo has been a voluntary prisoner in a police station cell, the longest time on record. He was held to save his life, to preserve him as a witness.

According to Russo's story he and Frank Petito, 16 years old, were riding in an automobile on June 29 when another car, containing Muscato, Peter (The Ape) Nicastro, and a third man, crowded them to the curb, kidnaped them and drove them to a spot near McCook. During the ride Russo gave a cigaret to Petito, remarking, "Here is your last smoke before you die." Petito smiled, accepted the smoke and puffed away unemotionally.

Near McCook, Petito, still smiling, third man shot him to death with nine bullets.

Then, according to Russo, they had no more ammunition, so they had to let him live.

Russo returned to Chicago and squawked. Not long afterward Nicastro was taken for a ride and his body dumped from a machine at 24th and Canal streets.

CHINA CAPTURES TRIANGLE OF RED TOWNS; 2,000 DIE

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Dec. 22.—Nationalist government troops operating in southern Kiangsi province scored their first important victory over the communist forces today when the red stronghold of Tungku was captured. Tungku had been a red center for two years under the control of the red leader, Chu Teh. He instituted there a soviet government which he termed the soviet capital of China.

In addition to the capture of Tangku, Gen. Chiang Kai-shek reported the capture of two other Red strongholds known as Ningtu and Nanfeng. Two thousand reds are reported to have been killed at Ningtu. The other towns taken today form a triangle about 150 miles south of Nanchang, the provincial capital where Gen. Chiang has been directing the campaign against the Reds.

Free 500 Captives.

The government troops captured a large stock of military supplies and liberated more than 500 captive Chinese, many of whom were seized when Changsha was occupied and looted last summer. The Nanking forces systematically destroyed all vestiges of the communist regime in the three towns, including a soviet bank, red schools, official headquarters, and a radio station which had apparently been in direct communication with Moscow as well as the Chinese red headquarters elsewhere in China.

Gen. Chiang's message said that the major portion of the red forces which had been operating in Hunan, Kiangsi and northern Kwangtung have retreated to the mountainous sections along the Kiangsi-Fukien border, but that the government hopes to dislodge them early next year.

Prizes on Heads of Chiefs.

The government is making effective use of air bombers; also, it is distributing literature offering rewards ranging from $50 to $1,000 for the heads of red chiefs by plane. The red chiefs Chu Teh and Ho Lung were associated in 1927 with Michael Borodin, soviet adviser to China, but following his expulsion and the collapse of the red wing of the Nationalist party they retreated to southern Kiangsi from where their influence gradually spread throughout the provinces south of the Yangtze river.

Withdraw Support to Russians.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Secretary Stimson announced today receipt of information that the German minister to China had notified the diplomatic corps that protection by German authorities in China to soviet nationals had ceased. No details were given in the message from the American legation at Peiping, the secretary said, adding he did not know the reason for the move.

CONVICT ESCAPES WITH WARDEN'S CAR, GUN, CASH, BUT IS TAKEN

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Raymond Stickler, 23 year old convict tailor, who escaped from the Arizona state prison today after kidnaping Warden Lorenzo Wright and his four year old son, was captured tonight in a café here. Stickler attempted to shoot it out with the captors, but was overpowered before he could draw his gun.

En route to jail after he was captured Stickler was said to have drawn a knife the officers had missed in searching him and attacked his captors. The driver of the automobile in which the party was riding lost control and crashed into a telephone pole.

The prisoner obtained his liberty by a clever ruse. He was instructed to make a coat for the warden and, after complaining he had no material suitable for a lining, was driven toward Florence by the official, where a lining was to be purchased.

Stickler made off in the warden's car, taking also the warden's gun, watch and $58 in money.

HUNTER KILLED BY NEPHEW.

Lincoln, Ill., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The first hunting fatality for the season in Logan county occurred Monday when Lon Ford, 47, of Mason City died at a hospital from a shotgun wound suffered Friday when his 15 year old nephew, Godfrey Warren, accidentally shot him while hunting.

PLEAD FOR VOTES FOR WOMEN OF INDIA AT PARLEY

Argue They Should Have Special Representatives

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 22.—The claims of Indian womanhood to the right to vote were advocated eloquently today before the franchise committee of the Indian round table conference by Mrs. Subbarayan, one of the two women delegates, in a speech evoking loud applause from the committee members. Mrs. Subbarayan pleaded for the treatment of women on equality with men. She argued first for universal adult suffrage but if that was impossible she pleaded against the property qualification on the ground that few women own property.

Both Mrs. Subbarayan and the Begum Shah Nwaz objected to the western method of representation in which women had to defeat men contenders. They pleaded for the allotment of special seats for women in the future legislature of India.

Propose Larger Electorate.

One of the proposals made today was to increase the electorate immediately to 25 per cent of all citizens with a decennial increase of 25 per cent until all have a vote. But how to choose the voters was a puzzle. Neither property nor educational qualification will fit in with ideal percentages. One proposal was indirect election by panels of 20, each panel of voters electing one man who would vote for the group at the elections.

At the same time the deadlock between the Hindus and Moslems over the control of Punjab became worse. The Moslems refused the offer of the Hindus to guarantee the Moslems 51 per cent of the legislature with 23 per cent Sikhs and 26 Hindus, the Moslems insisting on a full 56 per cent to which they are entitled by the proportion of population.

Late tonight the Hindu Liberals appointed a committee of five with full powers to arrive at a settlement with three Moslem representatives. The representatives of the Hindus and Moslems, who were still in conference at midnight, had been instructed to continue their sitting all night or until an agreement had been reached.

Battle After Christmas.

The conference adjourns tomorrow over Christmas and when it reassembles next week the real fight begins over the powers of the viceregal executive. It will have to be decided if it will be responsible only to the British government or to the federal government of India, and how that federation will be constituted.

CASHIER OF BANK IN OKLAHOMA CARRIED OFF BY TWO ROBBERS

Apache, Okla., Dec. 22.—(AP)—J. W. Pieratt, cashier of the American National bank here, was kidnaped late today by two robbers, who, entering the institution with drawn guns, forced two employes and three customers into a vault and escaped with $2,500.

Posses and officers were searching the vicinity tonight. Pieratt had failed to return several hours after the robbery.

After looting the bank the two robbers, both young, forced the cashier into their automobile at the point of a gun.

John Eckers, assistant cashier, spread the alarm and accompanied a posse after his release from the vault. Miss Nola Conaway, bookkeeper, entered the bank as the robbery was in progress and was forced into the vault with Eckers.

Officers expressed belief the robbers took Pieratt with them as protection in event they were followed.

OOD FELLOWS USY PACKING THEIR BASKETS

Too Late for You to Cheer Poor.

Good Fellows are packing baskets today for the delivery of food and toys to the poor on Christmas eve. Turkey, meat, fruit, nuts and candy will convince even the footsore unemployed that there is a Santa Claus. Dolls, games, mechanical novelties and picture books are going into children's stockings that otherwise would be empty.

There will be hundreds of Good Fellows carrying their loads to the doors of the destitute tomorrow, bringing holiday cheer into homes hard hit by the temporary employment slack. If you want to join this army, now entering its twenty-first year, there is still time. Call in person or telephone the Good Fellow headquarters, in THE TRIBUNE offices at Dearborn and Madison streets, for the names of deserving families for you to visit with a basket. It's too late to use the crowded mails.

Many Waiting for Help.

Old and hungry families are waiting for your help. Undernourished children with penniless parents are hopefully awaiting Christmas. If it will bring you happiness on the holidays, join the Good Fellows and deliver groceries and toys to one of these homes.

The Chicago Council of Social Agencies furnishes the Good Fellow headquarters with the names of those to get Christmas baskets. The council is a clearing house for two hundred Chicago charities. Destitute families report their needs to any of the affiliated charities. The Good Fellow headquarters already has more names of investigated families of established worthiness than it has Santa Claus volunteers.

Many Aiding Families.

Many former Good Fellow basket contributors this year are donating to the Good Fellow fund to carry impoverished families through the winter and to help them become self-supporting again. If you're financially able, there's an appealing Christmas suggestion—guarantee some cold and hungry family's budget for the remainder of the winter. The average budget for a large family is $100 a month.

Yesterday's mail brought fifty-one cash donations totaling $1,466 to provide necessities for families lacking food, shelter, clothing and heat. The largest was $500 from the Chicago Retail Druggists' association.

The third grade of the Noyes school in Evanston sent $16, the proceeds of a play staged by the pupils. The Home Economics Women in Business added $6.00 that was raised at a Christmas party. Miss Betty Peterson, swimming instructor at the Sovereign hotel, delivered $50 she had made selling candy to her pupils.

AIL CHRISTMAS OOMS FOR MEN OF ALIMONY CLUB

The chances of being freed before Christmas day appeared slim yesterday to the 71 members of the Alimony club, who are in the county jail for defiance of court orders to pay alimony to their former wives. For several years it has been customary in a general demonstration of Christmas good will to free those members who promise to make payments in the future.

The only ray of hope to some of the prisoners came from Judge Joseph who, though recently transferred to the Criminal court, announced that he would look over the alimony list to see if he could help any one whom he sentenced.

The three judges who have been hearing divorce cases the last few months have not indicated what they will do. Superior Judge John J. Sullivan, whose father died on Sunday, will not return to his court before Christmas. Superior Judge Harry A. Lewis said that he has only sentenced one man to Alimony row. Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude has not announced his plans.

obber Binds Victim in North Side Hotel Room

Frank Patrick, engineer, employed at the Albion Shore hotel, 1217 Albion avenue, surprised a burglar in his room in the hotel last night and was robbed of $62 in the encounter. The robber sealed Patrick's mouth with adhesive tape and then bound his hands and feet before leaving. Patrick kicked the floor with his feet for half an hour until tenants on the floor below summoned aid. The robber entered through a window.

PLEAS TO SANTA OF POSTOFFICE DROP THIS YEAR

Officials Credit Aid of Good Fellows.

A substantial decrease noted in the number of Santa Claus letters received at the postoffice this year is taken by postal authorities as an indication that proportionately more destitute families are being cared for by the Good Fellows and other charitable organizations.

Only 1,200 letters to Santa Claus had been received yesterday, as compared with more than 3,000 on the same date last year. John T. McGrath, assistant postmaster, who has played Santa Claus for nine years, is confined to his home this season because of a broken arm, but the children are not being neglected. Harry Reidy, Mr. McGrath's assistant, is looking after the letters, turning them over to regular patrons of the Santa Claus department, who select needy children for their Christmas gifts.

Children Ask for Food.

Few of this year's letters submit lists of toys desired, according to Mr. Reidy. The children want food and warm clothing. Many of them ask Santa not to bring too much, lest he run out of supplies before making the rounds of all the other poor families. "Father is out of work and mother is sick" is the theme of most of the letters.

A typical request, from a little girl, follows:

"Dear Santa:

"Send us a Santa Claus for Christmas so we could get something to eat. If you don't send us something we won't have nothing to eat. Mother is sick and father is out of work. She is crying all the time. I was dreaming last night that Santa came to see us. O, God, I wish it was true. My daddy is so thin from walking around looking for work."

Mother Appeals for Help.

A young mother wrote to Santa on behalf of her two sons:

"Dear Santa:

"I am writing to ask you if you will send a basket and some toys for my two little boys to make them have a happy Christmas. I am a young mother, just 21, and will be happy if you will only send some food for my boys. My husband has been out of work for eight months and will do anything."

CHRISTMAS PROVES A CROWDED SEASON TO SANTA CLAUS, IND.

Santa Claus, Ind., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The postoffice in this little hamlet of 60 persons is swamped with letters and parcels from all over the world, destined to be sent out again with the coveted "Santa Claus" postmark.

James F. Martin, who has run the postoffice in his general store for twenty-eight years, said today more than 50,000 pieces of Christmas mail had already come in, almost all for remailing.

"There's several times more mail coming in this year than ever before," Martin said. Last year my office remailed 20,000 pieces of mail.

"I guess my name ought to be Santa Claus, because I have to pay out of my own pocket for handling all this mail. I've hired six clerks to help out and I reckon it's going to cost me close to $200. But it advertises the town and besides lots of folks from all around come to my store to see us sending out the mail."

Martin explained his compensation is based on stamps cancelled through his office and the flood of outside mail did not increase his income, since it is regarded as mail diverted from other postoffices. Most of the letters are already stamped, he said, and are sent him in batches, addressed, "Postmaster, Santa Claus, Ind.," to be forwarded.

Swarms of Locusts Peril Winter Crops in Persia

TEHERAN, Persia, Dec. 22.—Swarms of locusts are threatening vast areas in the south and west of Persia, and the farmers fear winter crops will be destroyed.

LEAD PIPE FAILS ROBBER; VICTIM CAPTURES HIM

Miscalculation of the reactions of an intended victim yesterday put a novice robber in a cell in police headquarters.

Sigmund Smith, 27 years old, 1801 West Chicago avenue, a former student at the University of Illinois, is the prisoner. He was captured by Leroy Burton, 55 years old, 201 East Delaware place, an insurance broker, after a chase from an eighth floor washroom to the second floor of the Westminster building, 110 South Dearborn street.

Smith told police he had been out of a job for two years and had been supported by his wife, Jean, who conducts an employment agency at the Chicago avenue address. He said he thought that if a person were struck over the head he would give up his money. So he bought a lead pipe for 30 cents at a junk shop and whacked Burton over the head when his back was turned.

But Burton instead of yielding up his valuables turned and lunged for the robber, who fled down the stairs with his intended victim close behind. On the second floor other building tenants joined the pursuit and Smith was captured. Burton was indignant when police found difficulty in suppressing smiles as Smith told his story. The welt on his head was no laughing matter, Burton declared.

Famous Harvey Restaurant in Chicago
proves overwhelming success of Harvey's "quality-first" policy

FOR 54 years Fred Harvey's name has meant delicious food and superb coffee.

In 1876, young Fred Harvey opened a restaurant in the station of the Santa Fe Railroad at Topeka, Kansas, based on the determination that only the best was good enough for a Harvey patron no matter what the cost to Harvey.

The quality of Harvey's food became the chief subject of conversation along the Santa Fe system. Soon all the Santa Fe dining cars were operated by Harvey and one by one he took over the station restaurants.

Last year the Harvey organization served 16,000,000 people. It operates 63 hotels and station restaurants, including those in the terminals of Kansas City, St. Louis, Chicago and Cleveland.

Coffee can make or spoil a meal, so after experimenting they selected a firm that could supply them with a fine blend—always freshly roasted. For over 40 years they have served only Chase & Sanborn's Coffee.

Chase & Sanborn's delicious coffee now comes to you with a positive guarantee of freshness... every can plainly marked with an expiration date. Try Chase & Sanborn's Coffee today and see what a difference freshness makes in the flavor!

OUR NAVAL DETERIORATION.

The naval chief of operations, Admiral Pratt, has just informed congress that because of the deterioration of the fleet in recent years, due to delays in building cruisers and in replacements for ageing ships, virtually two-thirds of the fleet will have to be replaced before 1942 if we are to have a treaty navy.

The statement will not irk but rather please the highly organized opposition to adequate naval defense which is constantly exerting pressure at Washington. It ought to wake up the American public and especially those representatives of American commerce upon whose energy and success the prosperity of the American nation so vitally depends. Even the average citizen, wage worker, farmer, small merchant, professional man, has reason to know these days what grim meaning there is for him in the interruption of our foreign trade, and it is the navy which in time of stress stands guard over our commerce and if it is strong enough can defend it from interruption and paralysis.

The deterioration of the navy in recent years has been the result of the preoccupation of our government with experiments in international agreement intended to reduce or abolish the danger of war. These experiments have been at heavy cost to our national defense and to our national ability to make even our most altruistic purposes effective. Their profits, if any, are still in prospect, matters of pure speculation. That they should be carried on without a balancing regard for the present realities and for the insurance of our legitimate needs has been possible because of the want of attention from the nation in general to our vital interest in the maintenance of organized strength for the defense of our communications and trade. Because of this inattention or preoccupation with domestic and private concerns, pacifist and internationalist organizations have been able to exercise an influence upon our policy and our action out of proportion to their political strength. It is time this misrepresentation of American interest were effectually resisted. Every year makes it more difficult to recover what we have lost. Every improvident concession makes it more difficult to redress the balance against us.

Admiral Pratt asserts, with full knowledge, that we must spend more than a billion dollars to bring our navy to the level which our solemnly asserted policy is supposed to attain. The pacifist claque will make a great hubbub over this sum, though it represents a moderate expenditure for insurance of the vast interests it will protect. Congress under this pressure will compromise and postpone, and our situation will become progressively worse as this process continues.

Yet the American people do not deliberately intend to throw away their right or their ability to defend their expanding concerns and responsibilities. They are simply unawakened to actual conditions and to the drift which is carrying them away from security and self-respect. What is most needed is the awakening of business and agriculture to the vital concern of the nation in the constant maintenance of an adequate naval defense of its interests in foreign commerce. This should bring organized demand upon congress and the executive for a strong and farsighted policy, adequately and persistently sustained.

LOS ANGELES EXPLAINS.

Some weeks ago we noted that the voters of Los Angeles had refused to authorize a bond issue of $2,000,000 for the purchase of the right of way for a transmission line from Boulder dam to Los Angeles. We suggested that this refusal might well be interpreted as an index to the attitude of southern California toward the project. It seemed to indicate that the taxpayers of southern California hoped to obtain the power from Boulder dam without any preliminary cost to themselves.

We are indebted to several of the Los Angeles papers for further information. The Herald insists Los Angeles has not refused to pay the bill. "That line and all other necessary appurtenances will be provided when they are needed, and Los Angeles will pay the bill." Moreover, under the terms of the dam act there can be no further charge against the federal treasury.

We confess this is not wholly convincing. We are invited to believe that because Los Angeles has already refused to buy the right of way it will buy it later on. We are asked further to believe that the terms of the act cannot be amended. Perhaps not, but the fact remains that the federal government in the past has built numerous irrigation and power dams in the scenery belt with the understanding that the income from the sale of water and power would repay the costs of the project; the record of losses to the federal treasury is not reassuring.

The Los Angeles Times takes a somewhat different approach. "All the vote means," we are assured, "is that the voters detected an effort on the part of the politically minded Los Angeles power bureau to put something over, using the popularity of the Boulder dam project as bait." That raises the question whether the politically minded power bureau is going to get less politically minded as time goes on. If the voters have no confidence in the bureau now, will they have confidence in it in the future? In short, do the voters of Los Angeles really intend to dig into their own pockets to pay for the transmission line without which the contracts with the government for the purchase of power are worthless? If Los Angeles will not pay, is it not likely that the federal government will have to build the transmission line to recover some part of its outlay on the dam itself?

We are grateful for the assurances that all will be well, but we must be forgiven a certain hesitancy in accepting them at face value. Until Los Angeles has given somewhat more tangible evidence of its good faith, until the rift between the voters and their power bureau has been healed, congress will be well advised to delay appropriating any more money for the dam.

SENATOR NORRIS AS A REPUBLICAN.

Any astonishment that Senator Norris of Nebraska was not vividly supported by the Republican national management for reëlection would have to begin with a curious idea of Mr. Norris' Republicanism. The national management, to be sure, may be confidently expected to take a good cause and give it a bad method. It is entirely probable that Mr. Lucas, executive director of the national committee, conducted an intrigue rather than a fight against Norris. Things that could have been done without apology in the open may have been done underhand, but Norris has been anything but a Republican.

He has exercised his rights of opinion and action. He has bolted Republican national candidates. He has fought national party policies. His political behavior is all within the rights of the individual, but it does not make him a member of the Republican party. His state stands back of him and is not required to defend itself for that. Nebraska has as much right to send Norris to Washington as Ohio has to send Fess. But it does not help government by the party system to have such mislabeling of men. The party system becomes worthless if men elected as Republicans have no sympathy for or affiliation with that party. All men in a party do not see eye to eye. Many are dissatisfied with the ideas and works of others, but, nevertheless, they can make enough compromises to keep the collective organization going. The general agreement will be sufficient.

Norris does not fit in any such scheme. He is his own party, with pronounced leanings toward the Democratic party. If he takes the Republican label it is merely for certain advantages in an election which he must think are gained by his pretense of regularity. That's not an admirable independence. It is a tricky subterfuge. It invites tricky subterfuges in opposition. The chief trouble in the Nebraska situation is that Norris and his supporters are not on the square. The complaint that the Republican national management has not been on the square presumes that Mr. Norris has been, which he has not.

He evidently thinks that the party management should help him return to Washington that he may continue to be an alien in the party organization. If the management refuses to recognize him as a Republican at all its opposition would be creditable. If he read himself out of the party and stood on his own feet he would be entitled to the range of his own ideas and conduct.

TRICKERY IN THE COURTS.

In its report on bail bond evils the December grand jury notes that it has had called to its attention "several instances where bond forfeitures have been incurred and subsequently persons purporting to be the defendant and the prosecuting witness have appeared before a judge of the Municipal court, and orders have been entered setting aside the bond forfeiture and dismissing the case for want of prosecution." Later it has been discovered that the supposed defendant and prosecuting witness were impostors. The grand jury remarks that "it seems strange that the courts upon such motions have not insisted upon positive identification of the alleged defendant and prosecuting witness before disposing of such cases."

It is strange or worse than strange. Such instances are significant of slackness in the administration of the law or of the influence of corrupt politics. It is a pity they escape the publicity they deserve. They are important less because of the escape of the real defendant than as a revelation of the incompetence or lack of conscience of a judicial officer and as a revelation of conditions which breed contempt of the courts.

Another aspect of such cases is the apparent immunity from criticism or punishment of the officials at fault. Each of such cases should be thoroughly investigated and appropriate measures should be taken to fix responsibility and, if possible, penalize all who have engaged in the affair. The carelessness of the judge, if it was carelessness, should be exposed and should be made a part of his record as a public official, so that voters would know how to deal with him at the next election. Any lawyer connected with the fraud should be exposed and disbarred. The impostors and the defendant who benefited by the imposture should be found, if possible, and punished. It might in some cases be difficult to reach all the conspirators, but a strong effort should be made to do so. The mere effort to punish would assist to correct conditions by making it more hazardous to try such schemes and by apprising the public of the weak spots in the prosecuting or judicial personnel.

WHERE IMMIGRANTS STAY.

[New York Sun.]

One of the 116 tables of figures included in the annual report of the commissioner general of immigration contains a fine advertisement for the state of Vermont. During the year ended June 30, last, 446,000 aliens were admitted to the United States and 272,000 departed; aliens admitted were to aliens departed as thirteen to eight. How different in Vermont! More than 1,300 of the aliens entering intended to settle in Vermont; only ninety-two alien residents of Vermont left during the same period. The proportion is fourteen to one.

On a somewhat larger scale the same thing was true of Maine and New Hampshire. All told, these three states received only 5,300 new residents as the result of immigration, but they lost fewer than 500 of those aliens who had settled there earlier. Newcomers must find that restlessness dies out among the New England hills.

VITAMINS.

A CORRESPONDENT recently asked what a vitamin is, and whether it was detected by sight, odor, or what. I replied that there were no chemical or microscopical tests for vitamins; they cannot be detected by sight or odor; the only methods of testing them are what are known as biologic methods.

An anonymous correspondent jumped into the fray by saying that my answer was "as clear as mud to a layman" such as he was. I am sure he is right. The subject comes pretty near being as clear as mud to everybody. We needed no Einstein to make the vitamin question as clear as mud.

Nobody has every seen a vitamin, nor tasted one, nor smelled one. There are no chemical reactions for vitamins, and the microscope does not show them. If there is anything to measure or weigh nobody has ever found it. Nobody is certain whether a vitamin is a thing or a force. Until you know which it is how can you explain it without being as clear as mud? Suppose you try to explain electricity fundamentally, or some other agency which may be a force, or a principle, and nothing more.

About all we know about vitamins is that when animals are fed in a certain way, or exposed to sunlight in a certain way, something happens. We measure what happens. We measure what has been fed. From these experiences we conclude, let us say, that in some foods there are particular qualities, and that they are there in certain proportions. Finally, by observation, comparison, and reasoning, we decide that some foods have vitamins in certain proportions. Continuing the same line of observation, comparison, and reasoning we arrive at the conclusion that there are four to eight, or maybe more, according to how they are classified; that they are present in some particular foods, in certain amounts; and there are needs for them. Since lower animals are more easily controlled, and since their span of life is shorter, lower animals are used instead of man.

But, after all, we are doing more than measuring the effects of vitamins. We do not know how to start measuring vitamins themselves except through their effects. But isn't the same true of electricity?

This statement has taken fifty words for each one used in the statement complained of. I expect it is just as muddy as the first one was. Isn't the trouble with the state of the science? May vitamins share with electricity the fourth dimension, the quality of being incurably muddy? And it will so remain until we know more about the boundaries between force and matter.

MUCOUS COLITIS.

Mrs. J. E. L. writes:

1. What is mucous colitis?
2. What is nervous colon?
3. What diet must be followed in such cases?

REPLY.

1. A condition in which much mucous collects in the colon. Often it forms casts.
2. The common name is spastic colon.
3. What is known as a soft diet, one free from coarse vegetables: fruits and grains are used in spastic colon and in many cases of mucous colitis.

TREATING TRACHOMA.

W. B. writes: Would you please tell me about treatment of trachoma, a disease of the eyelids? Could an operation relieve me?

REPLY.

Trachoma is not a simple matter and should not be neglected. The disease is liable to spread to other members of your family and to those with whom you work. Never use a wash bowl or towel used by others. Go to your health department for advice as to treatment.

ENLARGED HEART.

W. A. F. writes:

1. What causes enlargement of the heart?
2. Is it curable?
3. Is it possible for water to form around the heart?

REPLY.

1. Organic heart disease, hard labor, too much athletics are among the causes.
2. Everything depends on the cause.
3. Yes. That is known as pericarditis.

TENANT TAKES FLAT "AS IS."

Chicago, Dec. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Signed a lease for an apartment for one year. This apartment has caused considerable trouble inasmuch as a short time ago the ceiling fell and marred our furniture. Now we are bothered with rats. If I move can the landlord hold me for rent until expiration of lease? Also can they garnishee my husband's pay? A. C.

In absence of an express agreement to the contrary, the law treats the tenant as taking the property "as is." If the tenant wishes to have decorating, exterminating, cleaning or repairing done, he must either so stipulate in the lease or must do it himself.

NATURALIZATION PROCEDURE.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—[Friend of the People.]—My declaration of intention expired by limitation. Will I have to take out new application (first papers)? Will I have any difficulty in getting them? Is there any charge and how long do I have to wait before applying for my final papers? C. R.

An application to file a declaration of intention may be obtained from this office. Two years after the writer shall have made a new declaration of intention and five years after his arrival in the United States, he may apply for naturalization. If he was absent from the United States more than six months the presumption arises that he has lost his residence, but such presumption may be overcome by proving to the satisfaction of the court that the alien has not changed his residence.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

CONCERNING THIS MR. NORRIS.

The G. O. P. is marching Sen. Norris 'round and 'round and 'round. The band is playing the Dead March, and over in the corner of the parade ground is a big tin can with a string to it. Oh, how dreadful. Do you suppose they are going to tie that terrible tin can to Sen. Norris' coattails? Dearie, we wouldn't be a bit surprised. The only trouble with canning Mr. Norris from the G. O. P. is that he absolutely refuses to stay canned. He leaps back to Nebraska, tin can and all, and quicker than it takes to tell it he's shaken the tin can off and is back in Washington, running around livelier than ever. Oh, Mister Norris, how can you do so? The administration does not like you, Mr. Lucas does not like you, the G. O. P. national committee simply lies down and moans whenever you come around. Don't you see, Mr. Norris, that you are not wanted? Goodness, can't you take a hint? Something should be done about this. How can we beat it into Mr. Norris' head that the G. O. P. gets a frightful pain in the instep every time Mr. Norris' name is even mentioned? The trouble seems to be that the G. O. P. in Nebraska does not seem to feel the same as the administration and the national G. O. P. Whenever they start taking Sen. Norris for a ride down in Washington up leaps Nebraska with the tears streaming down her face. "Eef you do not vant heem," sobs Nebraska, "I vant heem! Eef you do not loff heem, I loff heem! Give heem to me; he ist my che-ild!"

To shield Him where He lay,
And kindly beasts stood round about
To keep the wind away.

The little Lord of Christmas
Was fed, what time He pressed
The tender blossom of His lips
The little Lord of Christmas
Lay snug within His nest.

To hear the Christmas story
They come not as of old,
The many little children
Who used to hear it told;
The many little children
Are starving in the cold.

"God, give us merry Christmas,"
Full confident we say,
And stop our ears with laughter
And shut our eyes to pray;
And hungry children cry for food
All Christmas day.

DOROTHY KISSLING.

THEY'RE DRAFTING a bill to be made into a law by the legislature defining just who and what is a public enemy and making it so that they can be held in high bonds even if they are arraigned before somebody besides Judge Lyle. What we were going to say was that we would add to the definitions of public enemies those birds who pick a book out of your library and say, "Oh, may I read this?" walk off with the book and never return it. We hope the crime legislature goes after 'em good and strong.

ARE YOU A LITERARY LIGHT or a Literary Blight?

Know all about books, plays, and poetry so you can chat about them with the same ease with which you talk about the weather or your bootlegger. Test yourself by answering these simple questions in literature. They may be asked you at the very next dinner you go to either by your hostess or the one sitting next to you. How many of these questions can you answer?

[1] Discuss plot and tell who committed the murder in these three best sellers: (a) Elsie Dinsmore at Camp; (b) The Chicago Telephone Directory; (c) Rise of the Dutch Republic.

[2] If Kipling had been born of German parentage in Greece, brought up in a Russian village, and gone to college in Spain, what would have been the title of his poem, "Fuzzy Wuzzy"?

[3] Discuss the sex motif which caused the following books to be banned from the Boston Public Library: (a) Little Rollo and His Papa; (b) How to Know the Wild Flowers; (c) Frank on the Lower Mississippi.

[4] How many times does Shakespeare turn over in his grave when the statement is published that Cal Coolidge gets two dollars a word for his column?

[5] Rewrite the last verse of Thanatopsis as it would have been if written (a) by George Bernard Shaw, (b) Goethe, (c) the Four Marx Brothers, (d) Senator William E. Borah, (e) Lydia Pinkham.

Your ability in answering these questions shows where you get off at in literature. Do not consult the encyclopedia, but answer them without aid of any kind. Then buy the Line-book of 1930—ten cents if you go after it yourself, 12 cents if you get it by mail.

LAGNIAPPE.

WE'RE GOING to get our license plates on Dec. 26; Hon. William J. Stratton, secretary of state of this great commonwealth, sayeth so. Anyhow, the first shipment comes out of Springfield on that day. But there's so many automobiles in Illinois, and more being bought all the time, that it will take days and days and days to get 'em all out. Gosh, we hope we got our application in early enough to get a low number. But with so many cars we very much fear that we will have to hang a number on the family bus that may read something like this:

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 23, 1914.

WASHINGTON.—The Hobson resolution proposing a constitutional amendment prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquor in the United States was rejected by the house of representatives by a vote of 197 to 189. The measure received a majority of the votes cast, but not the two-thirds necessary for congressional approval of a constitutional amendment. Illinois' two representatives at large, Williams and Stringer, voted wet, as did the Republican congressmen, Mann, Madden, and Britten, and the Democratic congressmen, McDermott, Sabath, McAndrews, Buchanan, Gallagher, Stone, Fitz Henry, Graham, and Hill. The three progressive congressmen, Thomson, Copley, and Hinebaugh, voted dry.

ROME.—The forts on the Dardanelles have been subjected to a severe bombardment which started yesterday for the purpose of covering a submarine attack on the ships in the straits. It is rumored here that the straits have been forced.

PETROGRAD. — Fierce fighting along the whole battle line from the Vistula river to the Carpathians in Galicia is in progress. The German and Austrian forces made desperate assaults on the Russian fortified lines along the front protecting Warsaw. At several points the Austro-German forces succeeded in pushing across the river barriers only to be hurled back by the Russians.

DECEMBER 23, 1900.

PEKING.—The joint note to the Chinese government setting out the demands of the powers arising from the Boxer troubles was signed by envoys of all the powers and will be delivered to Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang at once. The demands are heavy and include safeguards for all time. The dowager empress must make the fullest reparation for the events of the last year. Missions, headed by imperial princes, must go to Berlin and Tokio bearing messages of apology for the murder of the German minister and the Japanese chancellor.

ALBANY, N. Y.—Gov. Roosevelt removed District Attorney Asa Bird Gardiner of New York from office and announced the appointment of Eugene A. Philbin, Gold Democrat, to fill the vacancy. Gardiner was accused of showing too much sympathy with the acts of Richard Croker of Tammany Hall and Chief of Police Devery in encouraging election riots.

CHICAGO.—The Illinois legislature which convenes in January will be asked to make kidnaping for ransom punishable by death. Stirred by the Edward Cudahy case in Omaha, some legislators are determined to amend the Illinois laws so as to make death on the gallows the penalty for similar crimes in this state.

DECEMBER 23, 1880.

CHICAGO.—On the advice of Dr. Oscar C. De Wolf, health commissioner, Superintendent of Schools Howland has issued a circular to the principals of the schools directing them to see that "every child who has not been successfully vaccinated within a period of seven years shall be vaccinated before returning to school in January." Four new cases of smallpox were reported.

CAPE TOWN.—News from Bloemfontein states that the Boers attacked Potchefstroom on Dec. 15 and the colonial military camp on the next day. Details of the fighting are lacking. The Boers have thrown off the yoke which Theophilus Shepstone put upon them and have made one more effort to recover the independence which Andries Pretorius came over the Drakenburg mountains to seek, and which he won at the sword's point.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—An interview with Gen. Sherman in which he claims that the President cannot retire him and opposes making ex-President Grant captain general of the army, has excited lively comment among army officers. It is believed by many that his insinuation against the President is likely to get him into trouble, as a violation of the eleventh article of war. They believe he can be proceeded against for conduct unbecoming an officer. The interview reveals that the friendship that formerly existed between him and Grant has cooled into mutual dislike.

SCHOOL CHARITIES.

Chicago, Dec. 15.—I was very much interested in a letter in which timid "Taxpayer" displayed his courage by rushing into print with a charge against principals and teachers in the public schools, rather than make the complaint, giving the names of the offenders and his own, to the superintendent of schools or the president of the board of education.

His characterization of school people as "high salaried parasites" and the resulting inference that all school people are such is unwarranted and untrue. The last school I have visited, the Clay at 13231 Burley avenue, showed evidence of a great amount of teacher activity and a liberality toward the children of the unemployed. The principal's office, the bathroom attendant's quarters, and the penny lunchroom were headquarters for relief. The principal informed me that, at the expense of the principal and teachers, 125 children were being fed daily, some of whom receive two meals a day. While I have been dictating this letter two school principals have called me for advice relative to relief which is being financed by teachers. The principal of the Sullivan school at 83d and Coles avenue informs me that 150 children are being supplied with milk and some with complete lunches by the principal and teachers. The principal of the Horace Mann school at 81st and Chappel avenue is asking advice as to the expenditure of $124 raised last week by her and her teachers for the relief of poor families in the community. These are only three instances fresh in my memory. Others, many in much larger figures, could be given in all parts of the city to prove that our principals and teachers are wholehearted generous men and women and not parasites. ARTHUR G. DEAVER,
District Superintendent, District 14.

AN ACCIDENT.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—We received a check for $100 today on my son's TRIBUNE accident policy, for which we thank you. My boy was hit by an automobile on Oct. 28. There was no red tape and the service by your company was most courteous. One hundred dollars for one dollar and twenty-five cents! It hardly seems true. Everybody should have a policy and I am telling all my friends about it. MABEL R. BREITENBACH.

FOR SZYMCZAK.

Chicago, Dec. 16.—The task of choosing a candidate of the Democratic party as the organization choice for mayor appears to have been settled, when one considers that Prof. M. S. Szymczak is being advocated for the position. A better, more capable, honest, and efficient man could not be selected. His election would mean a reformation for Chicago. MILLARD W. TITUS.

LADY LUCK DROPS IN.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—Can you tie this one? Last Sunday in a five handed poker game on the first deal with cards mixed and cut there were five pat full houses dealt, and there was nothing wild. IRWIN MARX.

THE ARISTOCRACY.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 12.—Upon reading the history of the Chicago and Alton railroad we can only conclude that the racketeers of the prohibition era were mere pikers as compared to the gang that pilfered the assets of the railroads back in the good old days. The joke of the whole thing is that the families of the robber bund that stole the Alton blind now make the society column, Blue Book, Who's Who, and the Social Register. Who can tell twenty years from now how our illustrious friend Al Capone will be listed as he makes his pile sufficiently large to be considered a financier? G. M. [illegible]

SAUSAGE CASINGS.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—We wish to take exception to your editorial of Dec. [illegible] as to Russian trade restrictions. Evidently you are grossly misinformed as to the conditions in the casing business, as you mention in this editorial that casing dealers have complained that Russians have dumped sausage casings under the market.

In the first place, sheep casings are not produced in America, because we kill in this country only lambs and no full grown sheep. There is no demand for lamb casings. Sheep casings used in this country are imported from foreign countries to the extent of 99 per cent of the consumption in this country, and the Russian casing is considered one of the best casings produced in the world, and those dealers who have imported Russian sheep casings have had to pay a premium for this kind of a casing. We dealers who handle Russian sheep casings also get a premium from the sausage manufacturers for Russian sheep casings.

Restrictions on Russian sheep casings such as our government has now made, will only bring upon the American people an additional cost of sausage. Another fact that the public is not aware of is that sheep casings imported from Russia must necessarily be reworked so that they are in a marketable condition, and this means employing American labor, whereas sheep casings coming from other sheep producing countries, such as Australia, South America and New Zealand, arrive in this country in a finished marketable condition.

If our government for political reasons wishes to put an embargo on all Russian merchandise, well and good, we abide by our government; but why discriminate against Russian sheep casings? HENRY BOSEN.

AN $8,000 AUTOMOBILE.

Chicago, Dec. 17.—Permit me as a taxpayer to protest the spending of the taxpayers' money for an $8,000 automobile for Mr. Bowler, president of the sanitary board, plus $2,400 a year more for a chauffeur, when people have not enough money to pay their taxes. JOHN J. WILLIAMS.

SOME PREFER TO SLEEP.

Chicago, Dec. 15.—Why not install bells or chimes in the many towers we have in Chicago and have it known as the city of chimes? MILDRED APPEL.

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The holiday season was ushered into this city today with as fine a crop of assorted murders, stickups, burglaries and minor racketeering as the oldest inhabitant can recall. The week-end was the worst in the history of the city, with six gang shootings in the last thirty-six hours and a rising tide of crimes of violence that continued unabated tonight.

With shootings and robberies being reported in various sections of the city, adding to a list of those wounded over the week-end, the police and courts were busy trying to catch up with gangland's Christmas activities. Process servers were scattering subpoenas to every corner of the five boroughs to summons the financial records of 160 persons—policemen, lawyers, politicians, racketeers—in an effort to explain evidences of sudden wealth.

"Chile" Continues Charges.

"Chile" Acuna, the vice vulture, was shouting his accusations against gold digging cops at the departmental trial. Tills were being robbed and men shot down by thugs who do their racketeering with a gun.

Gangland's own ranks suffered the following casualties:

An unidentified man wounded three times in back by gangsters in a sedan who opened fire as they rode down a crowded Manhattan street.

Mrs. Eugenia Esposito, mother of two children, shot down by three men in an automobile as she was leaving her home. Her condition is critical.

And That's Not All.

Outside activities included:

The murder of Abraham Arrandt, milk company collector, in Brooklyn when he resisted stickup men to save a few hundred dollars. He was shot in the chest and neck. The robbers fled.

The shooting of Benjamin Zelvin, jeweler, in the arm when he refused to open his safe. The robbers fled without loot.

The holdup of Lindy's new restaurant on Broadway by a lone thug, who escaped with $800, remarking "this will make a swell Christmas present."

A raid on the study of a Baptist minister, the Rev. Russell Morse Brougher of Brooklyn, in search of a Christmas collection. The collection already had been banked.

Late returns from outlying districts told of the robbery of Donald Von Masciteo while riding with two girl friends in Brooklyn. Donald had only $1.50 in his pocket so the stickup men took his clothes—all of them. Donald found a newspaper in the gutter and wrapped himself in it, and called at the nearest police stataion.

WOMAN DIES OF HEART ATTACK.

Mrs. Kirstine Lind, 67 years old, 8033 South Morgan street, died last night of a heart attack while asleep at her home. She was the wife of Paul U. Lind, dealer in coal and ice at 828 West 65th street.

NATIONAL AIR RACES GOING TO CLEVELAND FOR NEXT FIVE YEARS

Cleveland, O., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Conductors of the national air races announced today the annual event will be held in Cleveland for the next five years, and possibly five years additional. In the past, the races have been held in various parts of the country, a different city every year.

Profits were realized on the races when held in Cleveland, Chicago and Spokane, but not in seven other cities where they were held.

Senator Hiram Bingham, president of the National Aeronautic association, said the central location of Cleveland in an area of large population with demonstrated civic interest and capacity to handle the races successfully, made it the choice.

The agreement to hold the races here for five years includes an option for extension to 10 years.

L. W. Greve, president of National Air Races, Inc., which conducted the 1929 races here with $100,000 profit, said the races will be held the week or 10 days ending with Labor day because weather conditions then are generally the most favorable.

Plans to establish a permanent air race organization, grand standards, and other facilities here, will be considered at once, Mr. Greve said.

Claims Mother Told Him to Slay Parent.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 22.—A sordid family drama involving cupidity, alcoholism and hatred, shocked blasé Paris today with the arrest of a 13 year old boy and his mother for the attempted murder of the father. Investigation reveals that the child was hopelessly drunk when he attacked his father with a sword cane after being fed fiery red Algerian wine by his mother.

The family, composed of Alix Brisard, aged 49, a factory foreman, his wife, Yvonne, an inveterate drinker, and three children, Alix, 18; Yves, 13, and Marie Therese, 4, lives in a hamlet just outside of St. Germain.

A Holiday Drinking Party.

The parents quarreled nightly, the husband complaining of his wife's drunkenness—and his wife accusing him of being stingy. The eldest son took his father's part while the mother taught the younger son and daughter to drink liquor, at the same time instilling them with hatred against their father.

Last night neighbors invited the Brisard family over for a pre-holiday drinking party, but the father and elder son declined. The mother, accepted the invitation and took the other two children along.

Mme. Brisard remained until nearly 2 a. m., giving her 4 year old daughter copious drinks and urging her 13 year old son to drain his big tumbler of "vin rouge" bottoms up.

Slashes Sleeping Father.

Arriving home, the drink crazed lad seized a sword cane hanging on the wall, crept to his father's bedroom and dealt the sleeping man three slashes across the face and head.

"Mamma told me to kill him!" the lad whimpered as he was locked up.

The father will recover.

POLICE BULLETS FOIL CALIFORNIA EXTORTION PLOT

2 Los Angeles Gamblers Intended Victims.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—A gunman extortion scheme, which involved the successive kidnaping of two "big shot" Los Angeles gamblers, the first to write $50,000 ransom checks and the second to cash them, miscarried in a hail of bullets this morning when Long Beach policemen, halted the gunmen's car on suspicion.

As a result, Policeman W. H. Waggoner of Long Beach is near death, a bullet against his spine, with the word of surgeons that he will be crippled for life if he lives. But E. L. (Zeke) Caress, Los Angeles' biggest gambling operator, with headquarters in a converted downtown South Spring street saloon, formerly run by Jim Jeffries, has $50,000 in checks back.

Forced to Sign Checks.

Caress was held up outside the garage of his Hollywood place early yesterday. His captors took him blindfolded to the village of Arcadia, thirty miles east of Los Angeles, where they held a gun at Zeke's head and compelled him to sign checks aggregating $50,000. They then compelled Caress to telephone his friend, Pat Bruneman, and tell Bruneman to cash the four checks for the men who would call for the money.

Caress' captors then liberated him, still blindfolded, on the street, while they picked up Bruneman. They drove the latter to Long Beach where they were going to take a motorboat out to one of the gambling schooners plying four or five miles at sea and cash the $50,000 checks. This would have prevented any pursuit or information by Bruneman, as the gambling boats are not equipped with radio.

Policeman Shot Down.

Waggoner and two other policemen, C. A. Jenks and John Slaughter, noticed something suspicious about the gunmen's car as it neared the Long Beach sea front, and Waggoner halted it, searching the front seat. He had just pulled out a revolver when a double salvo from the two gangsters in the rear seat cut him down. Jenks dropped to the ground, escaping the shots directed at him, and emptied his revolver. Bruneman and the other front seat occupant dashed out and fled. The two back seat gangsters also fled on foot. Bruneman and a man who gave his name as James J. Sherman were captured.

Bruneman was unable to convince the police of his innocent rôle in the case for several hours. In the meantime, Caress and his wife, after vouching for Bruneman's story, disappeared in fear of their lives, and the police are hunting for one or more wounded men as the other two bandits.

Writer of Love Notes to N. U. Co-ed Is Hunted

Police of Evanston yesterday started search for a man who has been writing anonymous love letters to Miss Anne V. Larson, Northwestern university senior, and daughter of Martin Larson, 6442 Magnolia avenue, construction superintendent. Some of the letters have been mailed, others dropped in the box at the sorority house where Miss Larson lives. She told the police she believed the same man had twice accosted her on the campus.

BANDITS HOLD UP 2 MORE INDIANA BANKS FOR $7,500

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 22.—Although five bandits were killed and five others were captured in six bank holdups and two attempted bank holdups which agitated Indiana last week, two more banks were invaded by desperadoes in the state today.

As the Crawford County State bank at English opened for business today three bandits walked in, herded employés into a rear room, and escaped with $2,500.

At noon two young bandits garnered $5,000 by holding up the Farmers and Merchants Savings bank at Highland, near Gary. They locked seven persons in the vault.

At English the cashier, L. A. Gegmbrecht, whom the robbers forced to open a safe, Irvin A. Fahr, assistant, and a patron, Joel McHael, farmer, Fargo, who entered while the holdup was in progress were locked in the vault. It is believed a fourth man was in an auto that waited around the corner from the bank. The bank, closed for over two weeks, reopened two weeks ago. The loss is covered by insurance.

Bank Robbers Sentenced.

Warsaw, Ind., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Sentences ranging from 10 to 20 years were impressed to Kosciusko circuit this afternoon by Judge L. W. Royse, on John Pfeiffer, 37, of Chicago, Garland Ives, 26, of Mishawaka, and Russell Ives, 28, of South Bend when they pleaded guilty to charges of bank robbery.

They were captured Saturday afternoon at Etna Green, by vigilantes after a gun battle in which Jacob Jacobson, one of their party, was fatally wounded.

Pfeiffer was sentenced to serve 20 years in state prison at Michigan City. He was considered the gang leader. Garland Ives was sentenced to serve 15 years and Russell Ives was sentenced to 10 years at the reformatory. Russell Ives drew a lighter sentence because it is believed he joined the bandit gang reluctantly.

Lone Robber Raids Village.

Mishawaka, Ind., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Edward O'Brien, 24, who gave his address as 6342 South Aberdeen street, Chicago, was captured 15 minutes after Osceola, a village of five hundred inhabitants, six miles east, had experienced the greatest robbery in its history. O'Brien, who confessed to the robberies, entered nine stores including the postoffice. He was captured by three Mishawaka patrolmen as he was escaping in a new sedan, taken from the O. K. garage. O'Brien entered the Curtis and Proudfit general store, James Mason general store, Osceola Lumber company, John Inger filling station, Gaill oil station, Zelotus Barnart drug store, Osceola furniture store, the O. K. garage, and New York Central station.

O'Brien had been working all night and was arrested at four o'clock this morning. The loot, nearly all merchandise, the value of which will not exceed a few hundred dollars, was found in the back of the car with firearms. The combinations of safes had been broken off without results.

Frisco Theater Robbed.

San Francisco, Dec. 22.—(AP)—A young man robbed the safe of the Warfield theater of $6,000 and escaped here today. Emerson Jackson, treasurer, and several employés were compelled to lie on the floor while the robber forced another employé to open the safe.

HOLD UP BUTCHER SHOP.

Three bandits yesterday held up Sigmund Kominsky in his butcher shop at 3147 South Morgan street and robbed him of $172 after locking him in the icebox.

DIRECTORS CLOSE BANK, BRANCHES IN PHILADELPHIA

Institution Is Solvent, President Says.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Directors of the Bankers Trust company of Philadelphia after an all night conference, voluntarily turned over the bank's affairs to the state department of banks; and neither the main office nor any of the nineteen branches of the institution opened for business today.

With depositors numbering 135,000 and total resources of $55,491,501.39 as of Sept. 24, the trust company, according to Samuel H. Barker, the president, is solvent, and the closing was "to conserve assets for the protection of depositors and stockholders."

Withdrawals Heavy.

Increasingly heavy withdrawals led to the decision to close the doors. The bank reported as of Sept. 24 deposits of $42,538,988.72.

The closing of the Bankers Trust company does not affect any other financial institution in Philadelphia, according to Peer G. Cameron, secretary of the state department of banking. Similar assurance was given during the afternoon by the clearing house committee of the Philadelphia Clearing House association.

The city of Philadelphia deposited $260,543.36 with the Bankers' Trust company, Saturday, but City Treasurer George E. Kemp said he was hopeful the state banking department would return the money, since it was intended to be a deposit as of today.

Depositors Reassured.

After a conference of banking leaders late in the day in the offices of Drexel and company, the Morgan banking house in this city, Horatio Gates Lloyd, a Drexel partner, announced that those in attendance had arranged credit to take care of the banking situation in Philadelphia.

"In their opinion and mine," he said, "the anxiety on the part of depositors is unwarranted."

Indiana Bank Closed.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The First Bank and Trust company at Attica closed voluntarily today. Luther Symons, state bank commissioner, said the depositors would be paid in full. The bank was capitalized at $50,000 with resources of $129,883.40 and a surplus of $12,500.

Two Close in Mississippi.

Jackson, Miss., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The state banking department today announced the closing of the Citizens Bank and Trust company at Yazoo City, and the Bolivar County bank at Rose Dale.

Atlanta Bank Closed.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 22.—(AP)—A. B Mobley, state superintendent of banks, announced today his department had taken over the affairs of the City Bank and Trust company, one of the smaller financial institutions of Atlanta. At the last call on Sept. 24 the bank reported resources of $284,593, capital of $167,000, and deposits of $76,852.

Miami Bank Closed.

Miami, Fla., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The City National bank of Miami did not open today and the controller of the currency is to be asked to take charge. Officers of three subsidiaries of the City National bank said they would not be affected by the closing. They are the City National bank of Miami Beach, the City Trust company, and the Guardian Trust company.

Runs occurred today at three other banks, but officers said they had plenty of cash on hand or on the way here to take care of all depositors.

J. C. Penny, chairman of the City National bank's board, in a statement issued in New York said his holdings consist of 244 shares, and that the Penney-Gwinn corporation of Florida held 7,668 shares and had about $750,000 on deposit in the bank. Neither he nor the corporation, he said, had any loans with the bank.

Legge Defends Farm Board Wheat Policy; Raps Critics

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Chairman Alexander Legge of the federal farm board figuratively donned his fighting togs today, stepped into the ring and unleashed a few healthy wallops at the Republican insurgents and Democrats who attacked the board's wheat operations on the senate floor Saturday night.

At his semi-weekly press conference one of the first questions asked Mr. Legge was what he thought of the charge made by Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Ida.], that the board, in buying wheat, is merely postponing "the day of reckoning" that will come when it sells.

"Please don't ask me to discuss cyclones," replied the chairman. "You know the definition of a cyclone—something made of hot air which runs amuck and usually is destructive."

With that as a prelude, Mr. Legge proceeded to answer in detail the most important criticisms made by Borah and Senators Smith W. Brookhart [Rep., Ia.], and Millard E. Tydings [Dem., Md.], although he did not name them. In particular, he defended the board against the charge that the 120 million bushels of wheat it holds is a factor in depressing rather than holding up prices.

Bill Signed by President.

The senate attack of Saturday was over the bill appropriating another 150 million dollars to the board, out of the 500 million dollar revolving fund, which passed over the heads of its opponents. The bill was signed today by President Hoover. It makes available to the board a total of 400 million dollars.

Replying to the Borah and Tydings argument, that the wheat purchased by the farm board stands as a threat to prices, Mr. Legge declared that it makes no difference whether the board or somebody holds the grain, so long as it exists.

"The farm board hasn't raised any wheat," he asserted. "We're not creating the surplus. And wherever this wheat is, somebody owns it. We say it had better be in the hands of a strongly financed agency than in the hands of weaker interests which might force liquidation at any time."

As a consequence of the farm board's buying, the differential in the Chicago and Liverpool prices of wheat is so wide that there is some danger of wheat actually being imported into this country, Mr. Legge continued. The farmers, he contended, are benefiting from this differential.

So far as concerns the story told by Senator Borah about farmers in Idaho burning their wheat, Mr. Legge said, there is "nothing to it."

Senator Brookhart made the statement that the board had refused to sell any of its cotton to soviet Russia. Mr. Legge admitted that there had been "a feeler" from Russia on cotton buying, but said it was wanted on credit and had never reached the stage of negotiations.

Testy in One Denial.

Mr. Legge also paid his respects to John Simpson of Oklahoma City, new president of the Farmers' union, who was quoted as asserting the board is "deliberately" holding down wheat and cotton prices, and citing a senator as authority.

"You can say to Mr. Simpson that any man making that statement, whether in public office or not, is an unmitigated liar, and say it with my compliments," the chairman said.

"Such a statement has never been made by any member of the board or any one else in authority. The absurdity of it is proved by the fact that wheat still is sinking in the world market. Today Chicago wheat is some 16 cents above the Liverpool close, and, adding a similar amount for transportation, our wheat is 30 to 32 cents above the world parity."

U. S. TRUE BILL VOTED AGAINST TWO POLICEMEN

A hearing on charges of conspiracy to violate the federal narcotic law against Policemen James Howland, colored, and Wellington Britton was continued by United States Commissioner Walker yesterday when it was disclosed that a true bill has been voted against them.

Assistant United States Attorney Mary D. Bailey moved for the continuance on the ground that two of her witnesses were absent. She announced, however, that a true bill had been voted by the grand jury and that the indictment would be returned today. Defense attorneys agreed to waive examination tomorrow if the indictment is returned, for the purpose of a commissioner's hearing is only to hold defendants to the grand jury or discharge them.

The policemen are charged with accepting $500 and 18 ounces of morphine, valued at $5,000, for permitting two Negro narcotic peddlers from Texas to escape arrest. The policemen are free on bail of $5,000 each.

U.S. RED TAPE CUT TO RUSH ILLINOIS WATERWAY WORK

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley today directed the corps of engineers to disregard official red tape and proceed at once to the awarding of contracts for construction of the Illinois waterway between Joliet and Utica.

According to department officials, specifications for work on the Dresden island lock and dam, one of the five major structures involved in the building of the waterway, will lie in the hands of contractors within the next week. Thirty days will be allowed before the contract is awarded.

Will Not Hold Up Work.

The department's decision not to hold up federal construction work until the state of Illinois begins work on the bridges over the waterway or gives satisfactory assurances it will complete these structures by the time federal operations are completed were communicated today to Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.].

According to Senator Glenn, Secretary Hurley said the government will go ahead on the assumption that the state will carry out its obligations under the rivers and harbors act which authorized the government to take over the waterway and complete it. The act provides $7,500,000 for federal work. The state was to build bridges.

Inquiry at the war department disclosed the government will take the waterway over, but will take care not to assume responsibility for any obligations incurred by the state in its development work.

Rushed Back to Chicago.

Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, has been conferring with Illinois state officials since last July. A few days ago he recommended that the war department go ahead and finish the waterway without waiting for the state to begin the bridges. The specifications for the various construction units were prepared at Chicago and forwarded to Maj. Gen. Brown last week. With a few minor changes they were approved and forwarded back to Chicago.

The government expects to expend $1,200,000 on the waterway before July 1 and complete it in less than three years. At least 300 men will be employed on the Dresden project, it was said.

BORAH URGES HOOVER TO CALL EXTRA SESSION

Wants Export Debenture to Aid Farmer.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Senator William E. Borah, [Rep., Idaho], who induced President Hoover to convene congress in special session immediately after his inauguration in the spring of 1929, today asserted the President should call an extra session next spring.

Although insisting that he does not wish to be regarded as threatening a filibuster or as having any intention of trying otherwise to force a special session, Senator Borah said he believed that much important legislation which can not be disposed of in the regular session, which ends on March 4, should be taken up at the earliest possible date.

Bills to Aid Unemployed.

Legislation which Senator Borah regards as of pressing importance includes the export debenture farm relief scheme, power and railroad legislation, the anti-injunction bill, the motor bus bill and further measures for the relief of unemployment.

Senator Borah is one of the group opposing the world court, which does not desire a special session of the senate alone. The opponents of the court are pressing President Hoover to announce that he will not call a special session of the senate to take up the world court. While an unofficial announcement to this effect emanated from the White House, on Saturday, this does not satisfy the opponents of the world court.

President Stands Firm.

President Hoover is standing firm against a special session of both houses. He has discussed with senators the possibility of the adoption of a continuing resolution to keep this year's appropriations in effect in case there is a filibuster against the annual supply bills.

Speaker Longworth today reiterated his opposition to a special session, and said there would be none unless forced by a few "senate troublemakers."

Woman to Serve Term for Unkindness to Wards

Accused of unkind treatment of children entrusted to her care, Mrs. Doris Manning, 23 years old, who operates a boarding school for minors at 6601 Cottage Grove avenue, was fined $100 yesterday by Municipal Judge William E. Helander. Unable to pay the fine she was taken to the house of correction. Mrs. Mattie Hoff of the state department of public welfare testified that Mrs. Manning had as many as 15 or 20 children in her three room flat and sometimes left them alone for hours.

DAMEN AVENUE GROUP DOUBTS CITY'S COST PLAN

A number of property owners who appeared at the city hall yesterday to listen to a proposal of Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, to reduce their assessments for the widening and paving of Damen avenue between Harrison street and Roosevelt road, expressed skepticism of the intentions of Faherty and the city administration. Some of the property owners had obtained a reduction in court and Faherty proposed to do the same for those who hadn't gone to court.

"Why this generosity on the part of the city at this time?" asked one property owner. "It has never been done before, and if there is to be a reduction in our assessments why did the city wait until now instead of talking about it during the court sessions?"

"Throw the whole improvement out," shouted a number of property owners, who displayed hostility toward Faherty and expressed suspicions concerning his plan. Faherty finally adjourned the meeting after explaining that the city probably will pay 30 per cent of the estimated $1,000,000 cost of the improvement.

BULLETS FAIL TO HALT ROBBERS. Half a dozen pistol bullets failed to halt two fleeing robbers yesterday after they had robbed Nick Gracsas of $49 in his fruit store at 13303 Brandon avenue. As they drove away a flivver squad from the East Side station started pursuit and fired, but was outdistanced.

By Royal Command

BY DORNFORD YATES

SYNOPSIS.

Richard Chandos and his wife, Leonie, former grand duchess of Reichtenburg, are visited at their estate near Littai, in Austria, by George Hanbury, companion of Chandos in many adventures. Marya Salm, countess of Dresden, an expected guest, wires that she cannot come.

Prince Paul, ruler of Reichtenburg, had hoped to marry Leonie and was incensed at her marriage to Chandos. Fearing for Marya's safety, because of her friendship for Leonie, Chandos and Hanbury, with their servants, Bell and Rowley, depart for Vigil, capital city of Reichtenburg, where Marya resides. Because of the enmity of the prince they must enter the country in stealth. A peasant named Ramon whom they befriend leads them over the border by a secret path.

They reach the home of Marya unseen and learn from her that she sent no message. Realizing the telegram was a ruse to lure them to Vigil, they are preparing to flee with Marya, when the prince appears. The men hold the prince and his servants at point of gun and escape in the royal car. The border is so closely guarded that crossing is impossible.

Their friend Ramon agrees to hide Marya and Carol, her trusted servant, in his house. Chandos and Hanbury join a traveling circus. Marya sends them a message saying she is waiting for them in Bariche, across the border, where Carol is to take them in a car he has waiting. They recognize the car as Grieg's, the chief of police. Arrived at the inn in Bariche they receive another message from Marya, stating that she is to be pardoned but she must remain in Reichtenburg and not communicate with them.

Knowing that Marya, endeavoring to save them, has made some impossible arrangement with Grieg, they return to the border. Hanbury and Rowley pass, but Chandos is captured. He proves to the inspector that Grieg has betrayed his trust. Grieg, who has learned of the arrest, arrives. He orders two detectives from Vigil back to prepare a cell for Chandos and takes his prisoner alone in his car. Hanbury and Rowley, knowing their friend's plight, post themselves along the road and hold up and capture the chief's car. They drive to the estate of Baron Sabre, where they find Marya. Grieg they left tied to a post along the roadside.

Marya tells them that she cannot leave with them as she was married that morning to Grieg—her price for their freedom. Hanbury, who is in love with Marya, is stunned at this news. Chandos sets out to find Grieg and kill him to free Marya. Grieg has been freed from his bonds, and while Chandos is searching for him he lays Rowley out and drives off to Baron Sabre's. Chandos and Rowley return to the Sabre estate, and while hiding in the grounds they see a car drive up and three policeman alight. Shortly after Prince Paul arrives. He has Grieg arrested and brought out to his car. Chandos, hiding near by, hears their conversation.

INSTALLMENT XXVI.

BLUFFING ROYALTY.

I saw the prince glance at the others and his hand go up to his mouth. Then he took out his case and lighted a cigaret.

"I'll see you," he blurted, suddenly. "Explain your conduct—if you can. I'll hear what you've got to say."

Grieg eyed the youth with a supreme contempt.

"You asked for the three," said Grieg. "You gave me a free hand, and you asked for the three. If you had cared to trust me, you would have had them tonight."

"Yes, that's easy," sneered the prince. "If you think——"

"I don't," said Grieg. "I know you. When I took the job on, I knew it would end like this. But against these men I had a personal grudge. If I had gone 'round searching farms and visiting frontier-posts, I shouldn't be handcuffed now; but because I play the scum at their devil's own game I am a suspect—presumed 'a filthy traitor,' and that out of Chandos' mouth. He tells you I sent him to Bariche. Does he say whom he met at Bariche? Or what he arranged with them? Does he say that he and his fellows were back here by ten o'clock—according to plan, my plan? That again I gave them my car, to try and find the countess and take her away? Does he tell you the path that they're going to take tonight? The secret smugglers' path which nobody knows? Does he say who's going to be there . . . waiting by the side of the water . . . with only one servant with her . . . and the night too dark to distinguish any man's face?"

"My God," cried the prince, hoarsely. "How do you know?"

"It's very simple," said Grieg. "Every one here has been looking from Vigil to the border and back, till they've got St. Vitus' dance. I've been watching Littai."

As a man in a dream I kissed her.

He stopped there, as though to regard the sensation his words had caused. This was manifest. His audience did not seem to be breathing.

"What happens at Littai tells me what's happening here. The grand duchess moved to Bariche three days ago. That meant they were going to communicate. Very well. Their only way of getting a message to Bariche was to go to Bariche themselves. And as I wanted to know what that message was going to be, I took the trouble to send them to Bariche myself. They were bound to come back to get the countess. . . . of course, the police at Sallust meant well, but they very nearly ruined——"

"But not quite," cried the prince, excitedly. "Not quite. Where's the path you speak of? I'll send——"

"That, sir," said Grieg, "is my secret. Had I not been arrested I should have been there tonight—to gather the fruit. But I have already declined to teach any man alive to win my game."

There was an electric silence.

Then the prince's forgotten cigaret burned its way to his fingers and he flung it down with an oath.

"It's all damned fine," he said, fiercely. "You say 'put me back, and I'll deliver the goods,' but——"

"Pardon me, sir," said Grieg. "I have said nothing of the kind. I'm through with this job of work. If you went down on your knees, I wouldn't touch it again. I've told you as much as I have to show you what you've missed. And now I'm sick of talking. Where do I go?"

This master stroke of bluff had its reward.

Before two minutes were gone, Grieg was free of his handcuffs and had somewhat stiffly accepted one of his royal highness' cigarets.

To round the picture, I heard him arrange with the prince for three closed cars to be waiting from nine o'clock on, to bring in the prisoners which he was certain to take.

I could not help wondering how long the cars would wait and whether Grieg would be at Salzburg before his royal victim discovered that he had been bluffed. What was so strange was the closeness with which his fiction approached the truth. He had plainly been taught the by-pass the smugglers used when taking the bridle path, and had guessed or learned that we had come by that way. And on that he had built his story—his fairy tale. He could not possibly know that we were in fact proposing that night to do as he said. The thing was absurd. I did not know it myself. As for his mention of Leonie. . . .

Had Grieg some information which gave him just cause to think that that very night we should take the bridle path? And that Leonie would be waiting on the farther side of the fall?

After a little while I dismissed this fantastic notion and turned my attention again to the matter in hand. Fearing that any moment Grieg would return to the house, I determined to try to enter before he came out of the wood. I, therefore, whispered to Rowley to stay where he was and crawled as fast as I could the way we had come.

As I gathered myself together to sprint across the girdle of turf, I heard the police car move forward. . . .

An instant later I was standing upon the flagstones straining my ears.

The car, which had been moving, had come to rest, but its engine was too silent and its stammer was all I could hear. I therefore made bold to look around the edge of the house, to see Grieg speaking to the detectives some forty or fifty yards off.

Now, since the front door of the mansion was full in their view, my chance of using that entrance was plainly dead, but as I went by I had seen a door in the cloister and, hoping that this might be open, I hastened back.

The door was open and led me into a passage which served three doors. Leaning against the wall between two of the doors was a peasant girl—at least, so her habit declared her, but her face was fine and gentle and her figure was slight, and both of them argued some sire that had never set hand to a plough. Her brown legs and feet were bare, and her dress was of fair, white linen such as they wear in those parts.

Finger to lip, she regarded me.

Something touched my knee, and I looked down to see the wolfhound that had been the prince's dog.

As I gave him my hand to lick—

"You must be Chandos," said the girl, with a pleasant smile.

"Yes," said I. "That's my name."

"Ah," says she. "I was to tell you that those you seek have gone on. Tonight they will take the road that is under water. They trust you will join them there."

"Where are they?" I said at length.

The girl shook her lovely head.

"I do not know. I met them down in the greenwood a mile away. I was bringing a telegram."

"Do they have many telegrams here?"

"Two a day lately," she said.

I took out a fifty crown note.

"There is your tip—for your pretty face," said I, and opened the door. "I'll tell Maj. Grieg I paid you. And please tell no one of having seen me or my friends."

She shot me a curious look.

"Is that why you gave me the money?"

"No," said I. "I told you I gave you that for your pretty face. Did the telegram come from Littai?"

"Yes," said the girl, lightly. "They all come from there." With a foot on the threshold she paused. "Will it please you to kiss me?" she said.

As a man in a dream, I kissed her, and watched her move like a deer across the sward.

Good Morning!

Again the movie industry tries its hand at satire, and, in "See America Thirst," kids the bootlegging enterprises, the men and women connected with them, and previous photoplays concerning them. The result is only a mediocre movie, despite the presence in the cast of such box office values as Harry Langdon, Bessie Love, and Slim Summerville.

Regarding the story as kindly as possible doesn't make it other than two reel stuff that's been stretched to feature length. And with fondest regards to Mr. Langdon, the talkies are no good for this wistful pantomimist whose audience pull lay in his inarticulate helplessness against fate and the futile gestures of hands usually mostly concealed by the ragged sleeves of a coat that was too big for him. Though still retaining somewhat of his appeal, speech has robbed it of its savor.

The supporting cast, headed by the two clever and well liked folks mentioned before, does all that can be done with the labored tale of a pair of tramps who suddenly find themselves mistaken for a pair of noted gunmen, slated to put a rival racketeer on the spot.

Much of the action takes place in and about a pent house on top of a New York skyscraper, where Messrs. Langdon and Summerville do the sort of thing featured in the Harold Lloyd palm-perspirers. If you care to watch the antics of gentlemen perilously poised on nothing in particular, far removed from terra firma—here's another chance to take a look.

" . . . It is therefore ordered by this court and the authority thereof that whosoever shall be found observing any such day as Christmas or the like, either by forebearing labor, feasting, or any other way, upon such account as aforesaid, every such person so offending shall pay for every such offense five shillings as a fine to the county."

That was the way the Puritans in New England back in 1659 felt about Christmas. As a result New Englanders while celebrating Christmas on Thursday may look back on a history which forbade celebrating "such festivals as were superstitiously kept in other communities, to the great dishonor of God and offense of others."

The law was passed by the general court here in Boston on May 11, 1659.

Their Descendants Talk.

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Those Puritan fathers who colonized New England were given a meed of praise for their tolerance and vision tonight at the one hundred and twenty-fifth annual dinner of their descendants, the New England society.

They were not the illiterate, intolerant bigots who, history says, had as their chief aim the elimination of pleasure from the world, several speakers averred. Among the speakers were the Rev. Paul Dwight Moody, president of Middlebury college, and William R. Pattangall, chief justice of the Maine Supreme court.

"Our forefathers," Dr. Moody said, "broke from their past with a violence which the world never had seen before their time. They beheaded their king and forged their way across the Atlantic in a cockleshell and set up a kingdom on the inhospitable shores of New England."

"Is it not strange, and indeed, a shameful thing," asked Dr. Moody, "that these men about whom the great and predominant characteristic was that they were not afraid of that which was new or untried or adventurous, should be looked upon as reactionary?"

George Russell, Irish essayist and philosopher, known to the world of letters by his pen name, "AE," was guest of honor yesterday at a luncheon given by the National Broadcasting company in their new studios in the Merchandise Mart to a group of educators, writers and celebrities. Mr. Russell spoke of the depressing effect of censorship on Irish letters and of the agrarian problem in Ireland. He characterized the American farm as being more industrialized than the Irish farm.

While Many Others Act in Similar Role.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Christmas parties were many and varied yesterday, but all were actuated by one desire.

More than 3,000 children of former service men were entertained last night at the 132d Infantry armory, 2653 West Madison street, by the American Legion. Santa Claus appeared, clowns performed and ten acts of vaudeville were given. Each child went away with a Christmas package.

Twenty small children, sons and daughters of ex-service men who are unemployed, were entertained at a Christmas party at the Hotel Sherman at noon by the Advertising Men's post. A Santa Claus distributed toys, candy and fruit from a Christmas tree.

Plans are being made by two west side American Legion posts, the Patrick W. O'Connell, No. 675, and the Paul Revere, No. 623, to distribute 400 Christmas baskets.

Santa Claus Will Fly.

Santa Claus will abandon his reindeer sleigh for an airplane, the Salvation Army announced from its Christmas cheer headquarters in the Steuben building. Commissioner W. A. McIntyre of the Salvation Army, who has been visiting the good St. Nicholas, will arrive with him in a plane lent by the National Air Transport company at 2 o'clock this afternoon near the air mail postoffice, 59th street and Cicero avenue.

The plane will be packed with toys and groceries, ready for the Christmas baskets which will be given to thousands of needy families tomorrow at the Coliseum. Families who will receive them have been registered by the social service exchange, investigated, and found worthy. A family party will be given by the Salvation Army Saturday night in No. 1 Citadel, 1512 West Madison street.

More than 500 needy children were guests last night at Christmas parties given in five locations over the city by the Church Club of Chicago. A turkey dinner, presents distributed by Santa Claus, Christmas trees and the singing of carols were features of the parties. They were given at the Church of the Atonement, Kenmore and Ardmore avenues; Chase house, 211 South Ashland boulevard; House of Happiness, 3052 Gratten avenue; Trinity church, 26th street and Michigan avenue; and the Sarah Hacket Stevenson Memorial home, 2412 Prairie avenue.

Bishop George Craig Stewart visited the various parties and greeted the children. Members of the club acted as hosts and hostesses. Of the $4,000 fund raised by the club, the larger part of it was spent in aiding the families of the children who were guests.

Greeks to Bear Gifts.

Clothing and food will be given to 500 destitute families by the United Greek Charities, organized by 50 Greek societies.

More than 250 needy children will be guests of the North Shore church at a turkey dinner Christmas afternoon. Magicians, jugglers, and trained animals will help Santa Claus provide merriment for 250 unfortunate children Christmas night at St. Luke's parish house in Evanston. The Men's club of the church will provide gifts and candy.

Provisions for a merry Christmas for the county wards in various institutions were being made yesterday by President Anton J. Cermak of the county board. Children in the Juvenile Detention home will hang up their stockings Christmas eve and find them filled the next morning. The children will sing carols. A turkey dinner will be served.

A chorus of 50 nurses in the county hospital will awaken the patients Christmas morning with carols. The Knights of Columbus will provide a show for the patients, and a Santa Claus will deliver presents.

Party for Jail Inmates.

Warden Moneypenny announced the inmates of the county jail will have "as good a Christmas as anyone," with carols sung by church organizations, a special dinner and entertainment.

At the Children's hospital, Dr. Samuel Hoffman is preparing for as gay a Christmas as possible. Nurses will arrange stockings for the children, and toys will be given all of them.

Turkey and goose will figure on the Christmas menu at the Oak Forest institutions. Seven thousand packages await delivery to inmates on Christmas morning. The Glee club of the Federated churches will sing. Students in the Englewood High school will provide presents for the boys of Borderline hospital.

In the main banking room of the Central Trust company of Illinois a male chorus will sing Christmas carols from 1:40 to 2 o'clock today and tomorrow. The Business Secretaries Forum held an annual Christmas party for members and friends in the Hotel Sherman yesterday.

Business girls of the loop Y. W. C. A., at 59 East Monroe street, held a Christmas dinner last night. A group of these girls sing Christmas carols from 5:30 to 6:45 o'clock nightly in the lobby of the Y. W. C. A.

A Christmas party was held by the Off-the-Street club last night for the boys and girls who are members, and their parents and friends at the club's headquarters at 1534 West Van Buren street. Another Christmas party for the junior group of members will be held at 3 o'clock today.

JOB FOR CHRISTMAS THAT'S REAL PRESENT FOR MANY IN 1931

Here is a story told by Sally Joy Brown of The Tribune concerning a young woman who has a job for Christmas day.

A Chicago housewife called Sally Joy Brown, who aids the unemployed by turning over all jobs offered through her to the Illinois Free Employment service, 116 North Dearborn street. The housewife had a little Christmas gift to offer: $5 and a hearty Christmas dinner, in exchange for help with the dinner, the washing of dishes, following the dinner, and so on.

Employment agency officials called Miss Brown to tell her how delighted the young woman was who obtained that particular job.

She had registered as a cashier, which she had been when last employed. Both she and her husband were out of jobs. When months went by and they could not pay the rent they moved in with her husband's mother. At present, the young woman said, nine brothers and sisters, some of them with their husbands and wives, some too young for marriage, live with her mother-in-law in unbearably crowded quarters. Of the lot, only one is working—a young girl who makes $14 a week.

"I'm an awfully good cook, really I am," she pleaded, and got the job.

Gift of Young France Recalls Hoover's War Work

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Guy De Longebialle today presented to President Hoover a vase bought with contributions from the young people of France. It was to recall Mr. Hoover's services to that country during the war. The French ambassador accompanied M. Longebialle to the White House.

THE STAGE

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

HERE is Fred Stone again, after two years of absence, and here is his dancing daughter Dorothy and his promising debutante Paula; and therefore the Illinois theater is ready to meet holiday play-goers with a bright and shining face. It is my idea that "Ripples," which had a happy premiere last night, is the best Christmas show in town.

This is an entertainment characteristic of Mr. Stone's twenty-seven years or more of rich and buoyant clowning. It is gay and clean, innocent and charming; it runs along eagerly and gracefully through an opulent program of song, dance, and fantasy; it is merrily mimed and richly staged. The trade-mark of Charles Dillingham, who treats the lyric stage as an impresario who loves and respects it, is clearly in evidence in every detail of this admirable production; and the wholesome, honest humor of Mr. Stone is its keynote.

"Ripples" is better than Mr. Stone's preceding vehicle, which was "Stepping Stones." Its tone, in general, represents the great days of musical shows ten and fifteen years ago—greater, anyhow, than the contemporary era—when producers and comedians and librettists knew how to evoke high, luxurious amusement without breaking the bounds of good taste. "Ripples," in short, is a smart, expert, up-to-date affair that reveals the touch of the old masters of the game.

Time and the airplane accident of recent memory may have slowed up the stage's most athletic clown; but Mr. Stone still is lively and capable of knockabout tricks. He makes his entrance into "Ripples" in a violent manner; he is kicked through a barn door by a property man's horse and lands in a costly tulip bed to the detriment of horticulture and the benefit of the plot, which threatens to put him into jail for malicious mischief until the last act finale.

Mr. Stone dances with temperance and caution now, but he has reared two daughters to substitute for him; and they step about with brilliance enough to fill his paternal heart with pride and joy. Dorothy we know already, from "Stepping Stones"; and she has improved since then. She's the heroine and co-star—a neat little comedienne, a winsome singer capable of planting a hit tune in the memory, and a darling dancer. Paula, the new daughter, promises to become the big girl of the family; she plays a secondary rôle prettily and also dances accordingly to the Stone tradition. When you see them together you will observe that Paula resembles her father, and that Dorothy, though definitely a Stone, is in the pattern of her mother, Aleen Crater.

"Ripples" deals with a modern Rip Van Winkle, a shiftless descendant of the legendary character who is a happy loafer among the Catskills. When well primed from a demijohn of moonshine he is capable of seeing little Dutch dwarfs and bowling strikes down thunderstorm alley. This, of course, is Mr. Stone. The rest of the show is concerned with his daughter and the rich young man who wooes her and the state trooper who loves her humorously but in vain. As the fables of extravaganza go it's a good story, containing diverting situations and opportunities for pictorial display.

The company, aside from the Stones, is excellent. Billy Taylor as the baby faced trooper gives Charles Butterworth of the recent "Sweet Adeline" some keen competition. Andrew Tombes and Hilda Spong represent the veteran contingent, and a little girl named Cynthia Foley is a neat incidental feature of the landscape.

Which brings this report down to the juvenile, whose name is Charles Collins. Welcome, namesake! I know not from what branch of the clan you come, but you dance as if you were a cousin. Charles is a new boy in major musical comedy, but he is going to get along.

Holiday Rush Felt at Stores, Public Buying

Weather Acts as Spur, Merchant Says.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

State street was a bedlam yesterday. That thin trickle of early Christmas shoppers that had gathered volume slowly as the calendar marked the ebbing of the days before the great feast, became a roaring river, then a rushing torrent that engulfed loop thoroughfares, swept into and out of stores, careened into itself and backed away with a grin and an apology.

Loop merchants listened to the sweetest of Christmas chimes—the perpetual ding dong of the bells on their cash registers, as the biggest day of the holiday season drew to a close.

Never before in the history of their establishment, said an executive of one of the largest stores, had it been necessary to press the freight elevators into srvice to help handle the crowds. People were, as he gleefully admitted, "buying their heads off," and the facilities of most of the stores, especially in various departments, were swamped.

Set Unusual Pace.

It is unusual for the shopping throngs to continue buying at such a rate during the last few days before Christmas. Experience of the business men has been that a noticeable slack occurs following the Sunday nearest to the big day, especially if there are two or three shopping days still available. Their explanation is that usually by that time, most people have completed their purchases and are simply awaiting the day itself.

Weather conditions have contributed to the rush of late buying this year, it was explained. The unusually inclement weather was not conducive to remainders of the holiday season and the necessity of preparing for it, so that people put off until tomorrow what might have been done today.

By and large, however, the major reason was the public psychology, which argued that a business depression was afoot and resulted in an earlier feeling of contraction of Christmas purchasing. Recent omens of an approaching return to more prosperous conditions, coupled with a snowfall that directed thoughts to the imminent celebration, apparently was the inspiration for the unprecedented rush of buying.

Old Custom Is Strong.

Still another reason was advanced by a merchant of many years' experience. Many families that had determined not to do any exchanging of gifts weakened at the last moment, he asserted, and descended upon the stores to buy more generously, almost, than in previous years, having found the idea of a cheerless Christmas more than their morale could stand. Which will make it a merry holiday for many more than the ones upon whom their gifts are conferred.

Men's stores especially felt the brunt of the charging hordes at their counters yesterday. A survey of several establishments led to the conclusion that everybody's presents had been bought that needed time and consideration to select, but that the articles traditionally sacred to a man's Christmas, including ties, scarfs, handkerchiefs, sox, pajamas, lounging robes, and sweaters, could be picked from a profusion with a minimum of effort.

"Have you got the Russian pajamas?" queried one agitated shopper yesterday at a counter where she had struggled into the front line by dint of football tactics.

"Just one style left, madam," regretfully advised the clerk, who was doing his best to wait on half a dozen at once. The agitated lady inspected the garment and purchased it with a sigh of relief, and gave place at the counter to be succeeded in turn by two more of the same, each of whom inquired, "Have you any Russian pajamas here?"

Mother's "Own Dear Boy" Is Out of Style

BY DORIS BLAKE.

I don't suppose a fortnight passes without this department receiving, in complaint form, another piece of evidence of what a trial a "mother's darling" is as a husband. Generally, the complaint comes in the form of abuse toward mothers-in-law in general, and toward one in particular. It is presented so, I believe, by the injured party because she is fully aware that sympathy is more likely to be on her side than on that of the older woman.

The fact that the younger woman used poor judgment in the choice of a husband is never presented. That she was not discerning enough to realize that a boy who has been tied to his mother's apron strings all his life is bound to be weakened by the strain of the strings, is never taken into account.

The mother-in-law fracas is so often presented with the boy in the case figuring as a football for two strong minded women to kick from goal to goal that you are bound to determine it is the weak boy who is to blame. In other words, it is the mother of the son before she ever became a mother-in-law who is primarily at fault. Not, certainly, in all mother-in-law disturbances, understand—but in an inordinate number of them.

The fact was brought out by Dr. Miriam Van Waters at the recent Washington conference on child health and protection that one of the ways to be a bad parent is to be one of those mothers with the habit of making all decisions and keeping a child utterly dependent. A distinguished British psychologist discloses that it is the "mother's darling" who grows up to be the hen pecked husband. It is a case of the husband transferring his dependence from his mother to his wife. He further states that "most hen pecked husbands are hen pecked because they prefer it."

Clearly, the boy whose initiative, decisions and independence have been thwarted from youth would, by the natural laws of attraction, look for a girl upon whom he could lean, a strong minded female character. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that mother-in-law fracases ensue when two women with the desire to dominate are thrown together under one roof with one of the weak type of males.

Children Respond to Christmas Time According to Age

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

A Christmas toy and plaything list will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

After you've taken your children through many Christmas days, the perspective you get makes you realize how differently the holiday figures in the lives of children, depending on their ages. If you've not had the experience of Christmas when the baby was a few months old, then a year, then 2, then 4, then 12, perhaps a few hints will help you to "swing" Christmas successfully.

Generally speaking, the newer Christmas is to children, the more exciting it is. But don't feel terribly let down when you hold your quite new baby up to his little shining lighted tree—and find that he doesn't do much about it. His eyes may grow bigger and perhaps his hands reach out—but that will probably be all. Christmas mostly swirls about the young baby. He is in it—but not of it.

Soon, though, will come the age when Christmas means a great deal. There is all that goes before it—fascinating store windows, visits to toy departments, mysterious packages, thrilling anticipations fostered by talk of Christmas secrets, stores of Santa Claus, letters to Santa containing wishes expressed that may be magically gratified. And then, after all this, gradually working up in the atmosphere, comes the day itself.

Christmas is a high peak of excitement and wonder to the young children. They thrill to it. Every part of it they respond to with body and soul. Their senses respond to the light and color and sound of Christmas—their emotions to the joy and gayety and excitement and gratification of wishes—of receiving and of giving, too.

I have seen sensitive children tremble with the tension of it all. Often this excitement takes its toll of them. How to prevent this will be suggested tomorrow.

This Sound Medical Advice Will Serve Beauty a Good Turn

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Talking about the diet you are on is not quite as smart conversation as it was a while back. You may object, proposing that it never was smart conversation. But, at that, I think it did more good than harm. It set a lot of women to looking into food facts who might not have done so were they not given a chance to talk about it later.

Now, if women are on diets and many of them still are with the waistline placed where some kind of diet has to be observed, they speak of their performance in a more casual way. Not as before, when the assembled audience was expected to cheer for the heroism involved. It's just as much expected of a lady that she diet as that she brush her teeth and without much talk about it.

Apropos of dieting themes, there comes a thesis from a physician who after observing that nearly every one is on a diet for something or other, proposes four common eating faults that might be investigated and perhaps the reason for the diet might thus be eliminated. Eating too much is fault number one; eating in a hurry, fault number two; talking business at the table, fault number three, and lastly, eating when tired.

"Until the importance of these factors is realized, no amount of dieting," the physician states, "will eliminate the digestive disturbances that they cause."

Now, where we women can horn in on the medical advice and turn it to beauty use is in faults number one, two and four. Some women talk business while they eat, but the great majority are more inclined to talk clothes and beaus and things dearer to their hearts than business.

Eating in a hurry is perhaps the worst of our crimes. And right here is where a woman is in danger of putting on more weight than she realizes. You eat more when you eat in a hurry. You want more. The food is washed down quickly and it is neither so filling nor so satisfying as when chewed slowly.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

K. P.: IF MILK DOES NOT agree with you, add some acid to it. Orange juice is best. Lemon juice, the juice of berries, grapefruit, or cider may be used. Eat plenty of green vegetables and bran bread.

G. C.: EARACHE MAY BE RElieved by the external application of heat. Use a hot water bag, or douche the ear with warm water.

BETROTHAL ANNOUNCED

[Underwood & Underwood Photo.]

The engagement of Miss Jane Pearce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pearce, to Stuart Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius B. Sherman of Winnetka, was announced yesterday.

Jane Pearce, Stuart Sherman Are Engaged

BY THALIA

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES SUMNER PEARCE of 209 Lake Shore drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jane Pearce, to Stuart Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius B. Sherman of 575 Sheridan road, Winnetka. Miss Pearce attended the University School for Girls here and Miss Bennett's school at Millbrook, N. Y. Last year she spent traveling and studying in Europe. Mr. Sherman is a graduate of Williams college, class of 1927. He is a member of Alpha Delta Phi. No date is announced for their wedding.

The engagement announcement was made yesterday at a luncheon Mrs. Pearce gave for her daughter and a group of the latter's friends.

Christmas wouldn't be Christmas for the Herbert F. Perkinses if they didn't have all their family with them in their Banks street residence. Since more than 30 years ago, when they moved into the house, formerly owned by Mrs. Perkins' father, the late Franklin Head, they've been together for Christmas day.

The Earle F. Blisses [Margaret Perkins] and their little girl, Barbara, who will see her first Christmas tree this year, have come on from West Newton, Mass., and the Francis Knights [Helen Perkins] come down from Highland Park with their four youngsters for the holiday. Elizabeth Perkins is here, too, from Smith college.

Armour-Kirk Dance Held as if in San Moritz Street.

The Blackstone ballroom, traditional scene of so many debut balls, probably never has been so thoroughly disguised as it was last night for the A. Watson Armours' and Walter R. Kirks' ball for their daughters, Miss Ela Armour and Miss Beatrice Kirk. The setting was a street in San Moritz, and so complete was the metamorphosis executed by Walter Frazier that not a trace of the old familiar ballroom was in sight.

The five or six hundred guests danced in a street bordered on two sides by colorful Swiss shop fronts and rows of quaint lamp-posts, and in the background, high up against the ballroom wall, loomed the omnipresent Alps and pine trees of Switzerland. Soft lights played on a blue, star dotted sky overhead.

Back Stage Debate at Children's Chauve Souris.

Prop Manager—Well, I don't care, a monkey is alive and it isn't a prop and I can't take care of it!

Costume Mistress—You don't think it's a costume, do you?

Two Players—Well, we were an hour late because we called for it, for the dress rehearsal, and had to wait while they caught it.

Stagehand—My little boy had a monkey and it died, so I'll take it home between performances for six weeks.

This sounded like a neat solution to the awful problem that boarding the monkey presented. Everybody sighed with relief. The second Saturday, however, the stagehand said he wouldn't take it home any more, and so the monkey went back to the university laboratory and will have to be transported to and from each week. Tryouts for "Pinocchio," the third children's play this year, began yesterday morning.

I hear . . . that Betty Poor's engagement ring is lovely—it has three pear shaped diamonds set so that they make an inverted heart . . . that the Michigan avenue 10 cent store is a most fashionable place to shop for Christmas decorations and whatnot—you can almost always run into somebody you know there . . . that Mrs. James Clow has been at the Passavant hospital . . . that Anna Catherine Hurd is having lots of parties given for her before her wedding, among them Katrina Mauff's kitchen shower last week, Meredith Hanley's glove shower next Monday, Mrs. Bill Westlake's handkerchief shower today, Frances Bosworth's luncheon at the Woman's Athletic club yesterday . . . that the board of directors of Vassar house is giving a tea this afternoon at 4 for Madge Kennedy of "Michael and Mary," with Mrs. Percival Hart in charge, assisted by Mrs. Charles Fabens Kelley, Mrs. Arthur D. Welton, and other Chicago Vassarians . . . that Edith Cummings has come on from Middleburg, Va., for Christmas with her family, and will return in about a week or ten days.

About Visitors, and Trips to Caribbean Islands.

Also . . . that Mrs. George Thornton of Philadelphia is here for the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Boynton of Highland Park . . . that the honeymooning Dave Quinns have departed, after a fortnight stay at the Sevilla-Biltmore, for Santiago de Cuba, and will then go to Jamaica, Trinidad, and for "a leisurely trip through the dreamy islands of the Caribbean" . . . that the Ralph Ishams of "Pompeian Court," Santa Barbara, were at the Drake last week . . . that with certain fashionable women the practice of standing on the head after dinner had been revived [it's supposed to give you quite an extraordinary sensation]. . . that Gene Macdonald's Christmas cards are a dark blue Pierre Nuyttens etching of the yacht Mizpah, with a tropical moon and palms.

If Chicago wants to find out if it likes tea dancing as well as New York does [it's quite the thing there, and at Pierre's, you have to phone on Wednesday for a reservation for the following Saturday afternoon] it can on the next half dozen Saturday afternoons, at the Lake Shore Drive hotel. Emerson House association is to receive a share of the proceeds, and so the board members will all go and see to it that their friends do too. The Dansant, a ballroom tango that is quite the rage in New York, will be done this Saturday afternoon by some of Ned Wayburn's pupils, and the following weeks Mrs. Marjorie Letts is going to have some of her things modeled during the tea hour.

The large holiday party events on today's program [try to keep track of them] are . . . the Yale Glee club's annual concert at Orchestra hall tonight, for which a large representation of Yale alumni will turn out [the club arrives this morning and will attend the fathers' and sons' luncheon at the Hotel La Salle—dinner parties before the concert include Mrs. Henry Gardner's for Catherine Carton at the Blackstone and Mrs. Robert Hixon's for Peggy Hixon] . . . the party Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer are to give at their apartment for Princess Elizabeth Cantacuzene [Prince and Princess Michel Cantacuzene are to be hosts at a dinner at the Casino for Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Smith [Princess Bertha Cantacuzene] from which the guests will all go on to the Palmers] . . . the débuts ball at the Blackstone for Miss Fayette Smith, daughter of the Alexander Smiths, and Miss Marguerite Watson, daughter of Hathaway Watson and Mrs. Walter B. Wolf . . . and the annual Chi Psi ball at the balloon room of the Congress.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Invitations have been issued for a dance in the White House Dec. 30 for Allan Hoover, younger son of the President, who is here for the holidays, and his sixteen year old cousin, Miss Janet Large, niece of Mrs. Hoover, who also is here for vacation.

Secretary Mellon had as week-end guests his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David E. K. Bruce of Long Island; his nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock of New York, and his son, Paul Mellon, who arrived several days ago from Oxford.

The governor of the Canal Zone and Mrs. Harry Burgess, who are spending a vacation here, were entertained at luncheon today by the Cuban ambassador and Señora De Ferrara.

Mrs. Eleanor Patterson gave a dinner tonight, and a much larger one for dancing, in honor of Miss Sarah Brisbane, daughter of Arthur Brisbane at eleven o'clock in the Patterson home on Du Pont circle.

Col. and Mrs. Edward Clifford, formerly of Chicago, have with them for the holidays their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lambert Clifford, and their infant daughter of Cambridge, Mass. Mr. Clifford is taking a course in the school of business administration at Harvard.

Russian Refugee Girl Wins Master's Degree at U. of C.

Miss Yelina Pavlinova, 22 years old, a Russian girl whose parents fled with her to escape soviet persecution, was awarded a master of science degree at the University of Chicago. She is regarded as a student of unusual ability in bacteriology. Entering the university in September of 1928, she received the Logan Research Fellowship the same year. Last spring she was elected a member of the Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific society. The Pavlinovas left Russia in 1920. Her stepfather was an officer in the Baltic fleet under the czar.

Galsworthy in U. S.; He Hopes to Start New Fiction Family

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—John Galsworthy, with the figment of a new fiction family in his brain, is going to Arizona.

If he ventures to Hollywood it will be to guard some brain child of his aginst talking picture directors.

The British author said he did not intend that a play of novel of his should be done into talkies excepting under two stipulations—that there be no alteration of structure or spirit and no dialogue added without his permission.

"I find it difficult to adopt myself to the mechanical quality of the spoken parts on the screen," he said. "Perhaps that accounts for my distaste for the sound films."

Mr. Galsworthy isn't going to satirize Americans.

"I'll leave that to American authors," he said. "I have been charged with some satire, but we generally reserve that privilege for our own people."

In a chat aboard the Leviathan, which brought him to town today, he said he was delighted to see Sinclair Lewis get the Nobel literature prize.

Woolworth Heiress Makes Debut While 1,000 Guests Attend

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Barbara Hutton, granddaughter of the late Frank W. Woolworth and heiress to one-third of his fortune, formally was introduced to society at a supper dance tonight. A thousand guests attended and two hundred were invited to a dinner which preceded the dance.

The Woolworth heiress and Doris Duke, daughter of the late James B. Duke, are the two richest debutantes of the year.

Rudy Valee played for Barbara Hutton's guests in the oval ballroom of the Ritz-Carlton. La Argentina danced several times and two big dance orchestras were engaged to keep the music going until 4 o'clock in the morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Price Chambers of 1616 Cornelia avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Pauline, to Benjamin Hume of Atlanta, Ga., on Sunday at the church of St. Thomas the Apostle. The bride is a Kappa Kappa Gamma from Illinois Wesleyan university. Mr. Hume is a graduate of Georgia Tech and a member of Theta Chi fraternity. They will motor through the south on their wedding trip.

Red, White and Blue Club Gives Party to Poor Children

Christmas is to be a three day affair to the poor families living in the neighborhood of the community center at 1338 Wade street, sponsored by the Red, White and Blue club, an organization of society women.

It began yesterday with a Christmas party for 400 children of the neighborhood's poorest families. There will be a similar party this afternoon for another group, and another tomorrow afternoon. Fifteen hundred children in all will be given clothing, candy, toys and fruit.

Society at the Opera

A BRIGHT holiday mood pervaded the audience at "Otello" last night at the Civic Opera house. The presence of several travelers who returned home for Christmas within the last few days was the cause of much animated visiting between the acts; in fact, a number of the box guests forgot all about Desdemona's fate during the third scene and remained in the foyer to greet the homecomers.

Mrs. William J. Calhoun, who arrived last week from Peiping, China, after an absence of four years, was with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Monroe. Also in the party were Miss Martha Fitts and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Fetcher.

Miss Edith Cummings, who came from Virginia to spend Christmas with her family, and her mother, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, had a party, including Mrs. Phelps Hoyt, Miss Harriet McLaughlin, and Miss Eleanor Holden.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Haines, here for their annual holiday visit, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Orr were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr. Mrs. Haines wore a dark blue chiffon gown, Mrs. Orr flowered metal cloth.

Mrs. William Hereford of Paris, Mrs. James C. Ames, Miss Helen Kendall, and Arthur Wheeler were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell. Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Ryerson's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Compton, Miss Naomi Donnelley, and John W. Hutchinson. The John F. Jelke box was occupied by a group of young people, Miss Grace and Miss Dorothy Dewes, Miss Virginia Frazier, Francis Lackner, Brayton Slade, and John Weil.

Mrs. Joseph B. Long was hostess in her box to Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin, Mrs. Henry Reuss, Ove Vett, Frank McNair, and Robert Johnstone Mooney. In the Edwin W. Simms box Miss Priscilla Sims and Edwin W. Sims Jr. were hosts to Miss Elizabeth Kellogg, Miss Marion Wright, Miss Helen Howell, George F. Getz Jr., James R. Getz, and Jens Schacht.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Johnny Weissmuller, who broke any number of records while swimming for the Illinois Athletic club, is in town on canvas, in paint, at the Knoedler gallery. A stunning portrait of him by J. W. Wickwire of New York hangs on the gallery walls. It ought, of course, to be hanging in the Illinois Athletic club, but probably the club has not heard about it yet. The artist has painted Weissmuller full length, in his swimming costume, out of doors, with a warm touch of green in the trees and grass. Besides commemorating one of the best athletes Chicago has ever had, the portrait is a masterly piece of painting. It is a remarkably decorative canvas and that is undoubtedly due to Johnny's wholesome personality which fairly radiates from his browned face and muscular body.

A different type of portrait seen at Knoedler's, though no less effective, is the charming portrait of Mrs. Robert Mandel by Louis Betts. Also one finds there some extremely fine work by the early English portrait painters, Romney, Reynolds, and Hoppner. A beautiful painting of shepe by Rosa Bonheur fascinates one on one wall and on another is the extraordinarily brilliant landscape with cows by Troyon. A group of English hunting and coaching paintings bring vivid color into play. A few contemporary moderns, Raoul Dufy for one, add a playful and amusing touch which balances the more solid virtues of the older men.

Caroline M. McIlvaine is showing at the Bryden galleries, 318 South Michigan avenue, a collection of rare old colored views of a Chicago almost unknown to the present generation. These are enlargements of actual stereoscopic photographs, and as such possess a documentary value, for they show exactly what the early city was like. The earliest views were made in 1856, when photography was in its infancy in Chicago; the latest are dated 1890. Aside from the historical interest of the prints, they are charming bits of color.

Food Talk.

I questioned this statement which I recently read—"The gayety of Christmas is reflected in the food we serve." My belief is that food has a greater influence on our gayety than gayety has on our food. It was roast goose that made the little Cratchits shriek with joy, and a turkey, goose or chicken plump with its own flesh and stuffing helps us, big or little, to work up an enthusiastic holiday spirit. Vegetables, too, play their happy part with their array of color, texture and form to make us glad. And there are none better to choose from than potatoes, squash, brussels sprouts or the substitutes for them.

Cranberry jelly, a salad and dessert have and will continue for generations to round out a brilliant Christmas meal.

Individuality in a meal that is made up of time honored foods then must lie in the unusual preparation of these old foods, or in the addition of some new and distinctive tidbits. What place is there greater play for an ingenious mind than in the preparation of an appetizer? One may choose from an almost infinite variety of foods which may be put together in a number of combinations remarkable for their flavor and attractiveness. Plain fruit cocktail or ordinary shrimp cocktail is delicious, but neither is new. Caviar canapes, horns of plenty, envelope canapes and crab meat bouchees are just as delicious and are so different.

Caviar canapes are made by cutting bread ¼ inch thick in diamond shaped pieces and then toasting on one side. Dip the edges in melted butter, then in finely chopped parsley. Divide the top into four sections. Put caviar on opposite sections and finely chopped hard cooked egg yolk and egg white on the others. Pipe creamy mayonnaise around the edge of the bread and between the sections. Garnish with a stuffed onion. Horns of plenty are simply smoked salmon cut in thin slices and shaped in the form of horns. Caviar seasoned with lemon juice is used to almost fill the horns.

To make envelope canapes, cut thin slices of bread three inches long and two inches wide. Sauté in olive oil and spread with a savory butter made by creaming ordinary butter with a little grated horseradish, curry powder or anchovy paste. With a pastry bag, pipe tomato jelly diagonally from corner to corner, making four spaces. Then place in these spaces successively chopped egg white, chopped olives, sifted egg yolk and chopped green pepper which has been slightly parboiled with a pinch of soda in the water.

If you care to, you can select what you wish in the line of anchovies, bacon, caviar, capers, celery, cheese, chicken, clams, crab meat, eggs, pate de foie gras, horseradish, lemon, liver, lobster, olives, oysters, peppers, tomatoes, sardines, shrimps, smoked salmon, tuna fish, etc., to make your own individual personal appetizers.

BOSTON BROWN BREAD.

1 cup corn meal.
1 cup coarse entire wheat flour.
1 teaspoon salt.
2 cups sour milk.

Mix and sift dry ingredients, add molasses and milk, stir until well mixed and fill well greased mold not more than 2-3 full. Cover closely and place mold on trivet in kettle containing boiling water, allowing water to come halfway up around mold. Cover closely and steam 3½ hours, keeping water at boiling point. Add more boiling water as needed. In baking powder boxes, steam 1½ to 2 hours.

Yield: Eight servings.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

TERHUNE DEFENDS TREES.

On an estate maintained by Albert Payson Terhune, writer and dog fancier, between 70 and 80 trees lie in the path of a proposed highway relocation in the east. Mr. Terhune objects because many of these trees are oaks over 200 years old.

This problem is more than one of local interest, says Dr. E. Porter Felt, editor of the Journal of Economic Entomology. He says that it is probable that in Mr. Terhune's case an adjustment may be made and the trees and the bit of landscape that they represent may be saved. The editor does not question the need for facilities for constantly increasing traffic but adds that it should be remembered that trees and beauty spots are decided assets to the community, the state and nation.

"It is wise to recognize the fact that the population of a given area is determined to a considerable extent by the character of the surroundings," says Dr. Felt. "Those in a position to choose their place of residence for the most part avoid crowded, ugly surroundings. These people are in general decided assets to any section of the country.

"Along our principal motor highways the finer dwellings are being sold by those most particular as to their natural surroundings. Quiet, seclusion and an opportunity to enjoy nature in all her loveliness can be obtained only with great difficulty along these roads."

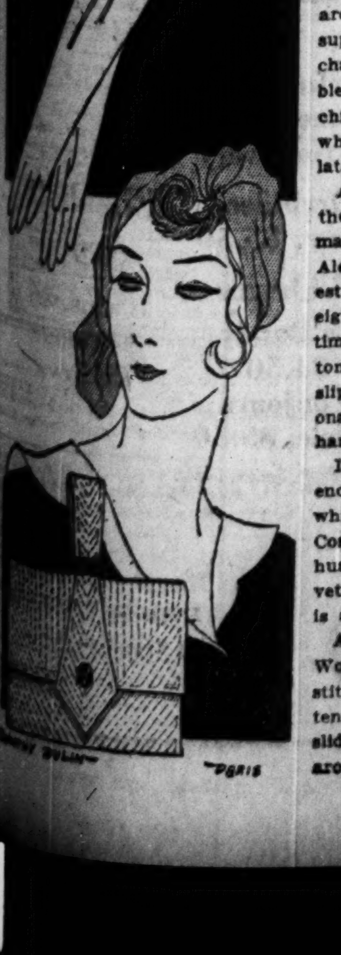
Smartest Accessories in Paris Are White



BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—White is the newest accessory color to lend freshness to dark costumes. Smart Parisiennes are wearing white gloves and white hats with their dark green and dark brown suits to lunch in the Ritz. Snowy ermine scarves and muffs—among the cutest of which are Worth's new tippets and little supple three cornered muffs—are charming with late afternoon ensembles. White hand bags and handkerchiefs are also chic and they help white gloves to retain their immaculate surface for one day at least.

At the top of our column you see the white suede afternoon gloves made by Alexandrine for Maggy Rouff. Alexandrine says they're her smartest best sellers. She makes them in eight and ten button lengths for daytime, and they grow as long as 16 buttons for evening. They are of the slip-on persuasion. Note their diagonal top and their sunburst of tiny handsewn tucks.

In the center of our column is Florence Walton's point d'interrogation, which is designed for Mme. Marie Coste to commemorate her famous husband's exploit. It's in white velvet and its namesake, question mark, is a white paradise feather.

At the bottom of our column is Worth's latest white velvet bag, stitched in black. A jet button fastens both handle and flap and a jet slide adjusts the stitched velvet strap around your wrist.

BIG TEN LEADERS OPPOSE ATHLETIC ENDOWMENTS

ILLINI DIRECTOR CALLS BUTLER PLAN "ABSURD"

Control by Alumni Main Objection.

BY ARCH WARD.

Athletic directors and educational leaders in Western conference territory yesterday were almost solidly opposed to the suggestions of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, that free gates and alumni endowments be established to relieve overemphasis in football.

George Huff, athletic director at the University of Illinois, called it absurd and ridiculous. He hinted that Dr. Butler should begin by cleaning house at home.

President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern said he would be glad to have his school's athletic program endowed, but didn't believe the proposed method was practical.

Stagg for Present System.

A. A. Stagg of the University of Chicago sees nothing radically wrong with the administration of athletics, particularly in the Big Ten. He agrees with Dr. Butler that it might be well to restrict intercollegiate contests to schools having the same scholastic standing, but prefers to keep athletics out of the hands of alumni. The athletic league of nations, to which the Columbia leader referred, is nothing more than what athletic leaders in the central states have done in the organization of the Big Ten, according to Mr. Stagg.

This is the comment Vice President Frederic C. Woodward of the University of Chicago made on Dr. Butler's report:

"President Butler's suggestions should have thoughtful consideration, for there are undoubtedly evils in intercollegiate football which we would all like to see eliminated. In the Western Intercollegiate conference we already have Dr. Butler's 'league of nations,' with uniform rules governing the academic standing of competitors and with faculty control.

Cites Alumni as Objection.

"The endowment of athletics through a permanent alumni fund is open to the objection that alumni who contributed to such a fund would be likely to claim the right to participate in its administration. In my judgment it would be a mistake to permit such participation. Athletics must be considered as a part of an educational program, and we should be careful to do nothing that will tend to remove it from the control of educational authorities.

"Perhaps the most encouraging aspect of the present situation is the new attitude which undergraduates are taking. In many of the leading universities, the students no longer have that exaggerated notion of the importance of athletic victories which characterized the undergraduates of a few years ago. In time this wholesome change will be reflected by the alumni and as a result some of the most serious evils will disappear."

Huff Calls Plan Absurd.

"The proposal of President Butler that intercollegiate athletics be endowed by means of a huge endowment fund to be contributed by alumni is absurd.

"It seems ridiculous to me to suggest endowing a college activity which is paying its own way by taking money from alumni. If alumni have money to give they can find plenty of other places for it in every educational institution.

"I never have been able to understand the viewpoint which considers it a crime for alumni, parents of students, and other friends of an institution, including the taxpayers who support it, in the case of state institutions, to attend an athletic event held under its auspices.

Disagrees on Coaches.

"2. President Butler condemned football coaches as czaristic and self-important, as newspaper reports intimate. I disagree with him. There are some coaches, perhaps, who are not actuated by the highest ideals, but on the other hand it is unfair to indict the many others who have the best motives.

"Since it is reported that Columbia has a football coach who is paid about twice as much as any coach in the Big Ten, perhaps Dr. Butler should begin his attack on overemphasis at home.

"I do not regard it as an impossibility for a university to maintain intellectual standards and still gain a measure of success in athletics. Most of our present trouble comes from the ambition of some smaller institutions to cope with larger ones.

"I agree with Maj. John L. Griffith that we have plenty of rules and it is just a question of living up to what we have."

Kansas Director Against It.

Dr. Forrest C. Allen, athletic director at the University of Kansas, said he opposed any further organization of athletics. It was his contention that it is organization which is overemphasized. He opposed the league proposed by Dr. Butler on the grounds that it would make for more rules and too many rules means dis-

Shamrocks and Buffalo Vie on Ice Thursday

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Buffalo Americans, who were the Buffalo Buffaloes up till the time of their belated start on their American league hockey schedule, on Christmas night will make their first appearance against the Chicago Shamrocks. The game will be played at the Chicago Stadium.

The Buffalo Americans will come to town with the doubtful prestige of having been beaten worse than the Shamrocks beat the St. Louis Americans Sunday night. Tulsa beat the Buffalo fellows, 11 to 2, while the St. Louis outfit held the Shamrocks to a 10 to 1 score.

And speaking of hockey clubs changing their names, the St. Louis club originally was called the Fliers until it was found they were flying pretty low. To head off the jibes the name was changed to St. Louis Americans. This makes three teams in the two major leagues going under the names of Americans, one of the New York teams in the National league having carried that monicker for several seasons. There isn't an American on any of the three "American" teams in the hockey application of the term "American," as differentiated from "Canadian."

The Blackhawks have a soft assignment for tonight. All they have to do is lick the pitiable Philadelphia Quakers. The Quakers have played 14 games, losing 12, winning one and tying one. This will be the first time the Hawks have had the opportunity to fatten up on the luscious harvest that has so delighted some of the eastern leaders. The Quakers will play in Chicago on New Year's night.

The Hawks will return to their home ice on Dec. 28 for a game against the Toronto Maple Leafs. The Leafs haven't been here this year but they gave the Hawks a 3 to 1 blistering in Toronto Sunday night.

A brotherly spirit prevails in the American league in the matter of bolstering the weak sisters. St. Louis hasn't won a game in seven played and had 18 goals scored against it on Saturday and Sunday nights. Right away there were many offers of player loans, including the offer of President Tom Shaughnessy of the Shamrocks to let the tail enders use his spare goalie, Mike Karakas.

BUTLER SCHEME BORN WITH TWO STRIKES CALLED

League of Nations Tieup Makes It That Way.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 22.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler's observations on the subject of intercollegiate football suggest that he has been a pretty studious reader of the newspapers, for his criticisms are but a general summary of all the familiar complaints, and the only novel idea that he offers is his recommendation for a collegiate league on the order of the league of nations.

This was an unfortunate choice of a term, though, for any organization which frankly patronized the league of nations would tag itself a flop and start with two strikes on it. It may seem idle to quarrel with mere names, but I suppose Dr. Butler would want to start out with a suggestion of power and success, and the collegiate Tammany hall would have been a more auspicious title.

Anyway, as Dr. Frederick R. Robinson, the president of the college of the City of New York, points out, the colleges for years have had their own league for the purposes proposed by Dr. Butler in the National Collegiate Athletic association, and the ills complained of have enjoyed a vigorous growth notwithstanding.

Sport Is National Obsession.

The point where all advocates of simplicity in intercollegiate football quit reality and go winging off into space is the point where they fail to realize that sport is no longer a matter of mere physical exercise for the participants, but a major national obsession, more absorbing and more continuous than politics, and equal to prohibition and crime.

The newspapers have been accused of contributing to the confusion and the excitement of football, but it is still a question whether the chicken or the egg came first. Instead of creating this enthusiasm, the newspapers, I believe, merely serve it, and while the emphasis on sport may be disproportionate to the emphasis on some other matters, such as disarmament, it may as well be admitted that the public interest rather than the actual importance of the news is the gauge of news value in journalism now.

The three sports which the customers are most interested are football, heavyweight championship prizefights, and baseball or golf. I have been watching in the efforts of some newspapers to force an interest in squash tennis, and though I often see banner lines over such stories, I cannot believe that they reflect the volume of reader interest, because I get around in the sport community in a pretty wide range of circulation and I rarely hear any one mention squash tennis.

Football a Mania.

This is not intended as a sneer at any man's favorite game. There are many good sports which interest comparatively small groups of people. But football amounts to a mania about four months every fall, and any sports editor who insisted on playing down the big games and playing up archery or quoits would have the circulation manager chasing him up and down the stairways and right off the roof within a week.

Doctor Butler probably is quite right in proposing that a free gate would serve to reduce the customer interest, but I trust that he does not think this idea was original with him. The customers ordinarily estimate their entertainments according to the cost and difficulty of admission, and they would regard a free show as being worth the price of admission and no more, and therefore not worth attending. But this would not apply to any Notre Dame games or the Harvard-Yale of Yale-Princeton games, which, if presented free, would entail riots and panics at the gates.

Pageantry Attracts Fans.

It will be heresy to say so, but the actual combatants are not the mag-

In the WAKE of the NEWS

FOOTBALL REFORMS.

IN one respect, at least, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university strikes true in that part of his annual report touching on football. That is his suggestion of uniform academic standing for contestants. The Wake always has maintained that the one year residence rule and honest enforcement of scholastic eligibility were basic. Beyond that, opinions may differ widely.

We respect Dr. Murray's views because of our adherence to his convictions on another important public question. Whether or not college athletics should be endowed, however, is open to argument. If football and other college sports are for undergraduates and alumni alone, perhaps endowment is the best means of conducting them.

Granting the hypothesis of aloofness, there still is question whether the money necessary for such endowment, presumably derived from alumni gifts, might not better be used for other collegiate purposes. Under the present system, football in most colleges supports itself—in the larger colleges it also supports other sports as well. Of course, we don't know whether alumni would contribute as liberally for general educational purposes as for sports endowment, but certainly no one who ever attended college lacks opportunity to contribute.

The Wake is by no means convinced the public should be deprived of its privilege to witness college sports after students and alumni have received tickets. We are not convinced the college should not make effort to enlist public interest. If college sports are the highest type of amateurism, why should the public be kept from these spectacles? Should the collegian set himself apart from all others? Such a viewpoint takes something of a wallop at our boasted democracy.

Why should not college sport set an example for other sport? Such example can best be set by widespread public attendance. Of course, there are and always will be some evils. In those instances where college sport fails of its high purpose, however, it is not the fault of sport itself so much as in administration and supervision by college faculties. Honest administration and supervision must come from within and not from without.

Coach Alexander of Georgia Tech, president of the coaches' association, is going to urge abolition of the point after touchdown to the rules committee. Coach Alexander, we assume, is an unusually intelligent person, since the point after touchdown is our pet aversion in football.

Brame, Pirate Pitcher, Weds Pittsburgh Girl

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Ervin B. Brame, pitcher of the Pittsburgh National league baseball club, and Marguerite A. Helmig, Pittsburgh, were married Saturday in Hopkinsville, Ky., Brame's home town, relatives of the bride disclosed today.

FOOTBALL TEAMS SHIVER IN 'SUNNY CALIFORNIA' AIR

But They Manage to Drill for Three Big Games.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Old man football moved to Southern California today for his last stand of the year, but winter gave him a chilly rebuke and made some 75 gridiron players wonder whether "sunny California" was as pictured.

Within a few hours trains brought to Los Angeles 34 university of North Dakota players, 25 Washington State men and 16 former football stars of Notre Dame, all ready for intersectional games.

But while the sun shone winter descended from the mountains with overcoat producing weather. Temperatures ranged from 25 to 40 degrees.

North Dakota Plays Firemen.

Later in the day leather began to fly on football fields as if it were September instead of December. North Dakota worked out in the Coliseum for the game on Christmas day with the Los Angeles firemen.

Washington State, getting acclimated for the New Year's day battle with Alabama in the Rose bowl at Pasadena, took over the nearby Tournament park. The Notre Dame all-stars, minus Knute Rockne, scrimmaged for the game next Saturday with the stellar recruits which Jimmy Phelan, Washington coach, has gathered from the west, south and north.

Alabama Sees Grand Canyon.

Coach Wallace Wade confirmed reports he has been interviewed as a prospect to succeed Nibs Price at the University of California next year, but said he has declined consideration. He is under contract to report to Duke university next fall.

Alabama will set up training quarters at Patterson field, Occidental college, only a few miles from the Rose bowl.

"What I can't understand," Coach Hollingbery of Washington State said, "is how they figure Alabama a strong favorite down here. Suits me, though. My men were never in a better frame of mind for any game this season than this one."

Welcome Cold Wave.

Although the cold wave was greeted with pleasure by the Washington State players and followers, it was expected to find no favor in Alabama ranks if it continues through the week.

The Cougars will hold two secret drills tomorrow. Coach Hollingbery said he was satisfied with his defense and expected to devote much of the time to offensive tactics.

Ticket sales moved slowly, with about 55,000 seats sold, but with the teams on hand, Graduate Manager Earl Foster of Washington State said he expected business to pick up. The Rose bowl will seat 85,000.

OSTER KNOCKS OUT NORMAN IN OPENING ROUND

Willie Oster, Boston light heavyweight, knocked out Edgar Norman of Norway in the first round of their eight round bout at White City last night. During the last minute of the round Oster cracked Norman on the jaw with a stiff right, dropping the Norwegian for an eight count. Another right sent him down and out. Oster weighed 169 pounds and Norman 172.

In the semi-windup Texas More and Joe Miller went eight fast rounds to a draw. They are light heavyweights. Nick Clementi beat Jimmy Chase in six rounds. Karl Ogren stopped Tommy Murphy in the second round, Jimmy Keenan stopped Mike Parsh in the third round, and Davey Grove stopped Mickey O'Shea in the fourth round.

Lengthen End Zones, Coach Murray's Plan

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—After studying numerous instances throughout the country this fall where major teams were held without scoring when within their opponents' five yard line, Coach Frank J. Murray of the undefeated Marquette university football team suggested today that the end zones of the playing field be lengthened from 10 to 20 yards.

Will Defend Plan.

While Coach Murray has not indicated that he will present his proposal officially at the football coaches' meeting in New York during the holidays, he will be present at the grid chiefs' sessions and will be ready to defend the plan.

"Spectators," Coach Murray said, "want to see more offense in football because they like scoring. The coach wants to see more offense because he is considered a poor offensive coach when his team is held inside the opponents' five yard line.

"The team is held, of course, because the defensive back field is close to the scrimmage line; the backs do not have to cover much 'passing' territory, for the end zone is but 10 yards deep."

Would Strengthen Offense.

The Marquette coach points out that if the end zone were 20 yards deep, it would tend to keep the defensive men back and make the running attack stronger, and that if the backs came up too close there would be a better chance for the offensive team to pass to a touchdown.

Coach Murray does not make the proposal after any sad experiences of his own. In fact, during the last season in which Marquette held the opponents to 7 points for the best defensive record of the year, his team held down in scoring territory against Drake, Boston college, Iowa, and Detroit.

Coliseum Ring Show Nets 363 Christmas Baskets

Three hundred and sixty-three poor families yesterday received baskets of food for Christmas as a result of the charity boxing program at the Coliseum last Friday night. The show, which was sponsored by the Democratic managing committee of Cook county, netted $2,225 for the poor and unemployed.

LESSONS PAST, CHICAGO BOYS TAKE TO SKIS

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Vacation time with its setting of ice and snow! Chicago's thousands of red blooded boys welcome these days with release from lessons and opportunities for recreation.

In years past lads of country districts bragged of their winter sports. Rolling hills were ideal for bob sledding. Frozen creeks and ponds were sites for many impromtu hockey matches where crooked sticks were clubs and a battered tin can, a puck.

Chicago, today, offers more to winter vacationists than the country. Lagoons and playgrounds furnish excellent skating where snow is no handicap for it is removed as rapidly as it falls. And too, Chicago boys have taken to a comparatively new sport — skiing. While the city's cramped spaces are not suitable for travel on skis, yet ski jumping, a far more thrilling sport, has captured imaginations of Chicago's juvenile population.

70 Foot Slide Available.

The Ogden Dunes and Norge Ski clubs provide competitions for expert jumpers but the forest preserve districts and several of the city parks are equipped with slides suitable for amateur skiers. The slide at Riis park, erected by the Northwest Park district, is 70 feet high. Its slope is not too precipitate, yet it furnishes sufficient speed to test skill and courage.

THE TRIBUNE will hold its first ski meet, a complementary event to the Silver Skates derbies, on Jan. 4 at Riis park, Fullerton and Mead avenues. Entries close at midnight, Dec. 31. All boys under 18 years of age are eligible for competition which will be held in two age classes. Boys under 14 form one division; the other is for boys 14 to 17 inclusive.

Distance and Form Count.

Medals will be awarded to the first four boys in each class. Distance and form are the bases for determining winners. Officials of the Ogden Dunes and Norge Ski clubs will judge the jumping.

There is no limit on the number of contestants. The next fortnight may be time enough for practice so that a lad who has had no previous experience may win a medal in his division.

Thousands are expected to watch the events since Riis park is reached easily by surface lines. The early response to the meet predicates that more than 70—the number which entered last year—will compete Jan. 4. Clip the blank which is printed daily, print your name and age legibly, and mail it at once to the Ski Editor, Sports department, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Georgia Tech to Abandon Ten Year Old Relays in '31

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The Tech relays, annual attraction for hundreds of athletes from all sections of the country, will be abandoned in 1931, Georgia Tech announced today. Lack of public interest and support in Atlanta was given as the reason for discontinuing the ten year old spring meet.

BADGERS DENY TIGERS BASKET UNTIL 2D HALF

Madison, Wis., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Wisconsin's basketball team overwhelmed the University of Missouri, 37 to 9, here tonight.

The Badgers controlled the ball 80 per cent of the time, and whenever the Tigers took possession Wisconsin's defense held them helpless. Missouri did not score a field goal until five minutes of the second half had passed, and succeeded in sinking only two.

The work of Chmielewski and Paul, veteran guards and co-captains, was flawless. Doug Nelson, Bobby Poser, and Harry Griswold were conspicuous in Wisconsin's scoring, but it was the teamwork of the entire squad which made the runaway possible. Lineup:

ILLINI, 28; WABASH, 13

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The University of Illinois basketball team defeated Wabash college here tonight, 28 to 13. The visitors were allowed but three baskets, two of them by Howell. Bowman made the only other field goal on a backhand shot.

Capt. Bur Harper once more led his teammates in their victory, scoring three field goals and a like number of free throws. Babe Kamp and George Fencl were the other heavy scorers for the Orange and Blue with six points, made on two baskets and two free throws.

Wabash took a 3 to 0 lead in the opening minutes of play but the Illini solved their defense and after nearly ten minutes of play went into the lead, never again to be headed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 22.—Three short shots in a row by Whitey Budrunas, Marquette university center, enabled Coach Bill Chandler's Hilltop basketball team to pull tonight's game with Brigham Young university of Provo, Utah, out of the fire in the last few minutes of play and beat the Westerners, 35 to 31.

While the lead changed hands twice in each half, Marquette was in the running all the way, due to the shooting of Budrunas, a Waukegan boy, who scored 20 of his team's points. Brigham Young presented a fast offense and the Hilltoppers dropped their regular style to meet and beat the westerners at their own game.

The lineup:

QUALIFYING PLAY IN $25,000 OPEN TO START TODAY

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The new larger and lighter golf ball will be used in the qualifying rounds for the second renewal of the $25,000 Agua Caliente open, which will be held tomorrow and Wednesday.

Approximately half of the 100 players who finally will tee off for the biggest money prize of golfdom, will be selected on these two days. The balance qualified automatically in the P. G. A. and National Open championships or by being among the prize winners in the first $25,000 open, or entering from a foreign country.

The ball will also be used in the rest of the tournaments on the winter golf schedule, but the biggest test will come in the $25,000 Agua Caliente open, Jan. 13, 14, 15 and 16. By that time the professionals will have had a chance to learn some of the peculiarities of the new and larger sphere.

With the new ball believed to take five to ten yards off the average drive, some of the holes which are almost maximum distance, will be more difficult than in the 1929 event, which was won by Gene Sarazen. The New York professional set a record of 68 for the course, which still stands.

BIG TEN LEADERS OPPOSE SPORTS ENDOWMENTPLAN

crimination for the poor boy in athletics, he said.

Several football ticket managers, who already have plenty of trouble keeping alumni satisfied, yesterday inquired where they would get stadiums large enough to accommodate the old grads and other friends of the school who would want to see free games.

Several college presidents who declined to be quoted said there are other departments of college activity which are in greater need of endowments than football. They also pointed out that endowment of athletics by alumni would bring rank discrimination. Schools with large alumni groups would have a distinct advantage, they said.

Wilson Calls It Impractical.

Kenneth L. Wilson, Northwestern's athletic chief, sized up Dr. Butler's proposals like this:

"An endowed athletic program would be a fine thing, but it is impractical because the alumni of our universities already are overburdened with other endowments. Universities seek endowments for new buildings and other educational facilities, and it would not be feasible for them to ask additional funds for endowing athletic activities.

"In regard to an 'athletic league of nation,' which Mr. Butler suggests, I would say that we have exactly that in the Big Ten. The Western conference has been functioning for years and has accomplished more for proper supervision of college athletics than any organization in the country. I do not think further legislation would be advisable."

REFUSES TO LEAD REFORM

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—While college executives throughout the country commented in contrasting fashion upon his suggestions for an "athletic league of nations" and less emphasis on football gate receipts, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler today indicated he himself did not intend to unfurl a crusading banner on the subject.

The president of Columbia university, although much interested in the widespread response to his proposals, made it clear he had merely set forth his opinions and did not plan to take any specific action designed to put them into effect at his own institution. His views were expressed incidentally in his annual report. At the same time, he said, "if anything comes of it, so much the better."

No Indication of Changes.

In the east, Chancellor Elmer Ellsworth Brown of New York university considered the suggestion "extremely desirable" and President Ernest M. Hopkins of Dartmouth university thought it "certainly worth considering," but there was no general movement that presaged any change in present athletic arrangements.

While in principle Dr. Butler's comment met with approval, it appeared that the obstacles in the way of endowing sports to the point where gate receipts would be unnecessary, and such branches as baseball, rowing, and track would not feast on the profits of football, were too great to overcome.

IOWA CAGERS TO MEET CREIGHTON; SEEK FIRST WIN

Iowa City, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The University of Iowa's basketball team, which has met two defeats on its home court, will seek to improve its record in its first out of town game against Creighton at Omaha tomorrow.

Since the Hawkeye quintet's unimpressive display of floor work against Bradley Tech here last week, Coach Rollie Williams has occupied his varsity with concentrated drill on passing and in executing floor plays.

Although Williams has made no change in his starting lineup of Kotlow and Rogers, forwards; Barger, center; and Reinhardt and Riegert, guards, but reserves are likely to be pressed into service during the game.

More than 300 Iowa students and alumni will witness the game at Omaha. Following the contest the Hawkeyes will disband until Dec. 29, when they will begin practice for the Drake game, Jan. 5. Carl Hauser, reserve center, who has been absent from drill since the opening game, is expected to return to the squad after vacation.

Thistlethwaite Foes Plan to Bare Report

Madison, Wis., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—The alumni members of the Wisconsin Athletic council who opposed the retention of Glen Thistlethwaite as football coach will circulate 10,000 copies of their report on the Badger athletic and football situation, if the board of directors of the alumni association approves. The board meeting is scheduled for Jan. 3.

The three alumni members of the council who are responsible for the report are Hy Marks, Chicago; Walter Alexander, Milwaukee, and Jerry Riordan, Madison. When Director George Little recommended to the council that Thistlethwaite be retained, these three are believed to have disapproved, and declared that they owed the report to the thousands of graduates throughout the country whom they represent.

There is considerable secrecy regarding the contents of the report, but it is known to contain five pages and to deal with the football situation, intimating that Thistlethwaite is not the best football coach for Wisconsin. The report was submitted to the athletic council, which approved it. Despite the approval, it voted to "make no recommendation to the board of regents looking toward the discontinuance of the services of Thistlethwaite as football coach."

Report Navy Coach May Go to California

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The Evening Sun said today that Navy Bill Ingram, who has completed a five year contract as head football coach at the United States naval academy at Annapolis, may succeed Nibs Price as coach at the University of California.

Ingram was said to be on the west coast conferring with university officials in regard to the position, reported offered him several years ago when he was coaching at the University of Indiana.

Ingram, a former football star at the naval academy, resigned from the service when he went to coach at Indiana, and left the latter institution to return to coach the Middies in 1926. His brother, Commander Jonas Ingram, at that time was head of the academy athletic department.

The paper said Ingram had been offered a two-year renewal of his contract which expired this season, but that he had not signed.

BOWEN PREP FIVE WINS IN DEKALB TOURNEY, 35-24

Dekalb, Ill., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Bowen High school of Chicago won its first game in the invitation holiday basketball tournament at the Northern Illinois State Teachers' college here today by defeating Spring Valley, 35 to 24. Marquette U. Sextet Beats Legion, 3 to 0

Amateur hockey made its debut at the Chicago Stadium last night when Marquette university defeated the Cook County American Legion sextet, 3 to 0.

With the periods cut to 15 minutes instead of the regulation 20 and the off-side rule abandoned, play was fast and hard fought, many collisions resulting from the inexpert stick handling.

Buck Peterson, Marquette right defense, scored the first goal 11 minutes after the start of the first period. For the most part both teams shot from the center of the rink, and in all cases except one, when Nicholson's shot in the middle of the second period bounced off Porter's stick into the net, these long attempts were unsuccessful. The third goal was scored by Finkbeiner, a relief defense man, 11 minutes and 46 seconds after the start of the second period. Lineup:

CHICAGO GETS 3 CENTRAL STATES BOWLING TITLES

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Final attacks today failed to dislodge the leaders in the Central States Bowling tournament and left W. Heerman of Chicago topping the singles and all-events and Larry Groneck and Bennie Cohen of St. Louis high in the doubles. The Mineralites of Chicago won the five-man event.

Heerman's total in the singles was 725 and in all-events 1,929. J. Bodis of Cleveland was singles runner-up with 716 and H. Hahn of St. Louis was second in the all-events with 1,928.

Hahn and H. Deem of St. Louis were second in the doubles with a score of 1,278, well short of the 1,363 winning total of Groneck and Cohen.

The tournament saw two perfect 300 games rolled, and 150 bowlers scored 600 or more in the singles.

ENGLISH BOXERS LAND TOMORROW FOR U. S. INVASION

Included in this collection will be the British middleweight heavyweight champion, Len Harvey, and Mrs. Harvey; Johnny Peters, bantamweight, and Jack "Kid" Berg.

Grid Game Is Only 7 Minutes Long, Professor Finds

East Lansing, Mich., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Sixty minutes of play has been given a new meaning in football by a Michigan State college professor who attends games with a stop watch.

Prof. D. T. Ewing of the college chemistry department learns that the ball is in play only an average of seven minutes a game, actually. He obtains his calculation by measuring the time from the passing of the ball by the center to the sound of the referee's whistle ending the play.

A kick is in the air generally about four seconds and line smash usually requires about three or four seconds, he says.

LOYOLA QUINTET FACES UNBEATEN BUTLER CAGERS

Loyola's basketball squad will leave this morning for Indianapolis, where it will meet Butler university tonight. Although Butler was one of the schools which lost to Loyola last season, the Indianapolis school made a good record, which has been continued this season by three straight victories.

Some of the men who were outstanding stars with Lombard college last season are now regular members of the Butler team. They are eligible under intercollegiate rules, because Lombard is a defunct institution and its former athletes are permitted to play wherever they may enroll without the customary lapse of a year.

Auto Accident Injuries Kill Fox River Valley Athlete

Theodore C. [Ted] Schlitz, Fox River valley athlete, is dead at the home of his mother in Batavia as the result of an automobile accident. He had played on numerous football and basketball teams in northern Illinois. Funeral services will be held this afternoon.

Here's a School 100% Loyal to Its Cage Teams

Oakfield, Wis., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—When Oakfield High school plays its basketball games every member of the school is always present.

Twenty of the school's 50 pupils are on the two basketball teams, while the remaining thirty pupils turn out as spectators. Oakfield is tied with Rosendale, last year's Tri-county conference champions, with leadership in the circuit. Oakfield has defeated Slinger, Lomira, Omro, and Waupun by wide margins. Its only defeat was at the hands of Slinger by a one point margin early in the season.

One of the most stirring events I ever attended was the first Tunney-Dempsey prize fight in Philadelphia, when the rain fell in torrents. But as I recall the fight itself, it was a commonplace half hour of punching, and if I had found myself suddenly alone, watching the boys, I undoubtedly would have said, "hell's bells, it's raining. I'm going down to the hotel." Similarly, I think, I would have walked out on the recent Army-Navy game at the Yankee stadium but for the pageantry and significance of the show surrounding the actual play.

Colleges Can't Quit Now.

Here is a country which has only a few parades every year and an inauguration once in four years, but which loves bands, marches, and displays, and football has been developed to serve as the lord mayor's show and the parade to the opening of parliament. Having not only tolerated this development, but also having taken a large profit from it, the colleges will not be able to pick up their money now and close out the business.

For a time, contrary to the evidence, I tried to believe that a football game was no more than 60 minutes of healthful exercise, but the preparations for the Army-Navy game convinced me that this is a theory, not a condition. If the players had been men capable of approaching the game in this calm frame of mind they would have been clods and they wouldn't have been out for football in the first place.

It looks as though the educators will have to make the best of things.

BOBBY JONES TO DESCRIBE SHOTS IN RADIO TALKS

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Radio listeners of the nation soon will have the opportunity of hearing Bobby Jones' own voice telling just how golf shots should be made.

The Atlanta author, motion picture player, lawyer, and king of golfdom today confirmed the signing of a contract calling for 26 weekly broadcasts over a nation wide hookup starting Jan. 14.

"This will be my first 'appearance' over the radio," Bobby said. "I hope we all have a lot of fun out of it."

Jones plans to make these short talks educational and entertaining with the entertainment predominating. He will discuss his various shots and also tell interesting stories about various tournaments in which he has participated.

Holler, Golfers, and Well You May; New Ball's Here to Stay

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The court was held in open air, and amateur and pro comprised the jury gathered there, with old Judge Publico. "This court is now in session, folks," they heard the bailiff call, "so gather 'round, ye golfing blokes, and bring Defendant Ball!"

With Armour, Cooper, Diegel there; the Haig and others too, the Pasadena open air took on a gorgeous hue. Before the bar John Ball was led, to stand there, sleek and large. "Pipe that balloon," a watcher said, "he's bigger than a barge!"

The prosecution opened wide, with ringing allegation. "He's wrecked our putts!" the D. A. cried, with righteous indignation.

"He rims the cup and loops the loop, and tries a barrel roll, instead of heading for his coop and plopping in his hole. We hafta hit like a ton to get two hundred yards, and when a round is done we hate to see our cards."

The prosecution rested there and John Ball went to bat. Defenders took the witness chair and said, "He's not too fat. When treated right he does his stuff on fairway, tee, and green, and if you muff and make the rough you're only venting spleen.

"The ball's to blame!" you guys all claim, no matter how you've swung, and any time you're off your game the 'new ball blues' is sung."

The old Judge Bono Publico the jurymen addressed. He said, "Both amateur and pro I've heard, but I'll be blessed if any difference I can see between old ball and new. They both go in the traps for me and do some looping, too."

The jury foreman had his say. He said, "We'd like to know where on a howling, windy day this Mister Ball will go."

Then old Judge Bono rose and hissed, "In all this wind today, no fact of import have I missed and this I have to say:

"You may howl loud; you may howl long, but be that as it may—in spite of dirge and anvil song, the new ball's here to stay!"

CADET GRID STAR GOES HOME FOR 9 DAYS OF PRAISE

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Cadet Ray Stecker will be just a member of the corps of the Military academy until tomorrow afternoon. Then for nine days he will be the lion of Hazelton, Pa. Stecker, outstanding ball carrier in Army's late season football campaign, ran 57 yards to beat Navy and contributed the points that beat Illinois. He has a nine day furlough and his home town will honor him, topping the celebration with a chamber of commerce banquet next Saturday night.

Interwoven Socks for Christmas

WEATHER TELLS DUCK SHOOTERS SEASON IS OVER

Winter Makes Blinds Chilly Spots.

BY BOB BECKER.

Cuba Island, Illinois river valley, Dec. 22.—With the temperature well below freezing, water fowl hunting down here in the bottom lands of the Sangamon and Illinois rivers has entered the Arctic phase, which means that the 1930-1931 season is coming to a close. Snow covers the lowlands and ice heavy enough for skating stretches over ponds, except where a current of water hurries through flooded timber.

Every blind seems filled with chills and chilblains, and above the quacking of cold mallard decoys you can hear the cru-u-mp of ice in the marsh behind your draughty hideout. It's time for heavy clothes, ear muffs, and hot soup in a thermos bottle, if you wish to sit for many hours waiting the circling birds to come within range.

Mallards Still Linger.

Wintry as it is, the mallards continue to linger here in this famous shooting country. Day before yesterday, when a light snow was being driven out of the northwest to make us hunch down deep in our flannels, we saw thousands of greenheads in the air. They swept over tree tops in flocks of all sizes, winging their way through the snow filled winter sky for more than two hours.

It was a glorious sight as viewed from the depths of our blind in the middle of a frozen pond, and during this thrilling flight we had no trouble bagging a few ducks for Christmas dinner.

The birds are as fat as butter, but they are carrying something besides excess weight these days. Educated and crafty about this decoying business, these wise old mallards take their time in coming to the ice covered ponds to feed during the night, and on mild, good weather days most of them check in just at, or immediately after, sundown.

Greenheads Know Their Business.

They show such uncanny sense of time that one is inclined to believe some of the greenheads carry wrist watches.

Staying on with the mallards are a few pintails and green winged teal. The teal show no signs of having their speed congealed by the low temperatures. Yesterday three of them whizzed past our blind with the same old zip. They were gone before we had a chance to get a good look at them.

MAKE DRAWINGS FOR JUNIOR AND BOYS' NET MEETS

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—Drawings for the national junior and boys' indoor tennis championship, to be held in the Seventh Regiment armory beginning Friday, were made today at the offices of the United States Lawn Tennis association.

William Jacobs, Baltimore, defending champion, has been seeded No. 1 in the junior championship. Jacobs, whose victory in the final round last year earned the team prize for Baltimore City college, is competing this year for the University of Pennsylvania.

Was Power Behind Throne in Rumania for Years.

He and his even more famous brother, Jon, were considered the powers behind the throne of the late King Ferdinand and Queen Marie for years. On the death of Jon in 1927 Vintila succeeded him as premier, and his hostility toward the present King Carol was increased. Previously he had been a leading figure in the acts which deprived Carol of the title of crown prince and banished him to exile.

Held Office a Year.

He was elected leader of the Liberal party soon afterward and held the reins of office amid constant crises and rumors of crises for just one year. Then, following a difference between the regency governing for the boy king, Michael, he resigned and gave place to a National Peasant party administration, under Dr. Juliu Maniu. That the country welcomed the change was indicated by the overwhelming defeat of the Liberals at the ensuing general election.

Though retiring directly from public life Vintila Bratianu remained a figure of great importance in Rumania, and thus in affairs of the Balkans and the yet larger area beyond.

After Carol had returned from exile in June, flying by airplane to capture the throne of his father, the national assembly by an overwhelming vote proclaimed him king and reduced Carol's son, Michael, to his original status of crown prince. Only one voice was heard in opposition, that of Vintila Bratianu.

Defies Carol's Summons.

Two months earlier he had caused a stir in the country by issuing pamphlets accusing the government and the regency of intriguing for Carol's return.

After the aerial coup d'état had been achieved he created another stir by refusing a summons to the royal palace for an audience on the grounds that the king had kept him waiting two weeks before granting the appointment. Later, however, he called upon the king and the interview was interpreted as meaning that the Liberals had swung to the side of the once exiled monarch.

Youths Slug Woman at Theater and Seize Cash

3 OF EVERY 4 IN ILLINOIS NOW LIVING IN CITIES

Increase 6 Per Cent in Ten Years.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Nearly three-quarters of the 7,630,654 people of Illinois live in cities and towns of more than 2,500 population, as shown by final urban and rural population statistics, made public today by the census bureau.

Ten years ago, in Illinois, 4,403,153 persons, or 67.9 per cent, lived in the towns and cities, while, in 1930, there were 5,635,727 urban residents, or 73.9 per cent. Meanwhile, the rural population decreased from 2,082,127 to 1,994,927.

A similar trend from the farms to the cities was shown throughout the country with the urban percentage for the nation increasing from 51.4 to 56.2 in the course of the decade. The total urban population in 1930 was 68,995,521 and the rural population was 53,819,525.

Comparative Figures Given.

State—	Urban.	Rural.	Per cent urban.
Indiana 1,795,892		1,442,611	55.5
Michigan 3,302,075		1,540,250	68.2

The state with the largest percentage of its inhabitants living in cities was Rhode Island, with 92.4 per cent, with Massachusetts a close second, with 90.2 per cent. At the other end of the list were North Dakota, with only 16.6 per cent of its inhabitants urban and Mississippi, with 16.9 per cent urban.

New Divisions Made.

Due to several minor changes in the definition of urban and rural, the census bureau announced, the 1930 figures are not exactly comparable with those of 1920. Due to the exchanges, it was explained, the net result was to increase the urban population for the country as a whole by 284,708. The bureau stated that its new classification represented more adequately the population living under urban conditions and under rural conditions.

Producer of Stage Hits of 30 Yrs. Ago Dies in London

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Sydney Ellison, 30 years ago one of the world's greatest producers of musical shows, including "Floradora," which is still played, died in hospital here today. Mr. Ellison's stage arrangement of the famous song, "Tell Me, Pretty Maiden," was one of the greatest hits in English operetta. He suffered a stroke at the end of the war and since then had been picking up odd stage jobs as a super.

I. C. C. ENGINEERS SUBMIT REPORT ON BUS SERVICE

A report on the type of service being given bus riders by the Chicago Motor Coach company was completed yesterday and submitted to the Illinois commerce commission by its own engineers, Charles W. Hadley, chairman of the commission, announced.

In view of complaints of unsatisfactory service, Mr. Hadley two weeks ago assigned three engineers to investigate the bus lines to determine whether the coach company was meeting the standards of service and convenience set by the commission. Complaints were directed principally against the double deck buses with one man operation.

While Mr. Hadley declined to reveal the substance of the engineers' report, there were rumors that the engineers found substantiation of complaints that the buses are overcrowded, the ceilings too low for comfort and the ventilation bad. Mr. Hadley said he was summoning motor coach officials to meet informally with the commission in Chicago on Jan. 14 or 15, after which the company might be compelled to show cause why the one man bus should not be discontinued, excepting an agreement be reached at the informal conference.

Richard Dunckley, South Side Contractor, Is Dead

Richard I. Dunckley, building contractor of the south side, died yesterday of heart disease at his home, 6942 Dante avenue. He was born in Northampton, England, in 1844, coming to the United States in 1870. He was a widower and is survived by two sons, Richard S. and George A., and three daughters, Rosetta E., Alice E., and Sarah Dunckley.

SLUG MAID, LOOT GUEST'S ROOM IN CONGRESS HOTEL

Robbery of a New York jewelry salesman and the slugging of a maid in the Congress hotel yesterday morning by two armed men, who tore the telephone from the wall before locking the maid in the room, was revealed last night. News of the robbery was suppressed until late last night, although the rifling of the room occurred at 10:30 a. m.

Milton Jackson, the salesman, was said to have come to Chicago with jewelry samples. He was out of the room when the maid started cleaning. She left the door open and two men walked in, threw her on the bed after choking her, and covered her head with a pillow. After searching the room and ransacking a clothes closet, they tore the telephone from the wall, cut the maid's keys from a leather belt and departed, threatening to shoot her if she called out.

Immediately after the robbery Jackson checked out of the hotel. Frank Florentine, night manager, last night denied any knowledge of a robbery. Two stories were current in the hotel. One was that a small valise of jewelry was stolen and the other that there was no loss, as Jackson had the samples with him.

Anniversary Mass Honors Fire Marshal James Horan

A solemn requiem mass was celebrated yesterday in the Cathedral of the Holy Name for Chief Fire Marshal James Horan, who with nineteen firemen perished in the stockyards fire of Dec. 22, 1910. Rev. William J. Gorman, chaplain of the fire department officiated. The service, sponsored by Fire Commissioner A. W. Goodrich, a personal friend of Chief Horan, is held annually. Yesterday's memorial services included the giving of Chief Horan's lantern and other mementos to the Chicago Historical society, and the placing of a wreath in the Randolph street entrance of the county building.

Marine Firemen Tabulate Votes in Union Election

Tabulation of votes cast in the various lake ports in the annual election of officers of the marine firemen, oilers, watertenders, and coalpassers union of the great lakes, yesterday disclosed the following officers: Ivan Hunter, general secretary; Edward Hicks, treasurer; John W. Ellison, Cleveland, James Hayman, Detroit, Leonard Carter, Chicago, and Ernest Ellis, Milwaukee, business representatives.

Woman Accidentally Shot by Two Rabbit Hunters

Mrs. Lilliabelle Kenworthy, a farmer's wife, was accidentally shot and wounded yesterday by two rabbit hunters near Hammond. The hunters, George Heick and Elmer Fisher, Lake county farmers, were not held when they agreed to pay for Mrs. Kenworthy's hospital expenses.

W. A. GILCHRIST ESTATE SET AT TWO MILLIONS

The will of William A. Gilchrist, lumber man, who died on Dec. 18, was filed for probate yesterday with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court. The entire estate, which is estimated to be worth more than $2,000,000, is left to the widow, Mrs. Emily F. Gilchrist of 1430 Lake Shore drive. The will contained a provisional that in the event his wife was not living when he died, a sum of $100,000 should go to William a Stevenson, a friend, and the remainder of the estate to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City. Mr. Gilchrist was also survived by a brother, Ralph E. Gilchrist of Detroit, and a sister, Mrs. Grace G. Fletcher of Alpena.

6 NATIONS AGREE NOT TO BOOST TARIFF RATES

OSLO, Dec. 22.—(AP)—A convention binding six European nations not to raise existing tariff rates or introduce new ones without consulting one another was signed today. It was viewed as a development of great importance in the economic affairs of northern Europe.

The signature of the treaty for "economic rapprochement" by representatives of Norway, Sweden, Holland, Belgium, Denmark, and Luxemburg was announced by the Norwegian premier and foreign minister, Mowinckel. In opening the conference several days ago he said the negotiations aimed at enforcement of "certain liberal principles in commercial policy."

The signatories also agreed to consider the application of the principle which was the basis of the treaty to "other arrangements likewise calculated to favor international trade."

LULL SETTLES OVER CHICAGO STOCK TRADING

Most Active Issues Are Off at Close.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The lull which usually precedes holiday shutdowns settled over the Chicago market yesterday and business was carried on in a listless fashion characteristic of such periods.

There was a dearth of buying orders in the market and the small volume of seasonal liquidation was sufficient to force the majority of active shares below last week's final quotations. The selling had none of the earmarks of the urgent liquidation which played havoc with the market in the early trading last week. The market was quiet and dull during most of the five hour trading period, but in the last few minutes a flurry of offerings carried prices off further.

Swift International Active.

News of the increase in the dividend rate by Swift International stimulated interest in that company's shares and the issues enjoyed the heaviest turnover in several days. The price, however, benefited little from the news, which had been anticipated for several weeks. The final sale in the stock was made a fraction below its previous close.

Entrance of Cord corporation in the air transportation field through the newly organized Century Air Lines had no perceptible effect on the company's stock. The plans as announced Saturday by President E. L. Cord call for the establishment of a new system of air passenger lines in the middle west. The new company is expected to provide an outlet for Stinson Aircraft and Lycoming manufacturing products. These concerns are both closely affiliated with Cord through the latter's stock holdings. W. H. Bear, vice president of Lycoming Manufacturing, said yesterday that 500 employés have been added to the company's pay roll in the last ten days. The next year promises to show a substantial gain in engine shipments, he stated.

U. S. Gypsum Quiet.

U. S. Gypsum, which had a rather spectacular career in last week trading, was dull yesterday. Estimates of the company's profit for the current year place per share earnings at $4.25. Friends of the issue point out it has made a good showing despite the dearth of new building in recent months. Its earnings record proves, it is contended, that the company is not dependent on new large scale building, but stands in line to benefit from any increase in that field.

One of the anomalies of yesterday's market was the 20 point net decline in Seaboard Public Service preferred. After a long period of inactivity the stock opened up at 65 on an odd lot transaction. Its previous price was 85. The wide spread between the price reflects the market conditions which have existed since the issue was last traded in.

The Insull stocks were moderately lower in common with other shares. Insull debentures reflected stock's action with a one point recession.

COMMERCIAL CORN CROP SHORT 450 MILLION BU.

A corn crop of 1,744,000,000 bu was harvested as grain this year out of a total estimated yield of 2,080,000,000 bu. In 1929 there was 2,194,000,000 bu corn secured as grain out of a total crop of 2,614,000,000 bu.

The production of silage aggregates 28,956,00 tons this year, against 29,987,000 tons. This year, while there was 11,362,000 acres of corn hogged down, used for grazing and for forage, compared with 10,882,000 acres used for same purpose in 1929, total acreage harvested for grain in 1930 was 84,701,000, against 82,668,000 acres in 1929.

Production of corn as a grain in Iowa this year is placed at 316,000,000 bu, against 381,000,000 bu last year; Illinois, 219,000,000 bu, against 281,000,000 bu last year; Nebraska, 206,000,000 bu, against 203,000,00 bu last year.

CANADIAN WHEAT CROP

Wheat crop of the three Canadian provinces in 1930 is estimated by the Northwestern Grain Dealers' association at 386,000,000 bu, or 11,000,000 bu in excess of the recent government report, and compared with 282,000,000 bu harvested last year. To date 158,000,000 bu have been inspected with 85,000,000 bu in store at country points; 4,000,000 bu are in transit. After allowing 55,000,000 bu for seed, feed and country mills, it is estimated that there is still 74,500,000 bu in farmers' hands to be marketed the balance of the season. According to the report as wired to J. E. Bennett & Co. there is still 9,000,000 bu wheat remaining to be thrashed. Oats crop is estimated at 297,000,000 bu or 37,000,000 bu more than the government returns and compared with 142,000,000 bu harvested last year.

Barnsdall Corporation.

Please give me your opinion on Barnsdall A stock. Do you consider this stock a good investment at present market value?—W. F. B.

Barnsdall corporation, through its subsidiaries, forms a complete unit in the petroleum industry. In addition it controls American Tripoli company, which owns important silica deposits in Missouri and Oklahoma. Like other oil companies, Barnsdall corporation has been restricting its production and refining operations. Its chief crude oil producing lands are in California and Oklahoma. At the close of 1929 bulk and service stations totaled 593. These were located in Arkansas, Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Iowa and South Dakota. The acquisition of a large interest in Mona Motor Oil company this year adds additional outlets, Mona having annual sales of approximately 12,000,000 gallons of gasoline in addition to lubricating products.

Particularly large earnings in the first six months of 1929 enabled Barnsdall to set a new record for the year with net income of $7,205,162, equal to $3.19 per share on 2,258,327 shares. For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1930, net was $4,704,769, or $2.08 per share on the 2,257,635 combined class A and B shares [par $25] outstanding. In the corresponding period of 1929 $2.54 per share was reported. The dividend rate on both classes of stock has been 50 cents quarterly since October, 1928, with an extra of 25 cents in 1929.

On Dec. 31, 1929, current assets were $10,278,678, and current liabilities $1,541,803, leaving a net working capital of $8,214,263. Surplus was $5,842,574.

The company is in a position to benefit by any developments favoring the oil industry as a whole. Much depends on results of efforts to keep production in line with consumption.

The stock is speculative at present.

Pennsylvania Railroad.

Please advise regarding the safety of Pennsylvania Railroad 5s of 1964 for a man of limited means. When is interest payable? What security is there back of this issue?—O. R.

Pennsylvania Railroad company forty-year secured 5s, due Nov. 1, 1964, were issued in 1924 to provide for the retirement of part of the 6 per cent note held by the director general of railroads.

They are secured by pledge of $57,750,000 par value of stocks as follows: $15,000,000 capital stock of Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington Railway company; $10,000,000 capital stock of Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad company; $7,500,000 special guaranteed betterment stock of Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad company; $4,750,000 common stock of West Jersey and Seashore Railroad company; $8,500,000 capital stock of Northern Central Railway company, and $12,000,000 Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway company guaranteed 7 per cent common stock. There were $50,000,000 of these bonds outstanding on Dec. 31, 1929.

In the nine years ended Dec. 31, 1929, earnings averaged 3.4 times interest charges on this issue of bonds.

LOWER CLOSE IN COTTON

Cotton markets, around 5 points higher early yesterday, became slow with a lower range later and a finish at slightly above the low point, with losses of 8 to 12 points on futures in Chicago and 2 to 12 points in other markets, New Orleans being the weakest. Spots lost 5 points in New York to 9.80c, with New Orleans off 10 points to 9.45c, Galveston, 9.55c, and Houston, 9.50c. Liverpool closed 8 to 10 points net higher with spot sales of 3,000 bales. Trade news was without striking features. Prices follow:

CRASH IN LARD MARKET

December lard, which sold up to $10.70 on Saturday, was under pressure yesterday, particularly toward the last, when houses that have been the best buyers turned to the selling side and there was selling to packer interests, while on the decline other packers were large buyers. The price dropped from $10.50 to $9.72½, where it closed, a net loss of 77½c. Prices on other deliveries declined 35 to 40 cents and finished with an uncertain feeling. Cash deliveries on December trades were 500,000 lbs, making over 3,000,000 lbs in a little over a week.

The break in corn and stocks was said to have considerable to do with depressing provisions. Liverpool lard was 6d higher. Exports for the week were 6,866,000 lbs, against 15,696,000 lbs last year. Of bacon there were 5,093,000 lbs, against 5,257,000 lbs last year. Hog prices were generally steady, with receipts larger than a week and a year ago at western packing points. Prices follow:

MORE EVIDENCE OF SLOW TRADE RISE APPEARS

Progress Inspires Better Feeling.

> Security and commodity markets throughout the Christian world will be closed next Thursday, Christmas day. Other business, including the banks, will suspend operations. Leading exchanges in the United States will resume trading on Friday.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Additional evidence that business and industry are making slow progress was presented in yesterday's news. This month, like other year end months, is a period of clean up and preparation but developments of the month are carrying over and have inspired more cheerful sentiment.

Industrial activity in November, based on reports from 3,800 manufacturing plants using electrical energy, rose 2 per cent from October, the low point of the year, and was within 5 per cent of the September level, according to the Electrical World.

Although the change is scarcely large or general enough to be regarded as highly significant, still it indicates a tendency toward recovery. The more important gain occurred in textiles, forest products, metal working, the stone, clay, and glass group, chemicals and shipbuilding. Downward changes were recorded in steel making and fabricating, leather, paper and pulp, food products, automobiles and accessories, although some of these declines are merely seasonal.

Montgomery Ward Cuts Prices.

Faith in the future was manifest by Montgomery Ward & Co., Chicago mail order and chain store concern, in an announcement that it has purchased large initial stocks of merchandise and made heavy commitments. The company yesterday put out its midwinter sales book showing price reductions ranging from 10 to 25 per cent.

"The fact that we are again extending the privilege of easy payments on everything we sell, except groceries, is substantial proof of our faith in the future and in the ability of the public to meet its obligations," an accompanying statement said. "Last summer, when we inaugurated a similar offer, there was some criticism and a great deal of speculation as to the wisdom of the plan. The fact that we are repeating the plan indicates what we think of it."

Supporting the consensus that business will improve next year is a survey covering 330 of the larger firms conducted by the National Association of Credit Men. The replies showed that two out of every three manufacturers and wholesalers look for betterment, although nine out of ten reported a smaller volume of business this year than in 1929.

Reports Loan Liquidation.

Further liquidation of both collateral and commercial loans is shown in the federal reserve board's weekly report on the position of reporting member banks. Loans on securities receded [illegible] and commercial loans dropped [illegible] in the week ended Dec. 17. These banks increased their investment in government securities by $70,000,000 but reduced their holdings of other securities by $60,000,000.

Reported plans of the federal reserve board to continue its policy of low rediscount rates and easy credit next year have aroused some criticism among Chicago bankers. While nobody objects to low interest rates as a stimulant to business, the fear is expressed that the policy of the reserve board will tend to force banks to employ their funds by buying bonds at high prices while the demand for commercial credit is slack. Then when business picks up and money rate firm up as the result of better commercial demand the banks may be forced to sell securities at a loss.

ADVANCE PRICE OF METALS IN NEW YORK MART

The price of domestic copper was advanced one-quarter of a cent to [illegible], delivered, by custom smelters who early in the day sold some of the metal at 10c.

Silver, which in recent weeks has established new historical lows, also was firmer, advancing ⅜c to 32 2-8c in New York after a stronger opening price in London.

The price of tin in New York also responded to a stronger London market, and although no sales were reported no metal was offered at prices lower than 1@1¼c above the previous close. Zinc buying was reported to have been small, but the price was slightly higher at 4.10c a pound, East St. Louis, Ill. The low for the year was [illegible], and the high 5.45c.

Stabilization Corp. to Keep Wheat "at Present Levels"

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

There will be no change in the policy of the Stabilization corporation in supporting the American wheat markets at prevailing levels, regardless of developments in the foreign situation, according to a statement yesterday of President George S. Milnor.

The reassuring news was given to the trade after the close of the exchange in a day marked by the development of record or near record low prices for wheat in foreign countries. Winnipeg December declined 1⅞c, to 50½c, probably the lowest figure known since the prairie provinces became a factor in the world situation. The price was within ½c of the Canadian pool's basis for No. 1 northern delivered at Fort William.

Liverpool Nears Record Low.

Liverpool December wheat dropped 2¼c per bu, to 61c, and came within ⅝c of the lowest figure for red American, made in 1894. A bearish construction placed on the official Argentine crop estimate issued Saturday was the main factor, bringing general liquidation.

The weakness in foreign markets was reflected by a break of 2½c in the July delivery at Chicago, to 64¾c, a new low since 1901, when it sold at 63⅛c. The close was at the bottom to ⅛c over. Liverpool lost 1⅞@2⅛d lower, while Winnipeg was off 1½@1⅝c for the day, the removal of hedges against export sales of around 2,000,000 bu causing a rally from the inside figure. A message to J. E. Bennett & Co. reported a good class of buying on the break in addition to that by cash interests. Argentine markets led the decline, with Buenos Aires off 3⅝@4c and Rosario 3⅛@3¼c lower, February in the latter being 47⅝c at the last.

Don't Justify Lower Prices.

"Domestic conditions on the present wheat crop do not justify lower prices," said Mr. Milnor, president of the Stabilization corporation, "and this company will continue to follow the policy of handling such surplus market offerings as may be necessary in order to maintain the present or a higher level. It is believed that the merchandising of the next six months domestic requirements, at the present or a higher level, will prove a distinct benefit, not only to wheat producers, owners, and processors, but also to other lines of business."

A reduction of around 100 million bu in the carryover of wheat, as compared with the previous season, is seen by Mr. Milnor. Present prices are stimulating consumption both as food and feed. The demand for cash wheat is good, as prices are the lowest in twenty-three years and many buyers are anticipating their seasonal requirements against probable higher prices.

Buying of old crop deliveries of wheat in American markets by houses that usually act for the Stabilization corporation prevented any decline. They closed practically unchanged at the same figures which have prevailed for several weeks, with old December in Chicago at 76⅝c; March, 79⅜c, and May, 81@81⅛c.

Visible Supply Decreases.

While this is the dull season on the part of millers there was a reduction of 1,133,000 bu in the visible supply the last week. The total now is 188,487,000 bu, against 181,156,000 bu last year. At present the trade at home and abroad is paying little or no attention to routine developments either in the way of statistics or bullish crop reports.

Liquidation was on in corn. All deliveries of that grain were selling at a new low for the season, the May touching 69⅜c, or 34⅛c under the high point made in August. Stop loss orders were uncovered on the way down. While there was support from holders of bids and shorts the finish was within a fraction of the bottom, with net losses of 2⅜@2⅞c. December was at 64⅛@64¼c; March, 67⅜@67½c; May, 69½@69⅝c; and July, 71¼@71⅜c. The break in wheat had some effect on sentiment.

Longs Sell Oats Freely.

A house that frequently acts for a leading local operator was a free seller of oats. While the market failed to get into new ground for the season the close was ¾@1⅛c lower, with December at 31⅝c, and May 32⅞@33c. There was a fair class of buying on the decline, but it was not as aggressive as late last week.

Shorts in December rye are uneasy, and advanced that delivery to 1c over the May. A local cash house sold the December and bought May during the day, apparently changing back its hedges into the nearby month. Prices however, were lower with the finish at net losses of 1¾@1⅞c, with December 44½c and May 43⅜@43½c.

CLEARING HOUSE MAY STOP POSTING FIGURES; HITS GAMBLING WORLD

New York, Dec. 22.—(AP)—There was no Christmas cheer for the gambling world in the report today that the New York clearing house contemplates halting the daily announcement of exchanges and balances.

The prosaic figures that are posted at 11:30 a. m. daily on a blackboard in the lobby of the clearing house building have lost their significance to the financial community, but are the basis of one of the most widespread gambling rackets in the country.

Thousands of persons try their luck in the lotteries conducted in New York and many cities throughout the United States. They play for high stakes, attempting to guess the first three numbers in the announcement or whatever combination is designated.

The clearing house is understood to have grown tired of the misuse to which the figures have been put by the gambling element and now purposes to make only a weekly or monthly announcement. At one time the figures had a certain value to the "street," but since the growth of the federal reserve the daily clearing figures have become of academic interest. The clearing house is expected to make announcement probably tomorrow of its plans for 1931.

The gambling schemes vary widely. Some have tickets for as small an amount as 10 or 25 cents, and others range as high as $1 and $2 for a chance. Bookmakers have been known to offer to pay as high as 540 to 1 if the numerals are guessed correctly.

CANADIANS HOLD CONFERENCE ON GRAIN SITUATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 22.—High executives of the Canadian Bankers' association conferred today with Premier Richard Bennett and his cabinet on the formulation of plans guarding against any precipitate and dangerous liquidation in the wheat market.

Security and stabilization in a precarious market situation is said to be the objective of this wheat parley, rather than the recently discussed problem of federal financial guarantee of bank and wheat pool commitment.

It is also understood that the western grain growers' complaint again 9 per cent bank interest, concerning which alleged grievance W. J. Ward, president of the United Farmers of Manitoba, spoke of impending western Canadian revolution and depression, is one of the subjects being taken up with the banking heads.

Premier Bennett announced after the conference that "arrangements have been made that insure orderly marketing of the 1930 wheat crop of western Canada."

Unlike a personal friend, the Bank as Trustee is permanent, strong in resources, and devotes one entire department solely to trust business. Its facilities for estate management are in running order, its management economical, and the judgment of its officers seasoned by long experience.

Moreover, if this Bank is your choice, your heirs will have the same close relationship as a friend would offer—perhaps with more sympathy, as few men welcome appointment to Executorship. Let us send you a free booklet, "How to Preserve Your Estate By Will."

Delaware High Court Holds Loft, Inc., Election Valid

Dover, Del., Dec. 22.—(AP)—The Supreme court of Delaware today held the election of directors by stockholders of Loft, Inc., at Long Island City, N. Y., last March 19 was valid. The case centered about the number of shares of stock represented in person or by proxy at the meeting and as to whether there was proper decorum. Directors elected, according to a report made at the time, were candidates of the faction led by Charles G. Guth of Baltimore. The faction led by Alfred R. Miller claimed there was no election.

Find Electrical Power Is Moving Across Boundaries

BY SCRUTATOR.

Comfort for those who believe that regulation of electric public utilities should be placed on a national scale is contained in the latest report by the federal trade commission on interstate movement of electrical power.

"Electric power is moving across state and national boundaries in increasing volume and conditions seem to point to future expansion in long distance transmission and resulting disregard of state lines in the supply of electricity," is the commission's own summary of the report.

The report dealt with figures drawn from 1929 files of utilities companies. These showed that the amount of energy generated in the United States was ninety-five and one-half billion kilowatt hours and that of this total 15.18 per cent crossed state lines on the way to consumers. The amount consumed in the United States was close to eighty-one billion kilowatt hours and of this 19.64 per cent was represented by the portion exported across state lines. Losses in transmission accounted for differences in generation and consumption.

Will Occupy Spotlight.

Such statistics are likely to be used to good advantage in the next two years, when the power issue, as is already apparent, is to occupy a great deal of political attention. They will be useful in combat of the claim generally advanced by utility companies that their business is local and that state regulation is and has been sufficient to protect the public.

There has been little complaint, formulated on a broad scale, that electricity costs too much. It costs less for lighting than any other medium and for power it competes with success against individual steam or internal engine power.

The complaints have come from those who have examined financial structures and have gone afield outside the United States to see what others have done in manufacturing electricity under some form of government supervision. These have found, or claim to have found, large amounts of water in the capitalization of electric utilities. The utility answer is that it isn't there, and that valuations are carefully watched by state regulatory bodies. The utility opponents also maintain that the governmental subsidiary company selling electricity in Ontario averages less than two-fifths as much for its output as all American utility companies do.

Special Conditions.

There are answers to that one, too. One is that taxes are an item here and not one there; another that special conditions of water supply, and Niagara's drop are unique; a third that transmission instead of generation is the largest factor in cost of service; a fourth that service on many grounds is not as good across the border as it is here.

The new plea of the radical-progressive takes two forms. One is a demand for federal regulation because so much of the business is interstate. The other is predicated on the theory that there is no good measuring rod to judge the justice of private utility charges and that the government should have one in the form of a few publicly owned projects.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 22.—That "secondary reaction" that speculative Wall street has been expecting for the last two or three days happened along with all its trimmings on today. The whole market got bumped, such redoubtables as United States Steel, American Can, Westinghouse, Consolidated Gas and New York Central slipping off 2 to 3 points each. Some of the more impressionable second raters registered losses of as much as 10 points. Rails showed the most pronounced group weakness.

out the five hour session and when quitting time came only some 2,104,325 shares were found to have changed hands.

The news with a market bearing was about half and half. There were a good many more bank failures to contend with, one in Philadelphia and another batch in the south, but the market has become somewhat inured to these occurrences and it is not probable that anybody sold any great number of shares on their account. On the brighter side there was a sharp rally in silver bullion both here and in London, a firmer situation reported in the metal market and a distinctly easy money market with funds offered freely at discounts from the official 2 per cent rate in spite of the Christmas withdrawals of currency from the banks.

Holidays Retard.

Probably the retarding effect of the year-end holidays on bullish enthusiasm had as much as anything to do with the disinclination to buy stocks in any amount.

While no section of the list was immune from selling, the sharp declines in the rails perhaps attracted the most attention in view of their recent sharp rally following word that the eastern merger negotiations were nearing a satisfactory finish. Observers have been saying that the recovery in this department was going ahead too rapidly to "hold" and today's reaction was the signal for a chorus of "I told you so's" from this corner.

Atchison, New Haven, Baltimore & Ohio, Illinois Central, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific and others of the group were off 1 to 3 points at the close. Union Pacific and Delaware & Hudson broke about 5 points each.

Eastern Roads Suffer.

Eastern roads supposed to be in line to benefit from the merger deal suffered, it is thus seen, as keenly as the rest. The executives of the affected roads are expected to make some definite announcement regarding their harmonizing endeavors, following another conference tomorrow.

Motor stocks were fractionally lower, but not particularly active with the exception of Auburn, which didn't look as much like a "cornered" stock is supposed to look, taking a tumble for 9¾ points on a flood of liquidation.

Wall street was discussing the prospects for some sort of a demonstration in the motor stocks between now and the time set for the opening of the New York automobile show in the first week of the new year. Those who contemplate sponsoring bullish demonstrations in the automobile stocks are said to be waiting for the market to consolidate its recent advance.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw, quiet today and in absence of business prices were unchanged at 3.25c for spots duty paid.

Except for some belated covering in the spot month, which caused an advance of points in that delivery, there was little feature to raw futures and trading was comprised mostly of exchanging from the near to the more distant positions, with price changes narrow and unimportant. Approximate sales, 40,150 tons. Closing prices follow:

RAILROAD NOTES

Beginning Jan. 1 the Dixie Limited of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad will leave Chicago at 2:45 p. m., arriving at Jacksonville as at present and Miami at 7:30 a. m. This train will connect at Jacksonville with the Havana Special, thus reducing the schedule time between Chicago and Havana, Cuba, by sixteen hours.

O. W. Dynes has been elected general counsel for the Milwaukee road, succeeding H. H. Field, resigned. Carl S. Jefferson succeeds Mr. Dynes as general solicitor.

On Jan. 1 the Milwaukee road will place a one-way fare of 2 cents a mile on four intra-state divisions for three months to determine whether the lower rate will stimulate passenger travel against competition of privately owned automobiles and public carriers. Regular established rate is 3.6 cents a mile.

The Chicago Great Western railroad has asked authority to issue three promissory notes bearing 4½ per cent interest, aggregating $461,550, to the Lima Locomotive Works in connection with the acquisition of six freight locomotives.

EUROPE LOOKING TO U. S. TO SAVE WORLD BUSINESS

By Sacrificing Itself, Strawn Says.

New York, Dec. 22.—[Special.]—Europe, in fact the whole world, is looking to the United States to "show the way" out of the present economic depression, Silas H. Strawn, Chicago lawyer and vice president of the international chamber of commerce, declared upon his return home aboard the Leviathan today.

Mr. Strawn went abroad primarily to attend a meeting of the international chamber of commerce in Paris and secondarily to discuss the economic conditions now prevailing throughout the world with some of the bigwigs of the foreign banking field.

The bankers agreed that conditions were bad, it seems, and they had two ready remedies to propose to Mr. Strawn. One of them was that the United States should do its "bit" toward bringing about a return of prosperity by reducing our war debts. The other was to lower our tariff rates "as a means of stimulating world trade."

Refuses Both Proposals.

Mr. Strawn found himself unable to agree with either proposal.

"I endeavored to point out to them," he explained, "that while from their standpoint that might be a consummation devoutly to be wished, I did not think that the taxpayers of the United States would be very enthusiastic about assuming the eleven billion dollars war debts and releasing all other nations from their obligations. At the same time I pointed out they wished us to take off our tariff and then let our debtors compete with us on unequal terms, while we were paying taxes to liquidate the debts.

"I listened to their arguments as to our influence," Mr. Strawn went on to say, "and then I told them some of our own problems.

"Their argument for reduction of Germany's debt would have been more convincing had I not known that the citizens of Cook county, Illinois, will pay out in governmental expenditures in 1931 $60,000,000 more than Germany will have to pay in reparations."

Chicago Wants Him Again.

Mr. Strawn, who headed a committee in Chicago last year to raise a deficit of $75,000,000 to carry on the Chicago public school system, received a wireless on the ship asking him to serve as chairman of another citizens' committee and, while he does not know what Chicago has now to ask of him, he was under the impression the committee had been called to meet problems growing out of tax arrears.

Mr. Strawn found the "dumping" of Russian goods on foreign nations one of the leading topics with business men on the other side.

Mr. Strawn lamented that "increasing unemployment" in very country "seems to impel manufacturers to extend credit to Russia for raw materials and machinery on terms often more lenient than those given customers at home. Some governments are even guaranteeing these credits."

LOOKING AHEAD WITH BUSINESS

U. S. Farish, president of the Humble Oil and Refining company, in an address before the employés' club of his company said he believed the present depression will end within six months and "I believe history will bear me out that at no time has a business depression lasted for two years." He added that "no man will be put out of work that sincere efforts on our part can keep busy."

Total retail deliveries of new Reo passenger cars during November in seventeen states for which the official new car registration figures are now available reveal a gain of 7.7 per cent over November last year.

The Guaranty Trust Company of New York announced that additional compensation at the rate of 8 1-3 per cent of each employé's salary during the year would be distributed as a bonus to salaried employés, not including officers.

The anual Christmas bonus fund for employés of the J. C. Penney company totals $536,778 for 1930 with 6,671 salespeople and other employés benefiting. Distribution of the bonus checks will be made at the close of business tomorrow.

A. U. Widman, works manager of the Cadillac Motor Car company, said the normal pay roll of approximately 6,000 men will resume work Jan. 5. This number is exclusive of 1,000 salaried employés.

Mesta Machine company has received an order for $4,000,000 worth of machinery and equipment from the Inland Steel company.

The Milwaukee road has just placed orders for 1931 delivery of 1,700,000 cross ties, representing an expenditure of approximately $1,400,000. About one million of these ties will move from Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota and Iowa districts. A portion will be treated at an additional outlay of approximately $250,000.

In addition to regular equipment, 323 extra cars were required on Chicago and North Western trains to handle heavy pre-holiday passenger travel over the week-end, according to C. A. Cairns, passenger traffic manager. The peak of the Christmas travel will be reached on Wednesday, Mr. Cairns said.

Official New York Stock Exchange bond sales yesterday were $13,021,000. From Jan. 1 to date sales total $2,708,074,000.

Flour exports during the month of November, according to General Mills, Inc., analysis, amounted to 1,156,470 barrels valued at $5,333,903. These figures show a slight increase over shipments made in November, 1929, which amounted to 1,156,362 barrels.

California crude oil output in the week ended Dec. 20 averaged 599,600 barrels daily, a decrease of 12,900 daily from a week ago, according to the California Oil World.

American Steel Car Lines, Inc., will give all employés a Christmas bonus amounting to 5 per cent of their yearly salaries, according to C. E. McSweeney, president.

ADDED INVESTMENT in NATURAL GAS DISTRIBUTION

According to the United States Bureau of Mines, expenditures for new long-distance pipe line for the distribution of natural gas probably will reach the unprecedented total of $250,000,000 this year. Many additional millions are being invested in gas acreage, plants, and shorter pipe-line systems by numerous natural gas companies. This enormous investment mirrors a significant development in American fuel consumption and demonstrates a growing public demand for a fuel which cuts manufacturing costs and is superior for domestic purposes.

The Appalachian Gas Corporation group of companies is assuming an important role in this march of progress. Texas Gas Utilities Company, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Appalachian Gas Corporation, has just completed a 200-mile pipe line system (including distributing lines) to supply its growing market. Throughout the service areas of the other companies in the group extensions and improvements are being made on a major scale.

The Appalachian group of companies owns or controls hundreds of miles of natural gas pipe lines, hundreds of producing gas wells, and gas leases or certain gas rights in extensive areas in Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Texas besides having favorable long-term contracts for the purchase of natural gas in the vast fields of Louisiana.

The strategic location of the properties of this group in the midst of both supply and demand make distribution most economical. The greater portion of gas produced by these companies is sold under long-term contracts to nationally known corporations, tending to assure stability of earnings. The market is highly diversified as to consumer demand. The scope of operations is being steadily widened.

Our publication "Appalachiana" contains timely information on the natural gas industry and the securities of this system. Your name will be placed on the regular mailing list upon request.

INCOME TAXES CHANGE DEFICIT INTO SURPLUS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 22.—(AP)—Collection of $73,637,357 in income tax on Dec. 19 shifted the condition of the treasury from a deficit of $16,740,646 on the preceding day to a surplus of $47,719,552.

While the surplus is likely to fade away again after the first of the year the deficit which has held sway since last September was wiped out by collection of the last quarter's payment of tax on 1929 incomes, the quarterly financing of the treasury which brought $425,000,000 from sale of certificates and war debt payments by foreign countries.

The last treasury statement for Dec. 19, showed for the month a total of $140,[illegible] had been collected from income taxes as compared with $471,188,311 in the same number of days last year. For the fiscal year starting last July 1 income tax receipts amounted to $1,051,418,275 compared with $1,140,005,471 in the same period of the previous year.

On that date the government had collected from all sources $1,768,938,456 and had spent $1,720,318,904. Receipts were approximately $200,000,000 less than for the same period of the last fiscal year and disbursements $172,000,000 less.

Total tax collections by the government for the first five months of the present fiscal year amounted to $857,071,744 compared with $938,356,842 in the same period of the previous year.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 7,000 cattle, 32,000 hogs, and 13,000 sheep.

The largest Monday shipping orders for hogs since last March, a surprise to the trade, bolstered the sagging market yesterday, in face of the substantial increase in local receipts. Better grades of hogs sold freely at the strength, many sales showing as much as 5@10c advance during the forenoon.

The extreme top and general average prices moved up 5c at $8.15 and $7.85, respectively. Total arrivals at Chicago at 55,000, compared with 40,611 the previous Monday, with 39,895 a year ago and with 26,685 two years ago. Outsiders took 13,000 head and about 6,000 were estimated left at the close. Five western markets expect 69,000 hogs today, against 79,400 the previous Tuesday.

March Hogs Bring $8.75.

Medium weight hogs for delivery during the last half of next March were contracted at $8.75 on yesterday's futures market. Similar contracts were sold at $8.65 later in the day. December mediums brought $8.00. January mediums were bid $7.50 and offered at $8.20, while bids of $7.65 were made on February mediums.

The market for fancy yearlings and lightweight steers climbed to higher levels yesterday, while common and medium grades of steers were slow sellers on a "catch as catch can" trade, the bulk of the latter kinds finishing 15@25c under the close of last week. Prime 1,066 lb long yearlings at $14.75 go back to last April for a higher mark and are within $2.00 of the extreme top in 1930, established last January. Prime 1,354 lb steers reached $13.50. Cows and heifers ruled weak to 25c lower. Calves were unchanged. Stockers and feeders were steady.

Best Lambs Stronger.

Best grades of fat lambs met good demand at stronger prices yesterday, while others finished weak. Arrivals of 23,000 were large for the time of year, comparing with 16,361 a week ago, with 13,287 a year ago and with 9,007 two years ago.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Prospects for maintenance of old wheat futures in the American markets were definitely announced late yesterday by Mr. Milnor, president of the Grain Stabilization corporation, who takes a more optimistic view of the situation than do the grain traders in general. The lines between old and new crop futures are more strongly defined than at any other period, July being 16⅝c under May, the widest known, and creating an artificial situation. Traders expect that the markets the next two days will be without definite trend, owing to evening up for the Christmas holidays.

Corn prices are down to a level where short sales are regarded as dangerous by conservative interests who say that there has not been the heavy movement from the country nor is any in sight and the low prices undoubtedly may increase home consumption.

CORPORATION SECURITIES CO. OF CHICAGO

THESE companies were created to acquire and hold as investments, enough of the securities of the Insull Group of Public Utility Properties to insure continuity of policy and management throughout the Group. As stated by Samuel Insull, they were organized "to establish some rallying point of ownership and friendship for the various companies with which my name is associated."

Adhering to this policy, more than ninety per cent. of the holdings of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and of Corporation Securities Co., of Chicago, are in the five major companies of the Insull Group, namely, Commonwealth Edison Company, of Chicago; The Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company, of Chicago; Public Service Company of Northern Illinois; Middle West Utilities Company, and Midland United Company.

Stocks of both Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and Corporation Securities Co., of Chicago, are listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange, and participate in the earnings of the companies of the Insull Group.

The properties in the Insull Group are fully described in Booklet CT3 which will be sent upon request.

Holders of

North American Trust Shares

The Largest Fixed Investment Trust*

as of December 31, 1930 will receive over

$10,000,000.00

Equivalent to $.658 per share and representing the 4th semi-annual income and capital distribution on shares of this trust.

RIGHTS

Valuable rights are extended to holders of NORTH AMERICAN TRUST SHARES in connection with this distribution permitting the reinvestment of that portion thereof constituting a return of capital in additional trust shares at a discount which has been established by Distributors Group, Incorporated, for the current reinvestment period at ½ point below the prevailing asked price. Reinvestment rights will expire at the close of business January 15, 1931.

Under the NORTH AMERICAN TRUST SHARES plan, rights, extra shares resulting from stock splits and stock dividends, are sold by the trustee and the proceeds, in addition to all cash dividends received are distributed semi-annually to holders of trust shares. This policy prevents the accumulation of an undue percentage of the total investment in a few individual stocks over a period of years. It results in the maintenance of a conservatively balanced investment. Reinvestment of capital distributions in additional trust shares redistributes such capital more evenly over the entire list of stocks constituting the portfolio.

A purchaser of NORTH AMERICAN TRUST SHARES during the first six months of 1929, who has systematically reinvested all capital distributions and who takes full advantage of the forthcoming reinvestment privilege, will have increased the original number of trust shares purchased by more than 37%.

MAYWOOD PLANS NEW $200,000 SCHOOL BUILDING

BY AL CHASE.

Bids are now being taken by the Maywood board of education for a $200,000 elementary school to replace the present old frame Washington school on the north side of Washington boulevard, between 11th and 12th avenues, in Maywood. John Chiaro, architect, has completed plans for a modern brick and stone structure, 117 x100, to contain twelve class rooms, a kindergarten and a combination gymnasium and auditorium. In addition it will house the administrative offices of the Maywood board of education.

The Bennett Court Apartments Building corporation has purchased the three story flat building at 7213 Bennett avenue, from Henry C. Banks for an undisclosed consideration. The structure contains twenty-six apartments. Harold E. Jennings, Mr. Banks and Andrew McDermott are the incorporators of the building corporation.

To Discuss Land Valuations.

Members of the board of review have been invited to attend the Chicago Real Estate board's second noonday meeting to be held today at 1 p. m. in the realty organization's headquarters at 57 West Monroe street. It will consist of a discussion of "The Reductions of 1929 Land Valuation." Newly elected members of the Chicago Real Estate board also have been invited to attend the luncheon.

The twelve apartment building at the southeast corner of Garfield avenue and Sedgwick street, 48x82, has been sold by Miss Goldye Woolwich to John B. Broddie, an attorney, at 176 West Adams street, for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $37,500.

Club Merges Fee and Leaseholds.

The Fortnightly of Chicago has purchased the property at 120 Bellevue place from the Fortnightly Auxiliary Building corporation, thus merging the fee and leasehold.

The Cities Service Oil company has purchased the northwest corner of Montrose and Western avenues, lot 50x125, from the Phillips State Bank and Trust company, as trustee, for an undisclosed consideration. It will be used as another unit in the buyers' chain of automobile service stations.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: A Small Gift

I BOUGHT PERRY A LOVELY PAIR OF GLOVES FOR CHRISTMAS AND I — GOSH! THERE'S PERRY NOW! I WONDER WHAT HE WAS UP TO IN MY ROOM ??
DEC. 23
JUST A MOMENT PERRY WINKLE! WERE YOU SNOOPING AROUND IN MY ROOM FOR CHRISTMAS GIFTS? I WANT THE TRUTH NOW!
GEE! HONEST, I WASN'T LOOKING FOR NO PRESENTS!
ARE YOU SURE YOU DIDN'T SEE ANYTHING IN THERE WITH YOUR NAME ON IT ?
GOSH, HOW SHOULD I KNOW THERE'S ANYTHING IN THERE FOR ME?
ANYWAY, THEM GLOVES DON'T EVEN FIT ME !!
